FINDS SEAMEN ON U. S. LINES LACK DISCIPLINE

Tells of Conditions in Cruise Ship.

[William Fulton, Tribune correspondent, recently made a 10 day round trip to Cuba on ships of two government-subsidized lines to observe labor conditions in the American merchant marine. In the following article he describes the conduct of the seamen. Many of them are members of communist dominated maritime unions.]

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 11.—Aboard the new government subsidized ocean liner President Hayes, southward bound on her maiden voyage recently this correspondent and other passengers gazed in consternation one afternoon on a sorry spectacle of American seamanship.

It was lifeboat drill for the crew. Amid grumbling and fumbling of the sailors and fuming of the officers it took fifteen minutes to hoist and swing out lifeboat No. 3 from the cradle into position for lowering to passengers on the deck below. Shipping men say this operation should be performed in one or two minutes.

Most of the seamen stood idly by while a few of their mates cranked the hoisting machinery and tried to push the boat out from the davits. Sailors at other stations along the boat deck had to be shown by the officers how to carry out their tasks or they performed them in a lackadaisical fashion.

Crew in Drinking Brawl.

Homeward bound on the Monterey of the New York and Cuba Mail Line, the passengers, this correspondent included, looked on with amazement while a dozen members of the crew staged a drinking brawl on the after deck. The officers made no move to stop it, saying they might have a mutiny on their hands.

These were two high spots on a voyage from New York to Havana and return for first hand observation of American crews at sea.

Discipline was lacking at almost every turn, both among the able bodied seamen on deck and the stewards taking care of the passengers' comforts. There was drunkenness at sea. Stewards were lazy and ill mannered, the waiters in the dining saloons were surly and rude. There was little pride in the ship or in the American merchant marine.

Nowhere was there the snap and dash the ocean traveler used to find aboard the British, German, Italian, and Swedish ships.

Officers Blame the CIO.

Ships officers lay their troubles at the door of the CIO National Maritime union, headed by the radical Joe Curran. Curran organized the 30,000 sailors in the Atlantic and gulf coast trades with the aid of the communists. The NMU has followed the Moscow party line with utmost fidelity both before and after the signing of the nonaggression pact between the Nazis and soviets.

Passengers on the America, new luxury liner of the United States Lines, reported recently that the communists publicly burned the American flag on board ship and the officers were powerless to discipline the men.

There was no Red demonstration on the two ships this correspondent traveled on, altho a trip thru the crew's quarters revealed several of the seamen lolling about reading official communist publications.

Guard Against Sabotage.

Officers said they had to maintain constant vigilance against sabotage. If war comes they expect the communists in key positions to attempt to carry out their plans for paralyzing shipping. One officer recalled that the Russian revolution started in the navy.

Names and identity of officers who gave information on the voyage are in most cases hidden here because of possible reprisals. It is recalled that Capt. Joseph Gainard, who suppressed the mutiny on the Algic in Montevideo and commanded the City of Flint on her famous voyage thru mine infested waters after the war began, is on the union blacklist. The CIO union refuses to sail with him, and jittery shipowners will not give him a vessel.

Some of the old salts among the crews admitted the communists

FORD TO REOPEN MONDAY; ARMS TO BE SPEEDED

Company Gets CIO Hearing Deferred.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

Detroit, Mich., April 11.—Preparations were under way tonight for the return of 85,000 workers to the Ford Motor company's plant at River Rouge. The 10 day CIO strike, which had paralyzed Henry Ford's industrial empire and threatened the nation's rearmament program, was settled at 2:27 o'clock this afternoon [1:27 Chicago time].

Probably a fourth of the workers will be back on the job Monday and the others will return during the week as full equipment and machinery in the gigantic plant is made ready for operation. The company has charged that CIO vandals sabotaged several hundred thousand dollars' worth of equipment before and at the start of the strike.

No Arrests as Violence Rages.

Dearborn police failed to make arrests while the violence raged and, altho eight rowdies were nabbed early today and held on open charges, there is no indication that prosecution will be vigorous.

The company's nation-wide chain of 16 assembly plants and 28 other factories, also closed during the strike, will be functioning within two weeks, it was announced by I. A. Capizzi, Ford attorney. Operation of this chain is dependent on the River Rouge plant.

Lost time will be made up, Capizzi said, and production on the company's 150 million dollars' worth of armaments contracts will be speeded.

Postpone NLRB Hearing.

The strike settlement was announced by Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner. One of its provisions is that the hearing on a complaint of the CIO union [Local 600, United Automobile Workers] of unfair labor practices, scheduled to open here Monday before the regional office of the National Labor Relations board, will be postponed until after an employés' election to determine their bargaining agent. Last Monday the NLRB in Washington ordered this election within 45 days.

The company asked postponement of the hearing to avoid further acrimony between itself and the union before the employés' election.

Company officials last night reiterated that they considered this postponement of great importance and were extremely pleased that it was part of the terms of settlement. In fact, company representatives were inclined to celebrate the agreement to postpone the hearing as a big victory for Ford.

Company to Coöperate.

The company agreed to coöperate in every way in the conduct of the NLRB election, which will be held among the 3,500 workers in its Lincoln plant as well as at River Rouge.

It also consented to reëmployment of all the strikers, without discrimination, including five CIO men discharged as trouble makers. The union agreed to submit the case of three others discharged for the same reason to a special board composed of

AN INTERVENTIONIST ANNOUNCES: 'WE'RE TALKING ABOUT WAR'

New York, April 11 [Special].—Hugh Moore, chairman of the national executive committee of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, said today that "the President of the United States has said that convoys mean shooting and shooting is very close to war. Therefore, the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies is now talking about war!"

Moore disclosed that the interventionist propaganda agency has a new battle cry: "Deliver the goods to Britain now!" He advocated, in addition to the pressing of United States naval vessels into British convoy service, a vast program of American shipbuilding to replace merchant tonnage sunk by Germany.

Moore added that the committee plans to blanket the country with mass meetings, radio addresses, and newspaper and billboard advertising to promote its "Deliver the Goods to Britain Now!" campaign.

THE MODERN ATLAS

Roosevelt Clan Gets Briton as a Son-in-Law

Dedham, Mass., April 11 [Special].—An English son-in-law will be welcomed into the Roosevelt family tomorrow with the marriage here of Miss Eleanor Roosevelt, niece of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Edward P. Elliott, an architect of Yorkshire, England. The newlyweds plan to live half of the time in England.

The wedding will help fill Mrs. Roosevelt's week-end. She will come here for the ceremony, speed back to Washington to spend Easter morning with the President, then fly across the continent to attend the wedding of her son, Capt. James Roosevelt of the marine corps, in Los Angeles, Cal., on Monday. Capt. Roosevelt is taking as his second wife Miss Romelle Theresa Schneider, his former nurse.

Interested in Slum Clearance.

Elliott has been employed on two federal housing projects in Portsmouth, Va., and Kinston, N. C., and has just completed designs for Kinston's only bottling plant. He said he has had several talks with President and Mrs. Roosevelt on the subject of slum clearance and housing in this country, which has captured his interest.

Elliott is the son of Mrs. Arthur Spencer Elliott of Brierly, Yorkshire, England, and the late A. S. Elliott, a school teacher. He was graduated from Liverpool university and won a fellowship to carry out research in architectural design at Cranbrook Academy of Art in Bloomfield Hills, Mich., 20 miles from Detroit.

For a short time prior to his coming to America, Elliott worked in Yorkshire as consultant to the county borough of Dewksbury on air raid precaution and on design for bomb proof and gas proof shelters. He has a sister, Rosemary, working in civilian defense and a brother, Roland, in the British army.

Romance At Art Academy.

Arriving here in September, 1939, Elliott went immediately to the Cranbrook Art academy, where he conducted his research under the guidance of Eliel Saarinen, famous Finnish architect.

Romance quickly engrossed the handsome, red haired Briton when he met Miss Roosevelt, who also was studying at the academy. He left school last June and began a search for work which finally brought him employment on the federal housing projects.

Miss Roosevelt is the daughter of Mrs. John Cutter of Dedham and G. Hall Roosevelt, brother of Mrs. Roosevelt. The young woman was presented to Washington society by Mrs. Roosevelt after her debut on Thanksgiving day, 1938 in Brookline, Mass.

WEATHER FORECAST FOR EASTER TAKES A CHANGE FOR BETTER

Forecaster G. E. Dunn was happy last night to say that the late outlook had enabled him to alter his earlier prediction about Chicago's Easter weather possibilities and express an optimistic view for all the folks who'll be in, or watching, the annual parade tomorrow.

His forecast: Fair with mild temperatures today, and partly cloudy with still comfortable mercury readings tomorrow.

A storm over the Rocky mountains is expected to drift eastward today and tomorrow, but so slowly it will not reach Chicago in time to spoil any finery. This storm had caused Forecaster Dunn, 24 hours earlier, to be somewhat pessimistic about Easter weather prospects.

Loop and neighborhood stores were thronged yesterday with Easter shoppers, and today they expect a million customers. Merchants credited the weather with the buying boom, said sales were 18 to 35 per cent larger than last year, and proclaimed this the best Easter shopping season since 1929. Capt. David Flynn, head of the traffic division, said:

"This is just like the day before Christmas. I've been around for 37 years and I've never seen anything like it."

SELASSIE READY TO TAKE PLACE ON THRONE AGAIN

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, April 11.—In a bush camp 150 miles away across the Blue Nile, Emperor Haile Selassie is preparing to make a ceremonial return to the throne of the king of kings. Already a message has been sent him reporting that the Ethiopian standard is flying over his former palace.

He will land in the same spot from which he took off in his flight from the Italians five years ago. His entry has been delayed only until order can be restored.

According to a high Italian staff officer here, the Italian viceroy of Ethiopia, the duke of Aosta, was on the point, of surrendering all East Africa yesterday when an order came from Rome and Berlin that he must fight a delaying action to prevent the dispatch of British troops to Egypt.

Britain to Curb Milk Sales; Denies It Is New Rationing

LONDON, April 11.—An order restricting milk sales, starting April 13, to six-sevenths of the quantities sold in the week of March 2 was issued by the food ministry today. The ministry said the object of the order is not to ration milk but to enable more condensed milk and cheese to be manufactured.

'Kidnaping' of Four Generals Told by British

CAIRO, Egypt, April 11 (AP).—British sources tonight told the stories of the capture by German forces of three generals and three brigadiers, and likened the seizure of four of them to "an American gang kidnaping."

A German motorcycle patrol, wielding tommy guns, literally held up and captured Lieutenant Generals Sir Richard Nugent O'Connor and P. Neame, two brigadiers, and three staff cars on a moonlit road on the morning of April 7.

Gen. O'Connor, right hand man of the British middle east commander in chief, Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, and Gen. Neame left Maraua headquarters with their staff and aides-de-camp late the night of April 6. They headed for Derna in four cars.

Take a Short Cut.

The generals took a short cut to the main road and about midnight came upon a convoy of British trucks delayed by a blocked road.

The staff cars were threading their way slowly thru the convoy when a single German patrol motorcycle appeared, an eyewitness related.

A German soldier alighted from the motorcycle, drew his tommy gun on a truck driver, and ordered him out of the cab. A truck guard appeared and was promptly shot by the German.

The other guard, who told the story, was forced to take cover as the rest of the German patrol arrived on the scene simultaneously with the generals and their staffs.

Others Reach Derna Safely.

They were promptly taken over by the German patrol, which also seized the staff cars.

The aides-de-camp, who stuck to the main road, arrived safely in Derna.

Maj. Gen. Cambier-Parry and the third brigadier taken prisoner were captured at El Mechile, a desert post south of Derna, which the British said they yielded only after inflicting heavy losses on the Germans and Italians.

Seventh Officer Seized.

ROME, April 11 (AP).—The Italian high command today claimed the capture in eastern Libya of another high ranking British officer in addition to the six previously reported taken. The seventh officer seized was named Neame [Lieut. Gen. P. Neame, whom the British previously had admitted was missing].

NAZIS HIT BRITISH-GREEK LINE ON ITS LEFT FLANK

BATTLE IN SNOW AND ICE; SERBIANS WRECK 170 TANKS

[The following dispatch is the first to reach the Associated Press directly from the new headquarters of the Jugo-Slav government after it fled before the German advance. It was not dated and reports from other sources indicate it has been en route for some time. The story was filed by an International News Service correspondent under a coöperative arrangement with newspaper men accompanying the government.]

WITH THE JUGO-SLAV GOVERNMENT IN JUGO-SLAVIA, No Date or Time Given, (AP).—A terrific battle has marked the attempt of the Jugo-Slav army to check a powerful German drive toward Albania.

Jugo-Slav hand-grenade troops were reported to have destroyed 80 tanks in Kacenik pass and 90 at Pirot.

In a German assault on Kragujevac, about 60 miles south of Belgrade, a German general and numerous troops were reported captured along with war material.

[The Jugo-Slav communique, issued last night and carried by Reuters, British news agency, said the Germans had occupied Kragujevac.]

Jugo-Slavia Needs Flyers.

Jugo-Slav airmen have made almost superhuman individual deeds of heroism and desperately need replacements. The fighters have been especially hard hit as a result of their own losses and bombings of airports.

The Jugo-Slavs are withdrawing in a heavy snowstorm to mountain positions in which experience has shown the troops may be best used.

Snow in the countryside has continuously restricted air activity and the icy roads have made difficult the transportation of troops.

Round Up "Fifth Column."

Parachute troops up to now have been ineffective and have been eliminated.

A "fifth column" roundup is under way after attempts to create disunity and disrupt communications. The mountain town to which the government moved continued calm and accepts alarms without becoming hysterical.

As far as is known all Americans at the Jugo-Slav legation are safe. The first secretary, Robert Macatee, is following the Jugo-Slav government, accompanied by five United States newspaper and radio staff correspondents.

ITALY AND BULGARIA PREPARE TERRITORIAL CLAIMS AGAINST SERBS

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 11.—Italy and Bulgaria are ready to put in territorial claims against Jugo-Slavia when that nation is defeated, it was learned today.

Hungary already has started the expected widespread partition by ordering its troops to occupy the Banat, which Hungary lost to Jugo-Slavia after the world war. The Banat consists of that region of Jugo-Slavia north of Belgrade and east of the Danube.

Italy, ever since the last war, has designated the whole coast of Dalmatia as territory which must be "redeemed" to make the Adriatic sea an Italian lake.

[Italy also wants the region of Kossovo, the zone northeast and north of Albania, other dispatches from Rome indicated yesterday. The people in the district were said to be predominantly Albanian to the number of about 1,000,000.]

Bulgaria, it is understood, wants all of Macedonia. Bulgaria has been submissive to German policy, first joining the axis and then permitting Nazi troops to occupy the country. Hungary followed a similar course.

There is one element in Bulgaria, the extreme nationalists, who want their country to take all of the Jugo-Slav province of Serbia. They would do this on the premise that the two peoples are so akin in blood, language, and habits that logic requires them to have a single government.

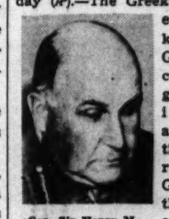
Push Thru Monastir Pass; Units Reach Florina Area.

BULLETIN.

BERLIN, April 12, Saturday.—(AP)—The German high command announced today that German troops had made contact yesterday with Italian forces north of Lake Ochrida in southern Jugo-Slavia. On receipt of this news Adolf Hitler telegraphed this message to Premier Mussolini: "At the moment when German and Italian units join hands for the first time in the Jugo-Slav theater of war I greet you most heartily."

(Maps on back page.)

ATHENS, Greece, April 12, Saturday (AP).—The Greek high command early today acknowledged that German forces coming thru a gap in the British-Greek front at Bitolj [Monastir pass] had reached the Greek lines in the Florina area of Greece.



Gen. Sir Henry M. Wilson, British commander.

German panzer [armored] units thus had plunged some 25 miles into the left flank of the allied line, where both British and Greek units have been fighting since Thursday.

"German motorized elements coming from the direction of Bitolj [Monastir] came into contact with our forces in the Florina district," a Greek communique said. "On the Albanian front there was restricted activity of patrols and artillery."

Move Down from Prilep.

The German forces first moved down thru Jugo-Slavia from Prilep, and, attacking furiously at Monastir pass, broke thru and poured onto the Florina area.

[The German smash thru the Monastir gap could be disastrous for the Greek-British allies. It appears that allied strategists had counted on holding it as the apex of a defense line forming a widespread inverted "V." It seems improbable, too, that other than relatively light mechanized forces composed the first German assault wave. It is possible that the allied command withdrew all but a relatively small delaying force from the gap because of threats to lines of supply necessary to maintain a large force for a strong stand there.]

This was not the only point of the line at which British and Greek troops were locked in a great battle of motion. Other German divisions were attacking in force on the allied right wing, within 48 miles of Mount Olympus. The Greek communique, telling of the German advance thru Monastir pass, did not mention the attack on the right flank.

Urges Fierce Resistance.

King George II., of Greece in a proclamation exhorted his people to greater effort in their fight against advancing German forces.

"We shall resist fiercely against the enemy raids, against the enemy machines, thus performing our supreme duty for the country faithfully," the proclamation said.

The new battle was developing on the front where the allies had elected to make a fateful stand to hold the Grecian peninsula and the vital ports to the south.

The commander in chief of the British force was Lieut. Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, who commanded the army of the Nile in its winter offensive into Libya in North Africa.

Hit Hardest at Flanks.

Before the Greek command had issued its communique brief statements of the British expeditionary force—Englishmen, Australians, New Zealanders—merely suggested the fury of the fighting. However, the British made it clear that the Nazis were striking hardest at both flanks of the allied line.

One was above Mount Olympus, the eastern anchor of the front near the shores of the Aegean, where the Germans had swept down beyond Glanitsa [Yanitza]—which is 48 miles north of Olympus.

The other was toward Florina—the region already reached by the German advance thru Monastir pass. This movement already had isolated Jugo-Slavia from Greece.

The fighting at Monastir pass was

CONFESS 'UNION NOW' WOULD PUT U. S. IN WAR NOW

Promoters Insist Hitler Must Be Stopped.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 11. — Promoters of "union now" with Britain are starting to confess their program will require American participation in the European war if that is necessary to stop Hitler.

Literature currently circulated by the national headquarters of the drive to reverse the decision of the American revolution shows that "union now" means "war now." America's part in the war is also described in the volume "Union Now with Britain," written recently by Clarence K. Streit, founder of the movement.

All the blessings which devotees of the movement envision in a federal union of the United States and the British commonwealth of nations will be destroyed unless Hitler first is vanquished, it is being argued.

A Common Currency.

Among the fruits of such a union would be a common currency, common citizenship, common communications, joint fleet and army, and a common interest in peace or war. The British may keep their king. The United States can hang onto the President. Over all would be a supergovernment with a supercongress and executive. "Union now" leaders are seeking $250,000 to carry out their campaign.

Stationery of Federal union, the incorporated name of the movement, carries question and answer material which discusses the war issue. Question No. 6 asks whether joining the union would involve America in the war. The answer follows:

"We are already involved, thru our guarantees to Canada and Latin America, our aid to Britain, our defense preparations and the conscripting of an army. Our choice is between stopping Hitler over there and fighting him over here."

Would Have to Go to War.

Question No. 17 asks whether American boys would have to go to war under the "union now" government if Japan attacked Australia.

"Yes," was the answer. "Just as Canadian and English boys would have to go to war if Japan attacked California and boys from Maine now have to fight for the defense of Arizona."

On page 19 of Streit's recent book under the title, "Union Needed to Win the War," he sums up tasks lying ahead for his movement as follows:

"1. To halt tyranny's onward march and save America from invasion.

"2. To win the war.

"3. To win the peace."

Streit Pleads for Haste.

Pleading for haste in adoption of his union plan, Streit continued:

"Even those who do not agree that our entry in the war is inevitable may readily agree that we may become involved in it any day by forces beyond our control. They may agree that before this happens the situation of Britain and ourselves will have become much worse and that we shall then need to do the very best we can to win."

Discussing an American expeditionary force, Streit said this country might not need to send a large army abroad, but it would help morale to send troops to the British and Irish Isles.

According to the March issue of Federal Union World, organ for the movement in this country, there were 10,000 members and 250 branches of Federal Union, Limited, the English counterpart, in the British Isles last year. There are also branches in Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Ireland, India, Argentine, and Switzerland.

BIRTHDAY FETES CURBED BY REDS; ALLOW ONLY 3

MOSCOW, April 11 (AP).—Russian officials today decided that too many celebrations and anniversaries constitute "a very unhealthy practice" and ordered that they be sharply restricted.

They said that "celebration jubilees sometimes are converted into jubilean bacchanale."

Observance of anniversaries of organizations was limited to the 20th, 50th, and 100th years "in case of eminent achievements," and celebration of birthdays was restricted to the 50th, 60th, and 75th for persons who "rendered special services" and then the expenses must have state approval.

ELENORA ULLEN.

The final wish of Miss Albina Catherine Treivers, 21 year old night club singer and dice girl, who leaped to her death Thursday night from the 13th floor of the Sherman hotel, will be fulfilled, her father said yesterday. Her body will be cremated and the ashes scattered over Lake Michigan.

Her wish was contained in a note to her father, John Treivers, 5134 South Spaulding avenue, a machinist, which was read at the inquest into her death.

The coroner's jury, directed by Deputy Coroner Edmund English, returned a verdict of suicide while despondent. Miss Elenora Ullen, 22, of 6754 North Hermitage avenue, a dice girl who was a friend of Miss Treivers, cried as the notes were read. One, which was addressed to her, said: "I've tried to go on being the slaphappy, devil-may-care gal you have all been so used to seeing, but I find I can't go on any longer."

POLICE ARREST 138 IN RAIDS ON 6 BOOKIE JOINTS

Police continued their drive yesterday to close horse betting parlors by raiding six handbooks on the north side. They arrested 138 patrons and operators, including seven women. The patrons were taken to the Chicago avenue and Central stations, questioned by Clement Dernbach, assistant state's attorney, booked on charges of disorderly conduct, then released on bonds of $25.

The places raided and the number of persons seized were: 69 West Grand avenue, 58 men and 4 women; 430 North Clark street, 30 men; 1154 North Clark street, 32 men and 3 women; 110 East Hubbard street, 7 men; 1921 Irving Park road, 2 men, and 2618 Lincoln avenue, 2 men.

Capt. Thomas Duffy of the Central station jolted three alleged bookies in the South State street court yesterday when they were arraigned before Judge George B. Weiss. They had asked for a continuance until April 25. "Let's make it June 4," suggested Capt. Duffy. When the court accepted Capt. Duffy's suggestion, the three defendants discovered that a $1,000 cash bond would be tied up that long.

FEDERAL UNION PLAN RAPPED AS DICTATOR BAIT

Adoption of the Federal Union proposal to unite the United States and other English speaking nations would eventually make America easy prey for aspiring dictators, Representative Karl E. Mundt [R., S. D.] asserted last night. He spoke in Elgin at a meeting of the Izaak Walton league.

"Immigration laws would be abolished," Mundt said. "Eventually, instead of having 16 acres of land per American, as we do now, we would have less than two acres, as is the case in Germany and Italy. Under such conditions the people listen to demagogues who promise to ease the pressure of population by conquest."

REVIVED AFTER HEART ATTACK.

Firemen of rescue squad No. 7 yesterday revived Mrs. Mary Wagner, 37 years old, 614 Monroe street, Maywood, in the offices of Our Lady of Sorrows church, 320 South Albany avenue, after Mrs. Wagner collapsed near the church from an apparent heart attack.

WESTERN CITIES FIRMLY AGAINST WAR, NYE FINDS

Senator Reports on Tour for America First.

An enthusiastic response to his plea that the United States keep out of the European war has been evident along the Pacific coast and in western states, Senator Gerald P. Nye R., N. D.] reported yesterday when he paused here on his cross-country speaking tour.

"In such cities as Los Angeles, Portland, Seattle, and San Diego," said Nye, "where the cry of 'Japanese' is supposed to set hearts aflutter, there is calmness. The people are not heeding the frantic cries of the interventionists and are keeping their heads."

Tells of Great Crowds.

In most of the cities in which he spoke, Nye said, crowds taxed the capacity of the auditoriums and meeting halls and hundreds had to be turned away. The largest crowd he addressed was in San Francisco, where more than 10,000 persons heard his warning of future chaos if the country becomes involved in the fight.

"The results so far are encouraging," he said. "I'm more sure than ever that the people of this country are not going to slide willingly to war. Any one who thinks they want to fight in this war is terribly mistaken."

Senator Nye will confer here with local leaders of the America First committee, in whose behalf he is making the speaking tour. He will leave for Washington this afternoon and later swing into the New England states, with speeches scheduled for Springfield, Mass., New Haven, Conn., and other eastern cities.

Rally in Arena Thursday.

An overflow crowd of 10,000 is expected to gather at the Chicago arena, 410 East Erie street, next Thursday when Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will speak under committee auspices. The rally is part of a campaign to enroll 5,000 chapters with a national membership of 10,000,000 according to R. Douglas Stuart, national director. Chairmen of chapters in Illinois and other midwest states will sit on the speakers' platform.

Local committee headquarters yesterday received a copy of a resolution adopted by the Fayette County Federated Women's clubs backing the principles of the America First movement. The resolution was sent by Mrs. Bertha Hebron of Farina, president of the organization.

HALT COLLECTION OF GREEK FUNDS IN N.Y. OVER FEES

New York, April 11 (AP).—Charging that employés were being paid large salaries out of funds collected by the United States Friends of Greece, City Welfare Commissioner William Hodson today revoked the public solicitation license given the group March 5.

Hodson said he had learned one agent of the organization had been employed at $150 a week and another at $100 a week, altho the license was issued with the understanding that no commisions, fees, or wages would be paid solicitors.

H. John Gluskin, secretary treasurer of the organization, said the two cited were not engaged in solicitation, and added that "very little" money had been raised to date.

Vichy or DeGaulle? French Vote in North Atlantic Isles

OTTAWA, Ont., April 11 (AP).—A plebiscite was reported under way today among the 4,175 residents of the French islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon to determine whether to declare allegiance to the Vichy government or Gen. Charles De Gaulle's "Free French" movement.

Serb Plight Laid to Donovan; Poppycock, He Says of Charge

Talk of U. S. Help

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

Washington, D. C., April 11.—The situation in the Balkans is increasingly being referred to here as a product in considerable part of American intervention with pledges of support if the Jugo-Slav army would revolt, install a new régime, and oppose the axis. Great Britain gladly went along with words of encouragement, it was said.

The key figure for the United States supposedly was Col. William J. Donovan, who went to the near east last winter with the blessing of Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox. Col. Donovan interviewed Serb officials in the Balkans, including Prince Paul of Jugo-Slavia and the military chieftains of that country.

Emissary of President.

Secretary of State Hull made clear from the first that Col. Donovan was not a state department representative. Moreover, according to officials, he did not have the advantage of consultations in advance with American diplomatic experts or of any coaching for a mission of the scope that his turned out to be. Eventually he appeared in the near east as virtually an emissary of President Roosevelt.

It was said that Col. Donovan did confer before leaving with Constantin Fotitch, the Jugo-Slav minister, who has long been known as antiaxis and was jubilant over the military coup d'etat in Belgrade. As the crisis developed, Fotitch conferred frequently with Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state.

Many key state department officials and war department officials were not consulted over the Donovan trip and privately may have been dubious over the program. In any event, according to the reports, Col. Donovan had the ear of the President.

Italians Assail Roosevelt.

ROME, April 11 (AP).—The newspaper Il Popolo Di Roma today said that President Roosevelt had set himself up as "emperor of the world."

The comment was linked with United States protection of Greenland under an agreement signed by Henrik de Kauffmann, Danish minister, on behalf of the Danish throne.

Italian propaganda renewed attacks on Mr. Roosevelt for what was described as the "ruin" of Jugo-Slavia.

Col. William J. Donovan, who toured the Balkans and middle east on a diplomatic passport as an unofficial observer, was called "Washington's No. 2 agent provocateur."

Says U. S. Had Hand in Coup.

Newspapers echoed the words of Giovannia Ansaldo, editor of Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano's Il Telegrafo of Leghorn. Ansaldo said on the radio that "there is no doubt" the Jugo-Slav military overthrew the régime of Prince Paul "not only at the British suggestion but also under the influence, direct or indirect, of America."

"It is not for nothing that Col. Donovan, this 'ersatz' ambassador of President Roosevelt, in his tour of the Balkans passed several days at Belgrade and had talks there with Gen. Simovitch, organizer of the coup d'état. America together with England also has been beaten in this Mediterranean adventure."

Donovan in Chicago

Col. William J. [Wild Bill] Donovan last night termed "poppycock and tripe" charges reported in news stories that he had played a considerable part in bringing about the present situation in the Balkans.

Cables from Rome called Donovan "Washington's No. 2 agent provocateur" in what Italian propaganda termed the "ruin" of Jugo-Slavia. Dispatches from Washington, D. C., credited Donovan with being the key figure in American pledges of support if the Serb army would revolt, install a new régime, and oppose the axis.

Calls Stories Absurd.

"The stories are absurd," Donovan said. "Whenever I talked to any one in the Balkans it was in the presence of the American ambassador or some member of the legation."

Donovan, who has just returned from a tour of the Balkans and middle east as an unofficial observer, termed "ridiculous" an Italian charge that he had had talks in Belgrade with Gen. Simovitch, organizer of the Jugo-Slav antiaxis coup. "I didn't even know there was going to be a coup," he asserted.

Donovan met with an equally vehement denial reports that he had conferred with Constantin Fotitch, antiaxis Jugo-Slav minister in the United States, before starting on his journey.

Denies He Has President's Ear.

"I never met Fotitch until I was introduced to him at the press club the other day," Donovan declared. "The statement that I had the ear of the President is also wrong. I do not have the ear of the President. They call me 'Washington's No. 2 agent provocateur.' Who is No. 1?"

Col. Donovan left Chicago last night after addressing a noon meeting of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations in the Palmer house. There he asserted that defeats will come to Adolf Hitler this year or next, and that "when they come the disintegration of Germany will be as sudden and complete as her present power seems perfect and impervious."

Sole Power Is Army, He Says.

"In a totally militarized country, the army is the nation—materially and psychologically," Col. Donovan said. "So long as the army is everywhere victorious, Germany is great, powerful, and apparently irresistible.

"But it is equally true that the moment the German army is not everywhere victorious, Germany is no longer great, is no longer powerful but is, on the contrary, in the greatest danger. Her strength is her vulnerability, for the German nation has no other strength, no other force than its army."

Germany is making every effort to end the war this year, Col. Donovan said, because her resources are under strain. He asserted that Germany's lifeline is oil and that the comfortable limit of her supply cannot be based beyond next year.

Warns of Peril to America.

If Germany won the war, Donovan continued, the United States would be confronted by a Hitler-dominated Europe with a productive economy based on conscript labor pitted against our higher standards of living. Danger also would lie in South America thru Germany's plan for world dominion, he asserted.

"It seems clear to me that what we should do is to act only for our own advantage," said Col. Donovan. "And we should be stampeded by no one. We should act on Monday according to our best advantage on Monday and on Tuesday according to our best advantage on Tuesday. If it is to our advantage to declare war, we should declare war, but otherwise not; if it is to our disadvantage to declare war, we should not declare war."

Lloyd Garrison Named Referee in Allis Dispute

Washington, D. C., April 11 (AP).—The defense mediation board today appointed Lloyd C. Garrison, dean of the law department of the University of Wisconsin, referee for management-union disputes in the Allis-Chalmers company at Milwaukee.

The post of referee was created in a strike settlement agreement reached Sunday between the company and the CIO United Automobile Workers union. He was given authority to settle disputes.

LONDON HAS ITS HOLIDAY DESPITE APPEAL TO WORK

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 11.—The British government's "business as usual" appeal for virtual cancelation of the Good Friday holiday misfired today. Altho banks, stock markets, munitions factories, and transportation companies carried on with full staffs, the business areas presented the scene of a peaceful Sunday afternoon.

A few shops selling sweets, tobacco, or perishable goods remained open part or all of the day, but groceries, clothing shops, and department stores mostly shut up shop. Housewives who had left their Easter shopping until today in the expectation that food stores would conform to the government request experienced difficulties in purchasing their family's requirements.

London railways and subways ran full services. The early morning rush hour failed to materialize, however, and toward evening the services were reduced. Most travelers had a holiday aspect. Trips to town to look over the bomb damage were popular. Movies which were open all day did a roaring trade.

FOOD FOR EUROPE PILGRIMS TREK 7 DAYS TO CAPITAL

Washington, D. C., April 11 [Special].—A petition signed by 6,440 persons in 40 states, calling on the American government and the British and German embassies to agree to feed the civilian victims of military occupation and blockade in the "little countries" of Europe, was presented to the state department today by a delegation representing the Food for Europe Pilgrims.

The pilgrims said they had made a seven day march to the capital, pushing their belongings in a hand cart and living on "war zone rations," like European refugees. They were received by James Clement Dunn, acting for Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

"We are convinced," they said in a formal statement, "that the conscience of the plain people of America today wants our country to send food—certainly not guns alone—to Europe."

The petition was taken under consideration, it was said at the state department. Then the delegation interviewed members of congress and held services in local churches.

BUSINESS CHIEFS BACK MOVE FOR MORE DAYLIGHT

Cite Advantages of Extra Hour in Fall.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

Industrialists, State street merchants, and business men came out strongly yesterday in favor of the proposal to extend daylight saving time thru October.

Among the many advantages they said would be possible with the extra hour of daylight during the month was the increased recreational opportunities for office employés and factory workers who are indoors all day. They also asserted there would be reductions in industrial accidents and in the traffic toll during the evening rush hours when their workers heretofore have been forced to start home in the fall twilight.

Aldermen Favor Change.

Daylight time now extends from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in September. An ordinance providing for the extension for another month is pending before the city council judiciary committee. A public hearing is scheduled for Tuesday. Mayor Kelly and a majority of the aldermen have announced their support of the measure.

David Mayer Jr., chairman of the State street council and vice president of Maurice L. Rothschild, said he has received a resolution in favor of the ordinance adopted by the council's committee on business. The resolution states:

"The added hour of daylight this October would afford greater opportunities for workers indoors all day to secure recreational relaxation in the evenings. We believe most employés would appreciate this extra time."

Cites Aid to Recreation.

M. C. Penticoff, district manager of Sears Roebuck & Co., and a member of the council's executive committee, also favors the plan.

"I'm sure the large majority of workers want more daylight," he said. "They want the opportunity to enjoy the many recreational facilities which Chicago has and they cannot do it ordinarily in the fall because it's twilight before they start for home."

"We favor the change," asserted George R. Benson, president of the Benson Rixon company and a member of the council executive committee. "It is an excellent thing for office and factory workers," he added. "They should be given every opportunity to get outside and enjoy themselves. Autumn is one of the most pleasant seasons of the year and it seems unfair that full enjoyment should be denied so many because of the early darkness."

Seen As Sales Stimulant.

Leaders in the Chicago Stock exchange said they favor the daylight time extension. Business men in various sections of the city backing the plan said that daylight in the evenings tends to induce families to leave their homes, especially in seasons of mild weather, resulting in increased buying activity.

The possibility of reducing industrial accidents thru a time change was noted by James S. Knowlson, president and chairman of Stewart-Warner corporation.

"I am enthusiastically in favor of daylight time," he said. "It will afford our workers a greater enjoyment of one of the most agreeable seasons of the year and it will promote safety thru increased visibility at the end of the day when accidents are the most likely to happen."

PILGRIMS WALK PATH OF CHRIST IN HOLY LAND

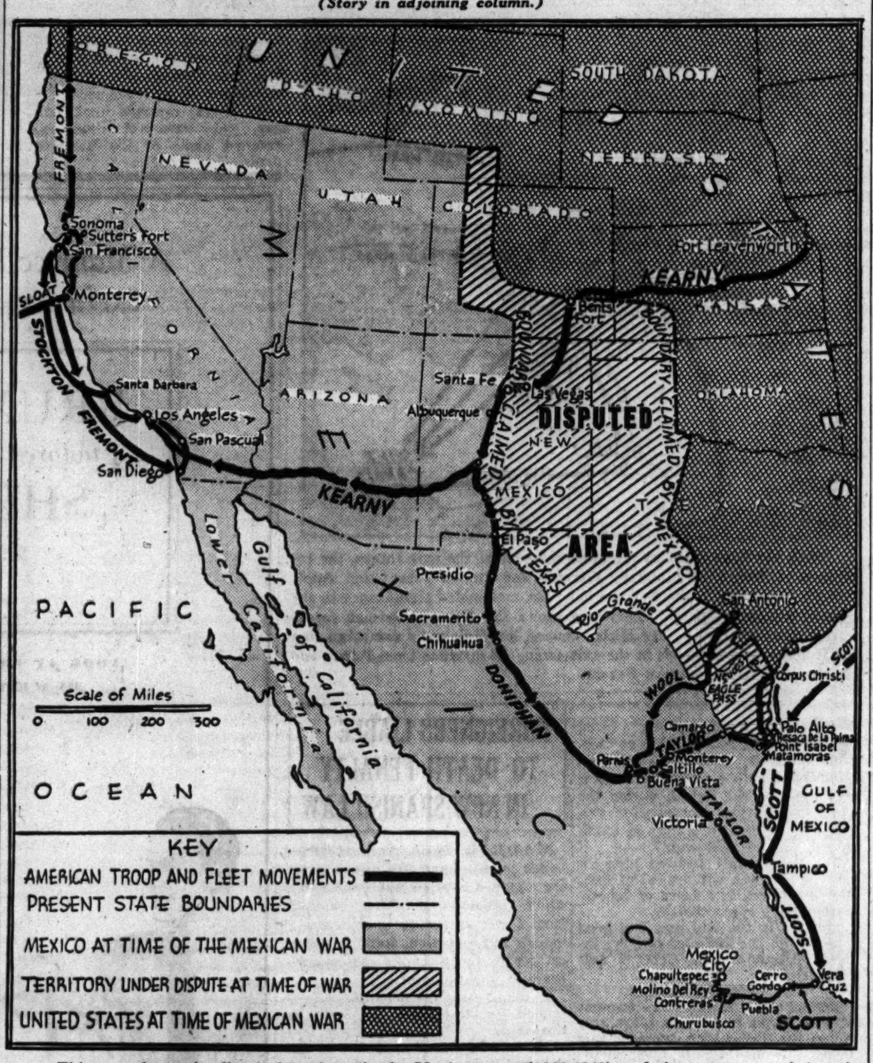
JERUSALEM, April 11 (AP).—The Holy Land observed this Good Friday with fervent prayers for peace. Pilgrims walked the path taken by Christ in the narrow, sacred Via Dolorosa and prayed at stations of the cross leading from the scene of his prison along the winding lane into the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, his last stop before mounting Calvary.

Many of the pilgrims wept as they paused and knelt at each of the successive stations of the precrucifixion journey.

Altho the Greek Eastertide begins later under the eastern church's calendar, prayers were said by many in behalf of the country now undergoing attack by the Germans.

Col. McCormick to Discuss Mexican War Tonight

(Story in adjoining column.)



This map shows the disputed territory in the Mexican war (1846-1848) and the movement of American forces both by land and sea in that war, which will be the subject of a radio address by Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of The Tribune. He will speak on the Chicagoland hour of W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system, at 9 o'clock tonight. It is suggested that readers keep this map at hand during the speech tonight and save it for reference in reading the speech in tomorrow morning's Tribune.

COL. M'CORMICK TO SUMMARIZE WAR SITUATION

Talks Tonight on W-G-N Chicagoland Hour.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of The Chicago Tribune, will give a summary of the military situation in Europe and Africa during the Chicagoland hour over W-G-N and the Mutual network between 9 and 10 o'clock tonight.

After his discussion of the present conflict, Col. McCormick, whose talks are a regular feature of this radio series, will speak on "The Mexican War."

200 Special Guests.

Special guests tonight will include some 200 men from the army and navy. Fifty of these will come from Fort Sheridan; the others from the headquarters of the 6th corps area, United States army, and from the Naval armory.

Festal music will mark the entertainment portion of the program. Mark Love, W-G-N basso, and Ruth Slater, contralto, will be the soloists and Henry Weber, returned from his vacation, will direct the W-G-N orchestra.

Mr. Love and the W-G-N chorus will sing Moussorgsky's "Coronation Scene" from "Boris Godounov." He also will be the soloist in Schumann's "Two Grenadiers."

Other Musical Numbers.

Miss Slater will sing Franck's "Panis Angelicus," and Franz's "Dedication." The W-G-N chorus will sing "The Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "The Messiah."

The chorus and orchestra also will offer the "Pilgrim's' Chorus" from Wagner's "Tannhäuser" and the orchestra the "Good Friday Spell" from Wagner's "Parsifal," and the third movement, minuetto, from Mozart's Symphony in G Minor, No. 40.

HOLD 197 COUNTY SCHOOL DISTRICT ELECTIONS TODAY

School board elections will be held today in 21 high school and 176 elementary school districts of Cook county outside Chicago. The 197 school districts are divided between those having fewer than 1,000 population and those having 1,000 or more.

The smaller districts are supervised by three man boards of directors. Staggered terms of office make necessary the election of but one director in each board today. In the larger districts, two members of each board will be chosen.

In Evanston, voters will decide a referendum on raising the school district tax limit from $1.375 to $2. Unless the voters approve the raise, according to Francis L. Bacon, superintendent-principal of Evanston High school, the community's educational standing is threatened. He said enrollment has increased to the point where efficiency is threatened, while tax revenue remains the same.

Clayton F. Smith Is 66, but Isn't Celebrating

Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, observed his 66th birthday yesterday. There was no celebration, Smith remarking that he was "getting too old to have birthdays."

Deanna Durbin and Vaughn Paul at marriage license bureau in Los Angeles, Cal., yesterday.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 11 (AP).—Deanna Durbin, 19 year old movie actress, and Vaughn Paul, 25, her first and only sweetheart, obtained a marriage license today.

Deanna and the young movie executive were at the license bureau when it opened this morning.

"This is my first romance," said Deanna, displaying her engagement ring, a large diamond flanked with half circles of rubies and set in a plain gold band. "I hope it is going to be my last."

The couple said they would be married at the Wilshire Methodist Episcopal church instead of at the Hollywood home of Deanna's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Durbin, as had been planned.

The reason: There are to be 850 guests.

ROME IS STILLED AMID MOURNING OF CRUCIFIXION

ROME, April 11 (AP).—Italians laid aside the cares of war today to enter into the customary mourning for the crucifixion of Christ, which every year stills the busy life of Rome on Good Friday.

With few pilgrims in the center of Catholicism this year, however, the faithful who climbed the famed holy stairs at St. John Lateran, kneeling to pray on each step, were less numerous than usual.

In the Vatican Pope Pius XII, and the cardinals attended a mass in the Sistine chapel. After the mass, celebrated by Cardinal Raffaelo Rossi, the pontiff was carried to the Pauline chapel where he performed the act of adoration. Then the pope and cardinals placed personal offerings of money to the church on a tray. The pontiff's gift was in a red velvet purse.

Bells of Rome's 240 churches were stilled. Theaters were closed tonight.

This 'Ducky' Easter Bonnet Is Borne by Film Actress

Hollywood, Cal., April 11 [Special].—"Just too ducky," folks said today when they glimpsed an Easter hat given an early parade by Joan Leslie, young film actress. It was a pillbox on the top of which was perched a nest containing two ducks of down and pastel colored, jewel banded Easter eggs. Chenille dotted veiling draped the hat and tied under the chin.

MAN'S CROWNING GLORY; IT'S NOW A COLORFUL HAT

Easter Season Sales Up 10 to 15 Per Cent.

Spring 1941 will be remembered, for one thing, because it was the season in which men's hats snapped out of their doldrums. No longer is quiet conservatism the sign of the gentleman of fashion. A well bred man may now dress as colorfully as he pleases with his hat as a crowning glory.

This was evident yesterday in a tour of loop haberdasheries and men's furnishings sections in the large department stores. Hat buyers said sales had jumped 10 to 15 per cent over last year.

Rakish Rows of Color.

The reason, they said, lay in rakish rows of color on their shelves. There were soft felts whose names sounded like the shades of women's stockings: "dune," which resembled a mound of sun-lit sand; "pecan," a warm cocoa tint; "oak," a deep red brown, and "adobe tan," the color of Indian clay. Then there were pastels, powder blues, greens, pearls, high color "snows" and silvers. For the army-minded man who must remain at home, there is a large showing of olive drab tints.

Another change can be seen in the crowns, now either very high or reasonably low. Brims are one-eighth to three-eighths of an inch wider than those of last season.

Salesmen said the snap-brim fedora is the favorite for spring. Silk toppers will be numerous in the Easter parade tomorrow. The derby won't be seen much, if the style setters have their way.

New Fabrics in Market.

Several new fabrics are in the market now that importation of fur felts is difficult. One is called bengal, a sheared version of the old-fashioned beaver, and another is a chamois felt whose deep nap has a suedelike texture.

A consistently good seller is a chamois felt with a saddle-stitched brim and a self-fabric band also with saddle stitching. Second in popularity is a rakish, wide brim, bound-edged felt with a low crown and silk, grosgrain band.

Hat bands, narrower than last season, are making up for it in colors and materials.

One hat buyer commented, without trying to be funny, "This dramatic year seems to be going to men's heads."

OVERWHELMING VOTE FOR DAYLIGHT SAVING CAST IN INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, Ind., April 11 [Special].—Overwhelming sentiment for adoption of daylight saving time in Indianapolis was reported today in a poll of hundreds of employés of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers.

Nine of the eleven firms that were polled reported that all employés voted for daylight saving.

At the R. C. A. Manufacturing company, where 1,800 are employed, the vote was 3 to 1 for the change. Employés of the Stewart-Carey Glass company favored it more than 2 to 1. All other companies reported the decision was unanimous. Questionnaires sent to manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers showed 90 favor daylight while only 6 opposed.

The vote was: manufacturers, 30 for, 4 against; wholesalers, 34 for, none against; retailers, 26 for, 2 against.

Most vocal opposition has come from a few labor leaders.

Come and Meet Marianne, a Bouncing Baby Girl

Talk about your bouncing baby boys: Marianne Foster, 20 months old, fell from a third floor window of her home at 7827 South Shore drive yesterday. In St. George's hospital physicians found no broken bones, and Marianne, daughter of Policeman Charles Foster of the Englewood station, seemed her usual happy self.

JUSTICE HUGHES IS 79; PREFERS TO OVERLOOK IT

Washington, D. C., April 11 (AP).—Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, whose vitality and keen sense of humor belie his age, reached his 79th birthday today.

The white bearded jurist, who has presided over the Supreme court for more than 11 years, preferred to overlook the occasion. He told newspapermen he had nothing to say. Apparently he adheres to the philosophy of a remark made a few years ago that he was "going along without reference to the calendar."

There has been speculation over the possibility of the chief justice retiring in June at the end of this term, but he has given no indication he plans to do so. On the contrary friends have quoted him as saying he intends to remain on the court as long as his health permitted. He has not missed a day from his court duties since the term began last October.

SERB MUNITIONS CITY CAPTURED BY NAZI TROOPS

Italy Claims Axis Armies Divide Kingdom.

LONDON, April 12, Saturday (AP).—Reuters, British news agency, early today quoted a Jugo-Slav high command communique from "somewhere in Jugo-Slavia" to the effect that German troops on the central front had occupied Kragujevac, 60 miles south of Belgrade, the capital.

[Kragujevac once was a center of Serb munitions, having an arsenal and plants for manufacturing arms and ammunition. There also was a powder mill in the vicinity.]

In the north the Jugo-Slav high command acknowledged that another German column which entered Jugo-Slavia at Daruvar [presumably coming from Hungary] had driven south 50 miles to a point near Brod on the Sava river.

[In Rome the Italian high command said an Italian column occupied Longatico in extreme northwestern Jugo-Slavia and pushed on down the Sava valley toward Ljubljana.]

There were no important events in Albania, the communique said.

Encourages Greek Troops.

A little earlier, Gen. Dusan Simovitch, the Jugo-Slav premier, broadcast encouragement to his soldiers from headquarters from "somewhere in Jugo-Slavia."

"Our troops are concentrating on main battle lines to check the enemy's advance," he said. "Germany's early successes cannot discourage us. Tho the present situation is difficult, I believe the justice of our cause, the bravery of our army, and the help of our powerful allies will assure us victory."

[The Berlin correspondent of the Tribune de Geneve in Switzerland said it was reported in Berlin that Jugo-Slavia would capitulate tomorrow or Monday.]

Claim 50,000 Prisoners.

BERLIN, April 11 (AP).—The German high command today announced that 10,000 new prisoners were taken by German troops in pursuing Jugo-Slav troops northwest of Nish on the central Jugo-Slav front. All told, the Germans counted 50,000 Jugo-Slav prisoners since Adolf Hitler's armies entered the Balkan kingdom.

In northern Jugo-Slavia, new German successes were claimed. These involved crossing of the Drava river and a continued advance in the face of rough terrain and bad weather.

[German dive bombers spread destruction and devastation among Serb troops west of Zagreb, the capital of Croatia, yesterday, the German radio reported. The "moral effect on marching columns was so strong that troops which had not been destroyed spread white pieces of cloth on the ground and surrendered to units of the German army which was on their heels," the radio said.]

Urge Croats to Surrender.

Germans said Jugo-Slav forces in the south were largely Croats who were shoved to the front to bear the brunt of the battle for the Serbs.

With an independent Croat state formed in the north prior to the arrival of German troops in Zagreb, the Croats still fighting in the south were being urged to surrender.

Soldiers of Hungary, junior axis partner, trooped into a part of Croatia to occupy territory under the crown of St. Stephen before the world war. The reason for immediate occupation, Hungarians said, was the bombing of numerous Hungarian towns by Jugo-Slav planes.

[The London radio quoted a Hungarian communique as reporting Hungarian troops reached all objectives in the face of "fierce and determined resistance from fortified positions."]

POLICE GET LAST OF SIX IN GANG OF MAIL THIEVES

Detectives George E. Miller and Edward Henning of the Maxwell Street station yesterday seized the last of six youths wanted in connection with 200 to 300 west side mail box robberies committed in the last three months. One of those held, William Gresky, 16 years old, of 1956 Canalport avenue, was also wanted for the theft two weeks ago of $300 in jewels from the home of Mrs. Adele Wilkozek at 1621 South Union avenue. Police said the gang had obtained about 50 checks sent to reliefers and old age pensioners, forged signatures, and cashed them for a total of about $250.

Gresky and two others, Edward Yakich, alias Eddie Jacks, 16, of 1343 West 16th street, and Raymond Policky, 16, of 1621 South Peoria street, were taken to the juvenile home to await action by postal authorities. Held in the Maxwell Street station were Joseph Simon, 18, of 1840 Allport street; Laddie Holan, 19, of 1852 West 18th street, and Rudolph Vanik, 18, of 1011 West 16th street.

Firemen Free Woman Pinned Under Street Car

Mrs. Mary Carr, 72 years old, of 7158 Vincennes avenue, a widow, was injured seriously last night when she was pinned beneath a moving street car on Wentworth avenue at 51st street. She had just alighted from the street car, and started to cross in front of it before Motorman Joseph Rossbach, 32, noticed her. Stockyards police and firemen under Chief Daniel Lyon of the 11th battalion extricated her. She was taken to St. Bernard's hospital.

British Claim 2 German Planes Downed at Malta

VALLETTA, Malta, April 11 (AP).—Two German Messerschmitt fighter planes were shot down, and one Junkers 88 bomber, and two Italian CR-42 fighters were probably destroyed in air fights over this island fortress today, a British communique announced.

British Shift Troops to Libya

Arrows show routes by which British imperial troops, having virtually completed their conquest of Italian East Africa, are being moved to meet German and Italian forces attempting to win Libya back. Principal developments of yesterday are told on the map.

bitter, and British bombers poured down explosives upon the struggling Germans, and carried out continuing attacks on German columns moving on the road from Prilep toward Florina.

"Enemy armored columns between Bitolj and Prilep were bombed and a number of tanks received direct hits," a communique said. "Several were destroyed and others overturned.

"Bombs fell close to the road, and others burst near the railway line. Railway stores were attacked at Kenali and a petrol dump 10 miles southwest of Prilep was set on fire.

"Heavy casualties were caused to enemy troops."

To the east, in Macedonia—which was isolated by the Germans in the capture of Salonika—the surviving Greek forces were offering a "magnificent" delaying resistance.

Report British Withdrawal.

BERLIN, April 11 (AP).—The Germans tonight announced that British forces occupying secondary lines of defense in northern Greece had been ordered to withdraw, leaving Jugo-Slavs resisting to the north without any support.

DNB, the German news agency, said this message to the British troops was intercepted by German forces: "Left wing threatened—withdraw."

Germans Bomb Piraeus.

The German air force began bombing Piraeus, the port of Athens, the principal terminus for British supplies to Greece, now that Salonika is in German hands.

[In Athens it was announced in the Piræus raid four Nazi bombers were shot down and a third was believed to have fallen into the sea. A small steamer was sunk by the bombers.]

The high command said the surrender of the Greek army of the east was proceeding on schedule, with no estimate yet on the number of prisoners or the amount of material taken. The last previous figure given out here for these Greek prisoners, cut off by the German lunge to Salonika, was 80,000.

In breaking thru the Metaxas line, the primary Greek front, southern German mountain fighters stormed casemates built into rock.

BRITISH SCREEN WRITERS ANGRY; RIP GOVERNMENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 11.—British screen writers in a circular issued today declared they are "alarmed and amazed by the almost incredible lack of imagination displayed by the government in its present film policy."

They contrast the situation here, where studios are being closed, to Germany, where the film industry is working full pressure. They urge that British stars, writers, and leading technicians now in Hollywood should be invited to return.

The circular suggests that the whole industry should be placed under an experienced movie man with wide powers to plan and organize film propaganda better than Germany's. Even the theater owners are rebelling against the films put out by the ministry of information and refused recently to show a film of the raid on the Lofoten Islands off Norway on the grounds that the raid was better covered three weeks earlier by ordinary news reels.

COVENTRY HOLDS ITS GOOD FRIDAY RITES AMID RUINS

COVENTRY, England, April 11 (AP).—A little group of men and women, some weeping, some grimy, some without sleep for three days and three nights, held Good Friday evening services tonight in a battered, roofless cathedral in this heavily bombed Midlands town.

In a drizzling rain, the Very Rev. R. T. Howard, archdeacon and provost of Coventry, led the services from a huge block of masonry he improvised as a pulpit. A cross made from burned timbers of the cathedral ruins was silhouetted against the sky. A Salvation Army band played.

"Surely this is the strangest gathering Coventry ever has seen," Mr. Howard said. "These ruins are full of strange power. It does not matter when we die; it only matters how."

BRITISH MASSING FOR NEW BATTLE IN EASTERN LIBYA

Troops Pour Thru Egypt from East Africa.

CAIRO, Egypt, April 11 (AP).—Reenforced British imperial troops are moving into positions east of Libya's Gebel El Achdar mountain range tonight for a second battle of Cyrenaica with the resurgent axis army.

Veterans of Britain's swift conquest of Italian East Africa, many of whom had been withdrawn from Libya following the collapse of Italian resistance there early this year, were pouring thru Egypt into the east Libyan sector, Premier Hussein Sirry Pasha of Egypt disclosed in an interview today.

He said the British high command has absolute confidence in the outcome of the new Libyan battle, despite recent German-Italian gains.

Troops Arrive Daily.

"British imperial forces are arriving daily in increasing numbers," the premier said. "This flow can only increase after the latest victories in East Africa."

Foreshadowing the battle was intense aerial activity by the British air force which reported destruction of 34 axis planes, including 22 in an "amazing two days," during this week. In a rout of 20 German dive bombers and escorts, an Australian squadron destroyed five Junker bombers and three Messerschmitt 110 escorts.

"Even more disastrous," the RAF continued, "was the following day when 14 bombers which ventured out unescorted were shot down by British fighters." Eight other German planes were destroyed on the ground at Derna, about 85 miles west of British held Tobruk.

As for land fighting, the British communique said only that "our troops are in contact with the enemy west of Tobruk."

Light Covering Forces.

Axis forces, spearheaded by German mechanized divisions, have driven the British back more than 400 miles across the Cyrenaican hump from El Aghella, capturing Bengazi and Derna. As many as five German divisions may be participating in the attack.

[A dispatch from the Tribune correspondent in Berlin last night listed the German strength in Libya as "several" divisions. Only one small German vessel with a cargo of 16 guns was sunk by the British during the shipping operations necessary to transport such a force from Italy to North Africa, said the Germans.]

The British have insisted their retreat is chiefly a withdrawal of light covering forces to a place of concentration for a major battle.

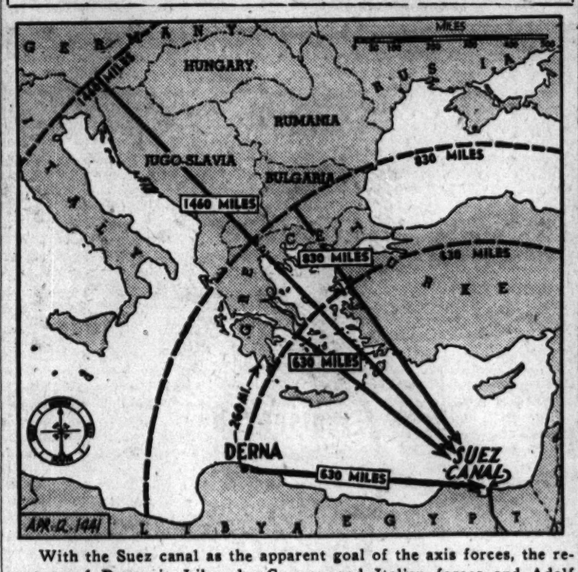
Apparently the site now has been selected, on the table lands lying between Tobruk and the Gebel el Achdar range.

Axis Advance Continues.

ROME, April 11 (AP).—The advance of axis forces in eastern Libya continues, the Italian high command said today. German planes bombed the port works and ships at British held Tobruk and Italian and German flyers dive bombed troop concentrations there.

A special Italian commissioner at Bengazi reported to Premier Mussolini that British troops sacked the Cyrenaican capital when they entered six weeks ago and set it afire before they left eight days ago.

Hitler Presses Nearer Suez Canal



With the Suez canal as the apparent goal of the axis forces, the recapture of Derna in Libya by German and Italian forces and Adolf Hitler's blitzkrieg in the Balkans have assumed added significance in the eyes of military experts. This map shows the distance German forces were from the canal before Hitler started his diplomatic campaign that put Rumania and Bulgaria in the axis camp, the distance from Derna, and the distance from southern Greece.

FOREIGNERS LIABLE TO DEATH PENALTY IN NEW SPANISH LAW

MADRID, Spain, April 11 (AP).—Death penalties and stiff prison terms are provided in a law published today which prohibits activities ranging from rumor spreading to obstructing industrial production, forming political groups and attempts against government functionaries.

In many cases the penalties are extended to foreigners as well as Spaniards.

An announcement appended to the law said it was to go into effect when the government suspends the present rule, which subjects such offenses to the jurisdiction of military tribunals.

Asks U. S. Ships to Hunt 6 Escaped German Seamen

TAMPICO, Mexico, April 11 (AP).—The United States neutrality patrol has been requested to search for six German crewmen of the seized German liner Orinoco who escaped Tuesday night in a homemade 30 foot yawl, it was reported unofficially today. They were said to have carried detailed plans of the Tampico oil fields.

British, Belgian, and Dutch Diplomats Leave Budapest

BUDAPEST, Hungary, April 11 (AP).—The British, Belgian, and the Netherlands diplomatic missions left Budapest today, marking the final step in breach of relations with the Hungarian government. Their departure had been delayed by travel restrictions. [It has been reported they would go to Moscow, en route to London].

RULES OUT FORCE AS JAP WEAPON IN SOUTH PACIFIC

Premier Says Tokio Policy Is Purely Peaceful.

TOKIO, April 11 (AP).—Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoe, speaking with cautious optimism of his government's relations with the United States, emphasized anew today that Japan would refrain from force in the south Pacific.

In what was considered a highly significant statement, Konoe told Japanese newspapermen that Japan's policy in the south was "purely economic and peaceful." The Netherlands East Indies, he added, should have confidence in Tokio's sincerity.

Asked if he thought Japanese-American relations would get any worse, he replied: "I do not think so."

Axis Tie an Obstacle.

He acknowledged, however, that Japan's position in the Rome-Berlin-Tokio axis and continuation of the conflict in China were obstacles in the way of completely amicable understanding between Tokio and Washington, D. C.

The premier reiterated that Japan's entry into the axis was motivated by peaceful intentions and that Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, ambassador to Washington, was trying to convince the United States government that this was so.

Apparently Japan, by casting her lot with Germany and Italy, has produced the opposite effect and observers here believe Japanese leaders have come to realize the actual situation only in the last month or so. American and British aid to China may increase, the premier commented, "but the effect is rather doubtful."

Sees No Policy Change.

"I do not think that relations with America and the soviet union or any other countries are so stalemated that nothing can be done," he insisted.

In response to a query whether Japan's foreign policy would change following the return of Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka from Berlin, Rome, and Moscow, Konoe said: "There will be no change in the policy of conducting diplomacy with the axis as the center."

Current negotiations in Moscow between Matsuoka and soviet officials, he added, are "going in the right direction." Matsuoka expects to leave for Tokio on Sunday.

TWO BURGLARS CAPTURED; ONE PUTS UP FIGHT

Two young men were held last night by Jefferson Park police who said they had admitted 16 burglaries. The two are Vernon Rossol, 19 years old, 3240 North Keeler avenue, and Richard Susral, 18, of 3514 Lowell avenue. They were seized by Policemen Walter Frank, Edward Gamschor, and William O'Neil shortly after two homes were looted.

Rossol, police said, put up a fight, and had $72 in currency and $8 in change in his pockets. He at first explained the large amount of money by saying that he was "a born gambler." Later the two admitted the burglaries, police said, and told of a hideout at 600 North Dearborn street, where some loot was recovered.

Police said both have juvenile court records, and that they boasted of how they had been picked up four or five times before while on thieving expeditions, but had won their freedom by declaring they were "Peeping Toms."

NEW REGIME IN IRAQ FRUSTRATES A COUNTERCOUP

BAGDAD, Iraq, April 11 (AP).—An Iraq government communique said tonight that a countercoup, engineered by former Regent Emir Abdul Ilah and three of his followers, had been frustrated by the commander of the Basra garrison. One of the conspirators, the governor of Basra, was said to have been arrested and brought to trial, but the others escaped by plane to British air force cantonments.

[The emir and members of his government were overthrown last week by Rashid Ali Al Gailani, present premier, in a coup which has been termed anti-British. However, the new premier has promised to respect Iraq's engagements with Britain.]

WE CAN'T AFFORD A NEW DUNKIRK, BRITISH WARNED

Would Be 'Disaster,' Paper Says.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 12, Saturday.—Altho news of the Balkan fighting is meager, the Daily Mail in a long editorial in this morning's issue warned that Britain cannot afford another Dunkirk.

"We have met with a reverse in the Balkans," said the Mail, "owing to the vast German superiority in men and metal. But if we should lose a substantial part of our army in Greece, or all of our equipment, as we did at Dunkirk, the reverse would be turned into a military disaster. In no circumstances should this be allowed to happen."

The editorial said that, despite the scarcity of news from the Balkans, "it is not difficult for the people to see what is going on."

Warn of Loss in Africa.

In North Africa, the Mail disclosed, Britain "may lose eastern Libya." In the Balkans, it said, Turkey appears to have lost the obvious moment for helping us.

"It seems only a matter of time," the Mail contended, before Jugo-Slav troops will be conquered by the Germans, but Greece, provided her armies in Albania are not cut off, "should still give an excellent account of herself, fighting a rear guard action."

"It must be realized," the Mail added, "that we are losing valuable airfields to Germany and her predominance in this element will make prolonged resistance very difficult."

Deplores "Foolish Risks."

Objecting to the British army being thrown into battle on the continent, the Mail said that "Prime Minister Churchill says that wars are not won on the safety first principle and we agree. But neither are they won by taking foolish risks."

Churchill's announcement Wednesday that the British forces in North Africa had been transferred to Greece for political and moral reasons aroused criticism in those quarters which insist that only military reasons should prevail. On this subject, while conceding that Britain could not refuse to help Greece, the Daily Mail stated:

"It is now for the high command to plan our future course of action. Henceforward only military considerations should be allowed to dictate our strategy. There must be no futile clinging to plans which obviously become impossible. Should such a situation arise the government must act with courage and foresight."

U. S. ENVOY AND DEFENSE AID SEE BOMBED SWANSEA

SWANSEA, Wales, April 11 (AP).—Prime Minister and Mrs. Churchill, accompanied by John G. Winant, United States ambassador to Britain, and William A. Harriman, special American defense representative, made a flying visit today to raid damaged areas of this Welsh port.

They were cheered by dock workers. Churchill climbed on a truck, waving first his bowler and then his cigar at the cheering workers. He declined to make a speech.

"There is a grand spirit in this town," Churchill told reporters. "The people are standing up to it well. It will be a long pull but we will be in there to the end."

SAYS PRO-BRITISH REGIME TAKES OVER RULE IN THAILAND

SAIGON, French Indo-China, April 11 (AP).—A foreign informant reported today without confirmation from any other source that the Japanese favored government of Thailand [Siam] had been overthrown in favor of a pro-British government.

[In London authorities expressed doubt that a pro-British régime had taken over the government of Thailand, but said they lacked any information one way or the other.]

To Control Rice Exports.

BANGKOK, Thailand, April 11 (AP).—Government control of Thailand's rice exports was announced today. Future shipments will be permitted only under government license, in order to conserve supplies for internal consumption. The control is temporary, pending harvest of the new crop, toward the end o. 1941.

GEN. MARSHALL VISITS ILLINOIS UNIT IN SOUTH

Alexandria, La., April 11 [Special].—Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the United States army, this afternoon visited the 106th cavalry regiment of Illinois at Camp Livingston. He was accompanied on his tour by Lieut. Col. Charles R. Johnson, Chicago, commander of the regiment; Maj. Gen. Edmund L. Daley, V corps commander of the regiment, and Maj. Gen. Irving A. Fish, commander of the 32d division which is training at Camp Livingston.

Gen. Marshall is making a tour of southern army camps with Representative J. Buell Snyder [D., Pa.], member of the house appropriations committee. Their visit here was the second for both. They were here last summer during maneuvers by 70,000 National Guardsmen.

A chorus of 300 voices and the 89 piece 32d division band will take part in the special Eastern morning service at Camp Livingston.

TURKS URGE U. S. AND RUSSIA TO HELP STOP NAZIS

Take Action Immediately, Paper Pleads.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, April 12, Saturday (AP).—As the Turkish government pressed its program today to evacuate civilians from this city and the rest of European Turkey, the newspaper Yeni Sabah pleaded editorially for the United States and soviet Russia to intervene and prevent Germany from completely dominating Europe.

"Soviet Russia cannot remain disinterested or inactive much longer regardless of how much she wishes to do so," the newspaper said. "Russia and America must combine their great forces immediately, actively."

"Necessary Precaution."

National Defense Minister Jaffet Arikan arrived here and conferred with military and civil authorities. Further air raid drills were ordered for the Istanbul region.

Newspapers stressed that the evacuation program did not mean Turkey was entering the war, but that it was a necessary precaution. The government was busy registering those who wish to leave the city, issuing 15,000 tickets on Thursday.

"The awful results in Jugo-Slavia showed us once more the folly of hiding danger from the public," the newspaper Vakit said. "To keep peace is not in Turkey's hand alone."

Diplomatic quarters yesterday said Germany's ambassador, Franz von Papen, had assured Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu that Germany had no aggressive attentions toward Turkey.

Hear State of Siege Declared.

LONDON, April 11 (AP).—An Exchange Telegraph agency dispatch tonight quoted the Turkish press as reporting a state of siege had been declared in Turkey and civilian evacuation of the Dardanelles ordered.

The newspaper Cumhuriyet was quoted as saying that Turkey had not yet ordered any general mobilization. "Turkey has decided not to fight unless she is attacked," the paper added.

May Demand Troop Passage.

GENEVA, Switzerland, April 11 (AP).—The Berlin correspondent of the newspaper Tribune de Geneve reported today that it was believed Germany would demand from Ankara, "henceforth isolated," the right of passage across Turkey to gain the Mosul oil fields and move toward Syria and the Suez canal. The newspaper said the campaign would be rapid because the Germans would need to cross Anatolia before the rainy season begins next month.

Germans Forbid Foreigners to Leave Occupied France

VICHY, France, April 11 (AP).—Travelers from Paris reported today that the Germans are refusing permission to all foreigners to leave the occupied zone of France. More than 1,000 Americans are estimated to be in the zone.

GERMANS BLAST BRITISH TOWN IN WORST ATTACK

Damage Severe; Planes Battle in Clouds.

A SOUTHWEST ENGLAND TOWN, April 12, Saturday (AP).—The worst German air attack ever launched on this town was carried out last night and early today by raiders who dared British ground defenses and night fighters to drop bombs. Numerous casualties were feared.

[Berlin reported Nazi bombers concentrated heavy night attacks on Portsmouth and other unidentified central and southern English cities last night. Armament plants and port facilities along the Bristol channel also were effectively bombed.]

So many planes penetrated the town's defenses, witnesses said, that they made a continuous drone overhead during the raid. Damage in some areas was described as "severe."

The antiaircraft fire was described as the "heaviest here yet" but there were no reports of any German planes downed. Raiders and night fighters battled in the clouds.

One Force Turned Away.

Another strong force of German bombers earlier had been turned away from a west of England town during an attack in the light of a full moon by a heavy antiaircraft barrage. Some of the planes, however, were able to drop explosives in several outlying districts.

Two German raiders were shot down, bringing to 40 the number destroyed by night fighters and antiaircraft guns since Monday.

Britain's reinforced bombing squadrons struck again at Germany's bases for the battle of the Atlantic, probably damaging the raiding battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau with armor-piercing explosives at Brest, France, and burning out hangars at the long range bomber station near Bordeaux.

Another raiding force was reported to have wrecked a section of Duesseldorf's industrial district in the Rhineland overnight.

Raid Brest 52 Times.

It was the 52d attack on Brest and the fifth since March 30 when the British first reported the warships tied up there after a convoy smashing raid in the western Atlantic. Following a raid on April 4 pilots said they believed they had damaged at least one of the ships.

Offensive patrols over the channel and French coast also were carried out in daylight with one German fighter destroyed and one British plane missing.

Sink 27,000 Tons of Ships.

BERLIN, April 12, Saturday (AP).—The German air force sank 27,000 tons and heavily damaged 33,000 tons of enemy shipping near England and Greece Thursday night and Friday, it was authoritatively reported today.

The toll included sinking of four ships totaling 14,000 tons from a convoy off southwest England. A 10,000 ton vessel, hit south of Pembroke, was reported in sinking condition.

Some of the damaged ships were reported struck in a renewed attack on Salamis roadstead [Piraeus, port of Athens] where at least one 3,000 ton ship was believed sunk.

GUNMEN SEIZE $400, MISS $800.

Two gunmen yesterday took about $400 from a furniture store at 2046 North avenue, after cutting telephone wires on the switchboard and herding four employes into a rear room. The bandits ransacked the safe but missed $800 in an envelope.

PRESIDENT SETS UP NEW AGENCY TO RULE PRICES

Civilian Supply Also to Be Controled.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 11.—In a move to tighten control over industry and prices, President Roosevelt today established an Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply under the direction of Leon Henderson, one of the leading lights in the New Deal inner circle.

The order setting up the agency also placed under Henderson the national defense advisory commission's consumers' division, which has been under the direction of Miss Harriet Elliott, a women's college dean.

Mr. Roosevelt's action, by executive order, establishes Henderson as a price czar, similar to the spot he occupied during the NRA era, with authority delegated by the President to crack down on price increases. Henderson recently gave his approval, however, to the new farm plan for boosting and fixing prices of farm commodities.

Key Holding Agency.

The new agency is part of the Office for Emergency Management [OEM], which is the key holding company and directly beneath the President in the vast network of agencies directing the armament program. Backing its activities will be the authority of the President to commandeer any plants or facilities deemed necessary for the program of financing and aiding the British war cause. Henderson will also have authority to call price boosters on the carpet and hold hearings on price increases.

The Presidential order said that the new agency is "for the purpose of avoiding profiteering and unwarranted price raises, and of facilitating adequate supply and the equitable distribution of materials and commodities."

Objectives Set Forth.

The President directed the administrator to "take all lawful steps necessary or appropriate" in order:

1. To prevent price spiraling, rising cost of living, profiteering, and inflation resulting from market conditions caused by diversion of large segments of the nation's resources to the armament program.

2. To prevent speculative accumulation, withholding and hoarding of materials and commodities.

3. To stimulate provision of the necessary supply of materials and commodities required for civilian use, in such manner as not to conflict with armament requirements of this and foreign governments.

4. After the satisfaction of military armament needs, to provide for equitable distribution of the residual supply of such materials and commodities among competing civilian demands.

Altho the new agency will endeavor to prevent price rises in commodities for civilian needs, it was said in authoritative quarters that no immediate action was contemplated in such fields as food and clothing.

Heads of Eight Agencies.

The proclamation sets up a price administration committee, composed of the heads of eight government agencies, which apparently forms the nucleus of the actual working group. This committee, composed of Henderson, the secretary of the treasury, the secretary of agriculture, federal loan administrator, the chairmen of the tariff and the trade commissions, and the director general and associate director general of the Office of Production Management, is empowered to make the recommendations for establishment of maximum prices and other elements of cost or price of materials or commodities.

Other sections of the proclamation provide for studies of civilian requirements for materials and commodities, the impact of the armament program on living standards and to advise on the necessity for additional legislation may be necessary.

Threatens Cadmium Dealers.

Shortly after acquiring his new title, Price Administrator Henderson threatened to take action against cadmium dealers, who, he said, have "profiteered ruthlessly" in the metal markets.

Cadmium is a by-product of zinc and lead and is used for electroplating, as an alloy of copper in telegraphic, telephonic and power transmission wire, and in automobile bearings.

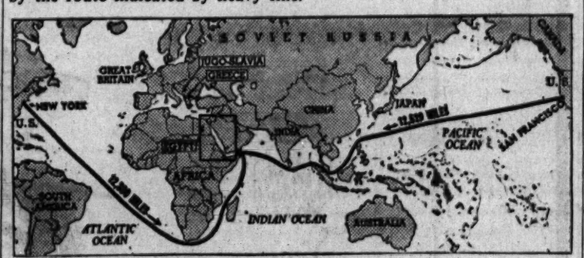
Henderson said that cadmium is being sold by some dealers at prices 100 per cent above smelters' quoted prices, which are 12 to 15 per cent above a year ago. Unless these prices return quickly to a reasonable level drastic action will be taken, including possible elimination of dealers from the market, Henderson declared.

The new administrator has been directing price stabilization for the national defense commission and is a member of the Securities and Exchange commission, which position he is expected to retain.

American Route to Suez Opened

(Story in adjoining column.)

With the Gulf of Aden and the Red sea reopened to American shipping by the President's proclamation yesterday, it now is possible for ships from the United States to deliver war materials at the Suez canal by the route indicated by heavy line.



On this map of the world are shown the distances from New York and San Francisco, respectively, to the Suez canal. The rectangle locates the area included in the upper map.

ROOSEVELT WILL SEND U. S. SHIPS INTO THE RED SEA

Opens Route to War Zone by Lifting Own Ban.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 11.—President Roosevelt today opened a route for the United States to enter the war zone in issuing a proclamation reopening the Red sea and Gulf of Aden. He also issued a proclamation recognizing the existence of a state of war between Jugo-Slavia and Germany and Italy.

American merchantmen will be permitted to enter the sea whose waters were rolled back to enable the Israelites, led by Moses, to escape pursuing Egyptians. They may carry arms and munitions and supplies thru a portion of the Suez canal to the port of Ismailia in technically neutral Egypt. There they may be transferred to the British, who are using Egypt as a base for operations in Africa and the Balkans.

Dodges Some Questions.

Mr. Roosevelt sidestepped questions seeking to determine whether American ships would be allowed to proceed as far as Port Said, at the Mediterranean end of the canal. The Mediterranean lies within the war zone from which American shipping is barred.

The President's action has been expected daily for the last week as the British were pushing against Massaua, Eritrea, the last Italian stronghold on the Red sea. The city fell on Tuesday. More than a month ago the American plan to reopen the Red sea was common gossip in Port Said.

Port Said is reported to believe that the United States will enter the war by sending an expeditionary force thru the Red sea and the Suez canal, then operate from bases in North Africa thru the Balkans and thru Italy or unoccupied France.

Balkan Picture Changed.

With Jugo-Slavia and Greece already invaded by Nazi troops, the Balkan road to Germany is not as open as a month ago. However, even the fall of these countries would not prevent the use of northern Africa for bases of operations against the axis powers.

The army and navy high commands refused to confirm reports that any American expedition to northern Africa is under consideration. However, a number of officers expressed the private opinion that reopening of the Red sea to American shipping may lead to this country's entry into the war.

The officers feel that Hitler's next objective after the occupation of Jugo-Slavia and Greece will be the Suez canal. If American ships are in any part of the canal or adjacent waters which Germany should hold to be in the war zone, they may suffer destruction or damage which might set forth grounds for entry into the conflict.

If the Nazis are successful in a Suez campaign, military experts here feel, Germany will then turn loose a furious air attack on Britain, in the hope that that nation will be induced to sue for peace before American production begins rolling. It is felt that Hitler might even make an invasion attempt if he feels such a move is necessary to accomplish that end.

The opening of the Red sea was accomplished by merely revoking the combat zone designation of June 11, 1940, which made a narrow strip of sea from Italian Somaliland on the northeast African coast to the Aden protectorate on the southern Arabian coast a prohibited area. The Red sea itself was not proscribed water, but the narrow zone effectively blocked American shipping from entering that sea.

A Railroad Link.

Mr. Roosevelt dismissed as not pertinent questions as to whether Port Said on the Mediterranean would be open to American shipping. He said American vessels now can go to Ismailia, under his proclamation, and deliver supplies by rail to Port Said.

The British army operating in Africa and the Balkans was sent around Africa and from Australia for the campaign against Ethiopia and thru the canal for the Libyan and Balkan campaigns. These troops arrived as a surprise to the Italians, who had been expecting troop movements thru the Mediterranean.

The surprise was carried out at the expense of tying up a large number of ships as transports and supply ships for the expeditions. The enormous number of ships used in these operations contributed to the acute shortage of ships which Britain is suffering.

ILLINOIS SOLDIERS AT FORREST TO ATTEND EASTER DAY SERVICE

Camp Forrest, Tenn., April 11 [Special.—More than 3,000 Catholic soldiers of the Illinois National Guard, 33d division, now in federal service here, will attend an open air Easter mass in camp shortly after dawn Sunday. The mass will be conducted by Lieut. Col. A. L. Girard of Chicago, Catholic chaplain of the division.

Protestant regimental chaplains, acting in the absence of Lieut. Col. Arthur F. Ewert, chief Protestant chaplain, have arranged 16 regimental services for Sunday. Today they conducted five Good Friday services.

Jewish members of the division were granted leave from noon today until midnight Sunday to observe the Passover holiday. Twenty-nine Jewish soldiers left shortly after lunch for their homes in Chicago while 256 others were to go to Nashville to attend services in several synagogues.

Easter Service to Be Held at Ft. Sheridan Tomorrow

The entire personnel of Fort Sheridan will attend a nondenominational Easter service on the post parade grounds at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow. The service, termed "a patriotic assembly," will be conducted by Ira M. Williams, fort chaplain, assisted by five other army chaplains of Catholic and Protestant faith. It will be open to the public.

BERLIN OPENS UP TRADE LANE WITH OCCUPIED LANDS

May Be Forerunner of Customs Union.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, April 11.—Political economists foresaw the laying of a possible groundwork of a continental European customs union in the announcement today that henceforth no French governmental authorization would be required for the passage of merchandise between occupied France and Belgium, Holland, and Germany. Such merchandise will be subject only to customs examination.

The new arrangement does not apply to the unoccupied zone and there was some speculation as to whether it might accentuate the division between the two zones. A certain amount of merchandise goes from this side of the line into the occupied zone, but practically nothing except food supplies and household goods comes back.

Far Reaching Results.

Observers believed, however, that the new facilitation of merchandise exchange between Germany and the three occupied countries might have far reaching results on the economic collaboration which is the Petain government's announced policy.

Impetus has been given to collaboration activities by the smashing success of German military operations in the Balkans.

Paris newspapers reaching here declare that the collaboration policy must immediately be given effect and they affirm that the more successful the Germans are, the less favorable will be the terms which France can get. Therefore, time is pressing.

Plan an Exposition.

What is known as the French European Exposition will be opened in Paris June 1. Its aim will be to show to the French the advantage of orienting their economic policy not only with that of the reich but also other European states.

The exposition will be largely documentary.

Unemployment is being reduced. The latest figures show that all of France has only 530,000 unemployed.

Newspaper reports say that the town of Amiens, which was heavily damaged in the battle of France, already has been restored, with most of the population of 100,000 returned and many factories rehabilitated and work going on as usual, with only 600 unemployed.

Certain dissident elements, especially among the young on both sides of the line, seem to be worrying the government and today Chief of State Marshal Petain issued another appeal and a warning against activities which he said are threatening to undermine the national unity.

Added Burdens for French.

The marshal's statement was issued to make it clear that activities of Gen. Charles de Gaulle's "Free French" agitators against the German occupying authorities would only increase the burdens of the country.

It was indicated that, activated by radio propaganda from foreign sources and also by clandestine agents, both in the free and occupied zones, many persons are trying to leave the country. Every day, said the statement, young men try to embark from Normandy and Brittany for English ports. French consuls in Spain also are daily called on to succor young men who arrived there worn with fatigue and hunger. Presumably they left France to join armed forces against Germany.

From now on no passport will be issued to any Frenchman between the ages of 17 to 40.

Trouble for Petain.

Petain's statement said that young men made discontented by the radio and secret agents were causing him much trouble.

Large numbers have been arrested in the occupied zones for agitation and the government on many occasions has intervened with German authorities to obtain grace for them.

The marshal personally saved several from a firing squad.

9 HOLDUP MEN SEIZE $689.

Two robbers invaded the Service Cake company, 834 North Western avenue, yesterday and stole $689 from the owner, Jack Silverstein.

FORT CUSTER UNITS GOING TO WISCONSIN FOR FIRING PRACTICE

Fort Custer, Mich., April 11 [Special].—Heavy weapons, companies of 10th infantry and the 46th field artillery battalion, Lieut. Col. Douglas Crane, commanding, leave Fort Custer tomorrow for Camp McCoy to engage in 12 days target practice, stopping Sunday night at Camp Grant. Heavy weapons companies of 2d infantry and 50th field artillery battalion, Maj. M. Milton Potter, commanding, are expected to return to Custer late tomorrow from McCoy.

Seventy-eight additional half-ton weapon carriers will be distributed to the 2d, 10th, and 11th infantry regiments of the 5th division, Maj. Lester F. Watson, division motor transport officer, announced today. Sixty additional two and one-half ton short wheel base trucks will be also delivered to the division this week.

Two hundred and fifty additional draftees were to arrive today from Fort Sheridan reception center for assignment to the 10th infantry. They are part of a group of 1,100 scheduled to arrive in installments by the end of next week. Last night 801 draftees arrived from Camp Grant.

1 Case of Measles Keeps 45 Draftees from Camp

Hattiesburg, Miss., April 11 [Special].—Movement of 45 draftees from Camp Grant, Ill., to Camp Shelby, near Hattiesburg, has been delayed because of one case of measles in the 135th medical regiment [Wisconsin] to which the selectees have been assigned. Capt. James H. Mackin, regimental adjutant, said Friday afternoon that the regiment must observe an isolation period of 14 days starting from last Sunday. The draftees will be brought to Camp Shelby after the isolation period has expired provided new cases of measles do not develop.

FORD TO REOPEN MONDAY; ARMS TO BE SPEEDED

Company Wins Delay in CIO Case Hearing.

the governor, federal labor Conciliator James F. Dewey, and Ford and UAW officials. Other grievance machinery for settlement of disputes in the plant will continue.

Following today's settlement Ford company lawyers went before federal Judge Arthur J. Tuttle and obtained dismissal of the Ford suit to restrain CIO violence at the plant. The communist party was not one of the defendants in the action.

Judge Tuttle, who had issued a temporary restraining order on April 3, had heard evidence this week of communist domination of the striking union and accounts of CIO sabotage and violence.

Union lawyers asked today that testimony pertaining to the communists be stricken from the record. The judge refused. Earlier this week he had ordered a transcript of the testimony sent to United States District Attorney John C. Lehr.

"Our prayers for peace have been answered because there was a will for peace," Gov. Van Wagoner said in announcing the settlement.

Ends on Ford's Birthday.

Capizzi, the Ford attorney, said that the company is glad its employés and their families will no longer suffer loss of pay checks. Their wage loss had amounted to $900,000 a day during the strike. He added that it is fitting the strike should end today, which is Henry Ford's 53d wedding anniversary. Ford is 78 years old.

R. J. Thomas, national president of the UAW, and other CIO leaders were jubilant at what they considered a victory over Ford, and were confident the UAW would be selected as the employés' bargaining agent.

The American Federation of Labor, however, asserts that its local union will win the plant election.

"The CIO-UAW's defeat in its unholy efforts to extort a contract from the company in advance of the NLRB election," said John J. Murphy, director of the AFL's organizing committee, "and despite the fact the CIO-UAW merely represents an infinitesimal minority of Ford workers, will serve as a terrific boomerang."

On April 1, gangs of CIO men rioted thru the River Rouge plant and early the next morning they called a strike.

Fracas Causes Contempt Charge

Deputy Sheriff Albert Finkler (right) served on Valentine P. Feth (left) yesterday an attachment for unpaid alimony alleged to be due to Mrs. Sophie Feth (center).

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

DEPUTY BEATEN AFTER ARREST OF ALIMONY DODGER

Court Hears of Fracas at Hearing.

All the dire things that happened to Deputy Sheriff Albert P. Finkler after he served an attachment for unpaid alimony on Valentine P. Feth of 4815 Grace street late Thursday were related yesterday at a contempt hearing in the Circuit court of Judge Cornelius J. Harrington.

He said that after he had served his writ, and Valentine had been taken away by a police squad, he was set upon by one woman and three men sympathizers of Feth; that his pistol was taken from him and he was then beaten and kicked.

All in Same Household.

The alleged attackers, all arraigned before Judge Harrington on charges of contempt, are: Mrs. Katherine Ebert, 40 years old, a sister of Feth; her husband, Carl Sr., 42; their son, Carl Jr., 17, and Feth's brother, Edward, 40, all members of the same household.

"First Mrs. Ebert reached into my car and slapped me," said Finkler. "Then the men joined in and slugged me after taking the pistol. I arrested Edward Feth, but the others got away."

Judge Harrington refused to hear the story of the Eberts and Feth, and ordered that they file a formal answer to the charge of contempt before Wednesday, when a hearing will be held.

Put Under Peace Bond.

Attorney James Todd, for the sheriff, told the court that Mrs. Ebert had been put under a peace bond several weeks ago after Mrs. Sophie Feth of 1503 North Kostner avenue, estranged wife of Valentine, complained of Mrs. Ebert throwing rocks thru her windows.

Court records show that Feth, a milkman, was $1,200 in arrears of alimony, at the rate of $20 a week. Judge Harrington, who said he had been treated leniently, ordered Feth to alimony row in the county jail for six months.

WARN OF STRIKES IN ALUMINUM AND GENERAL MOTORS

Dies Charges Reds Seek to Wreck Rearming.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 11.—Washington officials were advised today of threatened strikes in the aluminum industry and in 36 plants of the General Motors corporation. If carried out they would have a crippling effect upon the whole 40 billion dollar armament program.

Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.] announced that his committee on un-American activities has received evidence showing "that the communist party, during the next few days, will bend every effort toward bringing about a general strike in the aluminum industry." A stoppage in the production of aluminum would shut down aircraft production.

The General Motors corporation, in a telegram sent to the conciliation service of the labor department and labor division of the Office of Production Management, appealed for federal action to avert a strike threatened by the CIO United Auto Workers union in 36 of its plants unless the union's demands are met in a new agreement by April 20. The present agreement will expire on that date. The union is said to be demanding a closed shop.

Report Fantastic Demands.

The existing agreement between the Aluminum Workers of America, another CIO union, and the Aluminum Company of America, which has plants in various states, also expires on April 20 and the union is said to be making fantastic demands for a new agreement.

Chairman Dies named "four leading members of the communist party in Ohio" as the instigators of a threatened strike to tie up the aluminum industry. He identified them as:

"Kenneth Eggert—Eggert was sent to California recently to run the strike at the Harvill Die Casting corporation. Several years ago the communist party sent Eggert to Moscow to study at the Lenin school.

"Alex Balint—Balint was formerly connected with the Steel Workers' Organizing committee. He has been a member of the communist party for years.

"Vincent Favorito—Favorito has been identified as a member of the communist party in sworn testimony before our committee.

Reopens Administration Fight.

Dies' statement renewed the controversy between the Roosevelt administration and members of congress regarding the extent of communist and other subversive influences in labor disturbances. Before the house military affairs committee earlier this week Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, William H. Davis, vice chairman of the new national mediation board, and Sidney Hillman, associate director general and labor director of the OPM, insisted first that strikes are not caused by communists and second that it is not their responsibility to inquire into the "philosophy" of strike leaders.

Unconvinced, the military affairs committee voted to call J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, to find out what he knows about subversive influences in arms industries. Backed by President Roosevelt and Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, however, Hoover informed the committee today of his refusal to testify.

Hoover Explains Decision.

Hoover's letter to the committee took refuge in the "policy that the confidential character of the work of the bureau as an aid to the prosecuting arm of the government should be protected." Any disclosure of the bureau's work, other than thru court action, the letter said, would be "fatal to the future usefulness of the federal bureau of investigation."

Meanwhile the CIO Steel Workers' Organizing committee presented formal demands to the Bethlehem Steel corporation for a 10 cent hourly wage increase for about 100,000 workers in Pennsylvania, New York, Maryland, and on the west coast. The demands served on Bethlehem came two weeks after a riotous, four day work stoppage at the parent plant in Bethlehem, Pa.

Save Our Republic

THE UNITED STATES MOVES INTO GREENLAND.

President Roosevelt has given Greenland the protection of the United States under an agreement signed with Henrik de Kauffmann, the Danish minister to this country, who is recognized as the representative of a government which in reality is under Nazi coercion. The Danish minister recognizes himself as the free agent of a free country, altho his king and his government are forced to act as puppets under Berlin management. There is no present escape for Denmark. The future may contain a restoration of independence.

Whatever may be the outcome as to that, the occupation of this outpost in the western hemisphere by American forces becomes a reality with a semblance of treaty arrangement, however slight the authority for it may seem at present. It is the fact itself with which we are concerned. Another base regarded as essential for the protection of territory in the Americas will be occupied as soon as the war department has sent the troops there to build air fields and fortifications. The world war has persuaded our government to do what it was reluctant to attempt by negotiation in time of peace.

As an offset to the many disadvantages the conflict abroad has imposed upon the American people and the injuries and perils it may yet inflict upon them, there is this extention of the United States hegemony to territory required for the defense not only of this country but of the other lands in the western hemisphere, where the desire to remain at peace has been so contrasted with the European-Asiatic fatalistic subjection to war.

There should be no American disagreement with the administration's policy of taking possession where bases are needed if North and South America are to be guarded against ambitious and aggressive rulers who, from time to time, may seize power and control the destinies of peoples capable under coercion of exerting tremendous military force.

It is not uncomplimentary to the other nations of the western world to say that the chief reliance of them all must be based upon the great resources of the most populous and most highly industrialized and wealthiest of the American nations. Western defense will be undertaken in cooperation with the neighbors of the United States, but none other could assume the responsibility of guarding the portals. So there should be and probably will not be any objection to the garrisoning which sends the troops, planes, and warships of the United States into far waters and new lands.

We should be glad also to see the Azores occupied. Any base the possession of which by the United States can guarantee the peace of this hemisphere should be occupied and fortified by the country which will assume the main responsibility of seeing that no invader gets a foothold in any western land that can be defended.

The obligation to defend the Americas implies the hegemony of the United States in the region to be defended. There is no inherent offensiveness in such an inference. There need be no impairment of national dignity in the recognition of it. If another country had the resources of the United States and the United States were one of the smaller nations, we would accept the facts as they were. That is to be expected in the situation as it exists.

There is an understanding, good enough for the time being, that the occupation of these bases is of limited tenure, but such understanding will yield to the actual requirements. The probability is that the American flag will remain wherever it is now raised.

The world across the waters will not change its nature if it follows the course of all its known history. Optimism may expect it to do so but that optimism rests upon no experience and upon no deed or act. A hundred years from now, so far as we are justified in believing, people will be observing the same phenomena that now horrify sane people. The Americas have been in large part immune from this plague and sensibly they propose to remain immune if it is within their power to do so. The new territories, therefore, should and will be ours forever and that will make it easier for the Americas to separate the destinies of peace-loving people from the eternal quarrels of Europe and Asia.

Life in the western hemisphere will be happier and the welfare of all its people better secured if it is the destiny of the United States to have hegemony here rather than to find its fate in subordination to the endless wars of other countries.

ENGINEERS IN A WORLD THEY MADE.

President Henry T. Heald of Illinois Institute of Technology said at a recent luncheon that while American industry will need nearly 50,000 engineering graduates in the next year, the engineering colleges of the country will graduate only 12,000 students.

The disproportion of demand and supply, it is to be judged from President Heald's remarks, is somewhat greater at the moment than over a run of years because of the demands of the defense program, but his report serves to emphasize the predominance of the engineer and technician in the modern world. That world is largely of their building, and yet the average graduate of a college course in engineering is less well prepared to understand it than almost any of his baccalaureate comrades.

This, of course, may be only the voice of jealousy speaking. The typewriter pounders, brief writers, ledger keepers, and all of the other people who live in a world of paper, books, and ideas are the real illiterates today. They live in a world of technology, yet for the most part they have but the faintest idea of how the machines that serve them work.

Yet the machines are made, run, sold, and on occasion destroyed by people, and there are a great many experiences, actions, and aspirations of the human race that cannot be measured or explained by logarithms or the calculus. It is here that the collegiate training of engineers leaves its blind spot, in the almost total elimination of nontechnical subjects from the curriculum.

The trouble lies in the fact that the sum of the world's technical and scientific knowledge has so expanded in the present century that it is impossible to crowd more than a smattering of it into four years of study. As an example medical training, counting the premedical course and internship, now takes nine or ten years.

The engineering colleges have generally stuck to the four-year course, and have been enabled to do so only by greatly subdividing the fields in which they give instruction. The specialization has got almost to the point where a superbly trained electrical engineer can't adjust the draft on the coal stoker in his home, a mechanical engineer able to figure combustion problems down to five decimal places can't fix the motor in his wife's vacuum cleaner, and both are as innocent of poetry and political science as on the day they left high school.

The engineering student is already the hardest worked undergraduate on any university campus. If he is to get any respectable degree of instruction in the liberal arts and sciences it is obvious that he will have either to study less technical courses or to spend more years at college. The latter course has been suggested. An objection to it is the increased expense, in time and money, to the student.

When he took office as president of the University of Illinois, Dr. A. C. Willard, a distinguished mechanical engineer, made some critical remarks on empirical courses of instruction. College trained newspapermen, who as a class are dubious of the value of most courses in journalism, would indorse Dr. Willard's suspicions so far as they apply to preparation for their profession. It is possible that practicing engineers can point out a number of soft spots in the engineering curriculum, in which time is being spent on empirical instruction that might better be had when the engineer goes to work.

WESTERN REPUBLICANS.

A meeting of Republican national committeemen and committeewomen from 15 states will be held in Chicago on April 26. The invitations were sent by Mr. Werner Schroeder, committeeman from Illinois, with the approval of the national chairman, Joseph W. Martin Jr.

Two southwestern states, New Mexico and Arizona, are to send their Republican leaders. Others will come from the border states of Kentucky and Missouri and from Arkansas. The rest will be middle westerners from Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, and the Dakotas.

The importance of this gathering is not likely to be exaggerated. It will bring together the spokesmen for the Republican party from the area where the organization is most virile and has shown its greatest strength in recent elections.

Many of the Republican leaders of the seaboard states are unable to make up their minds about the party's position with reference to the war. Some of them have, in effect, indorsed the Roosevelt program. Others have feared to oppose it openly. The overwhelming majority of the American people is against participation in the war, but the Republican party at present, except in the middle west, is not taking advantage of its opportunity to express the majority view.

The Republican party in the middle west has made great forward strides, as the November election showed. Here, where the candidates were outspokenly opposed to war, the party was successful. In Illinois, for example, Mr. Brooks was elected to the senate in the same election in which Mr. Willkie was unable to gain the state's electoral vote. While Mr. Willkie was trying to be for and against war at the same time, Mr. Brooks' position was always clear and unambiguous.

Thru its western leaders, filled as they now are with hope and confidence, the Republican party can be revived. If the party has any future it will spring from the enthusiasm and the vigorous nationalism of the middle west. The astonishing growth of the America First movement and the strength it has drawn from Democrats as well as Republicans is an indication of what can be expected if the party takes a firm stand.

By this time it ought to be clear to every one that Republicans cannot win by indorsing Democratic foreign and domestic policies with minor reservations. The westerners know that. It is to be hoped and expected that the gathering here at the end of the month will mark the beginning of a movement to revitalize the party in other sections. The westerners with the prestige of victory on their side should prepare to make their influence felt thruout all sections of the country and especially in the east.

Editorial of the Day

THREAT TO RIVER TRANSPORT.

[Kansas City Star.]

There is good reason for the alarm of the proponents of Missouri river navigation over the allocation of a growing amount of water to irrigation projects up the river and its tributaries.

W. I. Drummond, director of the Missouri river division of the Mississippi Valley association, has figured that irrigation projects—sponsored, financed and developed by federal agencies—are likely to nullify the value of the 90 million dollars spent in making the river channel navigable and the 114 million dollars spent on the giant Fort Peck dam to build up a head of water for the maintenance of the channel.

If the government had planned to divert the water of the Missouri, Yellowstone, Milk, Sun, Republican, Platte, and other rivers for irrigation, what was the necessity of spending 90 million dollars on a channel and 114 million dollars on a dam?

The Fort Peck dam and the army engineers' admirable work on the river between St. Louis and Sioux City have together raised the hopes of this region that cheap water transportation could be made practicable, to put inland cities in a more favorable position with regard to tidewater ports. At present the interior is being slowly strangled by the coastal area because of transportation costs.

But navigation cannot be maintained in the Missouri unless there is water to maintain it. If that water is to be drained off for irrigation purposes, the taxpayers of the nation and the people of the middle west have been badly defrauded. As Mr. Drummond shows, expansion of the irrigation program must be brought to a stop somewhere. It is high time for a thoro investigation of the matter by congress.

EASTER WIND.

O Easter wind, are you the same
Whose breezes, gently whispering psalms,
Accompanied Christ into the town
Jerusalem, adorned with palms?

O Easter wind, it was long ago,
And you were hushed and still with fright,
When Jesus called to God, who spoke
With voice of thunder in the night,
And said His name was glorified.
Then several days went by, and you,
O Easter wind, were blowing cold
When Judas came with kiss untrue
To Jesus in the garden there.

O Easter wind, no warmth you sent
When Peter stood near Pilate's door
And said, "I know him not," and went.

But in the garden, sweet at dawn
When angels rolled away the stone,
Your touch was soft, O Easter wind,
For Christ had risen to God's throne.

A Secret of the Barnyard Hen.

Speaking of early robins with yellow bills [April 8]:

Are you sure that only the males have yellow bills at this time of year? This may be true of the females until they start laying.

The domestic hen shows greater pigmentation in bill, ear lobes, and legs when not in egg production. As laying continues the yellow bill slowly turns dark. A good poultry farmer can tell if a hen is in production, and whether she is "coming in" or "going out," by inspecting her bill. When a hen has been in production for six weeks, no trace of yellow can be found on her bill.

Required Reading for Sports Department.

Suppose the baseball player Chapman hit a home run which went exactly over the foul line marker, and there was so much controversy over it that the matter had to be submitted to the high commissioner of baseball, Judge Landis. Do you think he would entitle his preliminary report "on first looking into Chapman's homer"?

Those Grunts for "Yes" and "No."

Some 30 years ago Dr. Potter of the University of Iowa opened a conversation at dinner with this question, "What did your family say for 'yes' and 'no'?"

My answers both began with "m," and it seems to me that those beginning with "u" are relatively modern. The "m" grunts were what Dr. Potter [an authority in the classics] wanted, for he was tracing them back to Greek sounds or words.

He went on with "What did you call your father and mother?"

"Papa" and "mamma" were the answers he wanted, for they were derived from the Greek, too, he said.

DO YOUR CHILDREN BELIEVE IN YOU?

WHILE considerable emphasis has been placed upon the problem child, the light of day needs to be turned upon problem parents. Undoubtedly there are some who are indifferent—who are more interested in their own affairs than in the welfare of their offspring.

A son or daughter who thinks that he is not wanted has a hard row to hoe. Fundamentally, every tot must possess a consciousness of security and affection. The household may be poor and many material things may be lacking. But if they know that everything possible is being done for their benefit, the spirit of sacrifice will be enduring because it will be deeply grounded.

I wonder if some of us haven't forgotten the meaning of the word "home"? It is a place where character is molded by example and where the rising generation feels comfortable. Even tho complete happiness is denied them, they enjoy a sense of unity that is priceless. There, too, education—begun in the schools—is enriched and redigested so that it may be applied in a practical way. The duties and responsibilities of adult life can be discussed at the proper time. This implies a gradual weaning away from dependency—a recognition of the fact that youthhood will merge into manhood and womanhood and that shelter under the family roof will not last forever.

Unfortunately, there are some who fail to acquire independence. They never learn to form judgments of their own and to stand or fall on their own decisions. We have all seen examples of 60 year old children leaning upon some one else.

But, you ask, how can we parents help? First of all, let us make the youngster feel his importance. Neglect, after a while, leads to an abiding conviction that father and mother mean but little. Long before his years justify the opinion, junior may conclude that they are relatively nonessential. In other words, he devaluates them and, in self-defense, begins to set up standards and heroes of his own. Some of the latter may be lawbreakers; dispensers of pernicious doctrines.

Our most glaring social misfortune—particularly if there are progeny—is a broken home. But, you say—and truly—many youngsters have survived such conditions. By far the greater number, however, will exhibit nervous ailments, unstable emotional reactions—all because loyalty to one or both parents has waned or perhaps disappeared. Two of the most forlorn lads of my acquaintance oscillate between the divorced mates—who live in widely separated communities.

Out of a hundred individuals qualified for marriage, how many can be certified as 100 per cent fitted for parenthood? I would have every young man and woman apply a measuring stick to the prospective spouse. "Do I want him to father my children?" is a timely query.

We have a right to expect, despite the earthquake thru which civilization is passing, that community and personal ideals shall be kept high. Boys and girls are not the property of the state, to be herded into groups, given a certain amount of training, and then used as pawns in the game of international politics. They are the preservers of our national life—the custodians of clean blood, which they will pass on to succeeding generations. They will do this only if pollution is kept out.

Fathers and mothers must be self-sacrificing, forward looking, and strong in purpose; eager to devote themselves to the job of developing minds in the making.

INGROWN WHISKERS.

T. C. writes: I am bothered with ingrown hairs on the face. What treatment is suggested?

REPLY.

This condition may arise following close shaving. The cause is healing of the irritated skin before the hair has pushed thru. Wash the face thoroly with soap and water, and apply a hot towel for a minute or two. Use a sharp blade. Once over is enough. If a pustule forms, the hair can be seen and extracted when rupture occurs. Never squeeze one of these blemishes.

LEECHES ARE "OUT."

F. I. B. writes: What is your opinion of bleeding by leeches in phlebitis?

REPLY.

Rarely necessary. Furthermore, they are filthy "critters." There are more effective methods of relieving congestion.

CRAZY WAR.

Chicago, April 10.—What a crazy war this has turned out to be. Germany, a dictator nation, is winning battles because she follows a democratic idea of allowing her individual soldiers and small mechanized forces freedom of action during the campaign. The democratic nations regiment all their soldiers into huge sheeplike groups under a few conservative generals, thus losing every battle.

CHARLES BOSS.

STATE CIVIL SERVICE TRIALS.

Chicago, April 9.—Your editorial, "The Civil Service," on April 6, 1941, misapprehended the present state civil service act.

The editorial refers to the fact that ". . . the tenure of employés has not been protected. They can be fired without trial on the flimsiest pretext and, after they are out, have to petition the state civil service commission for a hearing and reinstatement. . . ."

House bill 268, passed by the 61st general assembly, amended section 12 of the state civil service act governing removals in that it restored the trial features and provides that state civil service employés are entitled to a hearing on charges, which charges must be based on just cause for removal, before they can be removed or discharged.

This association is in accord and deeply gratified on the stand taken by THE TRIBUNE in the editorial, in giving a square deal to honest and efficient civil service employés, so that Illinois may be given a decent and honest enforcement of the state civil service act which today is the strongest civil service act on the statute books.

HAROLD G. WILLATZ,
President Civil Service Protective association.

REFERENDUM ON WAR.

Chicago, April 9.—The people of the United States clearly want to stay out of the war. It is much more difficult to sway the opinions of 130 million Americans than to convince the majority in congress that war is necessary. This is especially true when the gentleman who is doing the persuading is handing out such juicy plums of patronage.

For this reason, since the plunging of the United States into the present war would result in disaster to our philosophy of government and the destruction of our economic system, I believe that the declaration of war is a power which should not be vested in the congress of the United States, but in the people thru referendum.

In these days of speedy communication there would be no more delay in reaching a decision thru such a process than there is in a congressional vote. And even if a vote in favor of war were recorded, the blame would be squarely on the shoulders of the people. Our lives should not be dependent on the whims of a man who was elected on a pledge to keep us out of war and who is steadily leading us in.

ROBERT JAMES.

SAFETY COURT.

Cicero, Ill., April 9.—Today's Safety court broadcast was a honey. The woman involved was guilty of reckless driving as attested to by the judge, state's attorney, defense attorney, and the defendant herself, and yet because she was English she was let off with a suspended fine of $1 and no costs.

On the verdict rendered I assume that had the girl been German she would have been hanged.

Any one wishing to create a new comic strip should visit the Safety court.

JOSEPH G. KROMER.

"MOTHER IS BROKEN HEARTED."

Chicago, April 5.—Most of us made a promise to the Rev. O'Brien after his magnificent speech last night to write and thank you for your loyal coöperation in the campaign to keep us out of war. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is the greatest crusader of all papers and please accept our humble, grateful thanks. No matter how much sorrow I have in my heart [I have a brother in training, and my mother is broken hearted; she lost two brothers in the last war] after I read THE TRIBUNE I feel like a different person.

MRS. J. A. ALBEL.

JIMMY DIDN'T GET IT.

Mason City, Ia., April 8.—"In 1932 I tried to insure Edsel Ford for $10,000,000." So wrote Jimmy Roosevelt in Collier's Weekly for August 20, 1938. Had Mr. Ford signed on the dotted line what would have happened? The answer might be found in a couple who did.

G. W. Hill of American Tobacco signed for $2,500,000 and became an exemplar in his field. Columbia Broadcasting company signed for $2,000,000 and became the model outfit of the air waves.

And so it seems reasonable to suppose had Edsel Ford signed his company would have been extoled, not persecuted. Ideal industrialists they would be, originators of high wages, low profits, and automobiles for the Sweeneys, not the Stuyvesants.

DISPOSITION OF ESTATE.

Peoria, Ill., March 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am the mother of two children and the owner of an equal amount of property as my husband. We have kept our farms in our own names [each having one] and have pooled the income and what savings we have. This has allowed us to live comfortably thus far, and the children have taken care of themselves for 10 or 15 years.

Now at this age, the changing conditions in inheritance taxes and laws make it difficult for us to know how to make a will so that our children may be able to realize the most on our and their grandparents' sacrifices for them, which our small accumulation now represents. We cannot spare this so long as we live and take care of ourselves.

1. I made a will some 10 years ago leaving all my property to our children, with my husband receiving the use of the income minus the taxes and upkeep—during his lifetime.

Some say this is too liberal, as he may marry a wife [2] who will outlive our children and keep them from ever having any benefit from my estate.

3. Of course, I should want to avoid this, but how? I realize that a clause in the will must cover questions of this sort as one cannot control such things after death. I wonder if your department can give me this information:

4. When parents deed property [a farm] to a child with the parents retaining a life interest, what per cent of the value of these farms is asked in inheritance tax and when is this tax levied and paid—at the time of making the deed, or [5] at the time of full possession?

If one parent is left with this life interest in an estate [6] does he or she have the estate [real and personal] in his or her possession and care, or [7] does it become a trust fund accountable from time to time to a lawyer or trustee, or must this care be specified fully in the will?

[8] What per cent of an estate may be asked by a trustee or trustees?

How do the duties of an [9] administrator and [10] executor differ?

After reading these questions please inform me [11] how much you will charge me for this information and whether you will be able to give it to me. R. D.

1. Your husband could renounce such a will and take instead his statutory share.
2. The long life of his wife would be 1 material on the wording above underlined.
3. The best way to make sure that your will carries out your intent is to employ an attorney in its drafting and execution.
4. If the parents die within 2 years the gift is presumed to have been made in contemplation of death and is therefore subject to inheritance tax. If the death is later, the presumption is the other way.
5. The tax would be assessed as of the time of the inheritance.
6. Yes. Unless the will contains wording to the contrary.
7. No. See 6.
8. Depends on the wording of the will and the extent and quality of the trustee's services.
9. He is a personal representative named by the court.
10. He is named in the will.
11. No charge.

DECEASED'S ESTATE.

Chicago, April 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I would appreciate it greatly if you would be kind enough to enlighten me on the following:

1. My younger brother, whom I helped to come to America and supported him when the necessity arose, met with a violent accidental death.

2. Before his case came up before the Probate court his wife died also [3] leaving no legal heirs.

4. Can I be classified as a legal heir to my brother's estate under the circumstances?

5. My brother and his wife had a house with a mortgage on same.

After the death of my brother [6] I paid on the mortgage, paid taxes, helped my brother's wife to defray all her expenses, and since she has no legal heir [7] can I be classified as the legal heir to the entire estate [8] or am I only entitled to the moneys I have paid out during their lifetime and afterward in their behalf? O. M.

1. If he left a will, its wording would control. We will assume that he did not leave a will and that there are no children. Your brother's estate would then be divided in accordance with Par. III. of attached mimeograph.
2. Her estate including what she had inherited from her husband would be controled by Par. VII.
3. It seems probable that her relatives can be found.
4. Yes, but not to his wife's estate.
5. Their interest subject to the mortgage is real estate and would descend as such. See mimeograph.
6. Your rights as to these payments would depend as to the understanding on which they were made. We advise you to have a personal interview with an attorney.
7. No.
8. See 6.

ALASKANS BLAME ICKES WOLF RULE FOR FUR LOSSES

Giant, Animals Thrive in National Parks.

[This is the seventh of a series of stories describing conditions which led the Alaskan legislature to urge President Roosevelt to oust Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes or transfer territorial supervision to another department.]

BY GEORGE TAGGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JUNEAU, Alaska, April 11.—Giant timber wolves thrive and Alaska's fur industry suffers under Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes' rule over the territory's 10,000 square miles of national parks. Altho the territory pays a bounty of $20 on wolves, Ickes does not permit even his agents to kill them in his vast reserved domain unless they are caught in the act of destroying other animals. There were 2,500 wolves and coyotes killed in Alaska last year, but not on Ickes' property.

The Alaska legislature, which recently demanded Ickes' ouster, has repeatedly petitioned him to do something to control the predatory beasts, but the national park bureau's policy of hiring wolf hunters is not applied here.

Funds for Control Wasted.

"Some $300,000 spent by the territory for predatory control is largely wasted because of Ickes' wolf heaven," said Charles Goldstein, a fur trader for 56 years.

"From my frequent travels by plane and dog sled thru the territory, I know that the amount of damage done by wolves to furbearing wildlife is incalculable. This winter I saw 25 caribou which had been killed in one spot. Only the tongues had been eaten. I have seen 37 wolves in one pack from my plane. Only a swivel chair expert could want to protect these beasts. The Alaskans certainly don't like this kind of remote control."

He pointed to two wolf pelts nearly 9 feet long and told how he had seen these wolves shot just after they had destroyed a moose. On the floor and in boxes were heaped a fortune in furs, which provide Alaska's third ranking industry, coming after fish and gold. There were marten, otter, seal, mink, ermine, fox, and other varieties. The territory's catch last year was sold for almost $2,000,000.

Seals Add to Total.

This figure does not include the value of the 80,000 seals taken from the Pribilof Islands by Ickes' bureau of fisheries, Goldstein said. These skins are salted down in barrels and transported by ship to Seattle and by train to St. Louis, where they are tanned under government contract.

"It would save half the cost of tanning if Ickes would have the work done here, the dealer said. "That would create a logical industry for Alaska and the tannery could be used for all of our furs. I can't get anywhere with the plan. I know where the shoe pinches. Alaska has no one to fight for her but a single nonvoting delegate in congress. It's the same old trouble of taxation without representation."

The only new industry in Alaska and the only one that is booming is national defense, but Alaskans see no reason to credit the secretary of the interior with that. Many of Juneau's workers have joined the northward movement to get $12 a day or more at Anchorage, Fairbanks, Sitka, and Kodiak, where $70,000,000 will be spent this year.

ASK DISBARMENT OF ATTORNEY FOR SOLICITING CASES

The board of managers of the Chicago Bar association and the committee on grievances, acting as commissioners of the Illinois Supreme court, filed in Springfield yesterday a recommendation that Murphy O. Tate, Chicago attorney, be disbarred. The complaint charged Tate with solicitation of personal injury cases in violation of the legal canon of ethics.

The complaint charged that Tate or his employés solicited the business of persons involved in eight personal injury cases during the last two years.

Tate was found not guilty by a jury in August, 1937, of participation in an ambulance chasing racket. This case developed after an accident in which two street cars collided at Clark and 18th streets. Thirty claims for personal injuries were filed by persons who said they were passengers on one of the cars. Investigation disclosed that this car was empty at the time of the accident.

NEW PERIL RISES TO PLAGUE SHIPS AT SEA: THE CIO

Seamen Drunken, Surly; Officers Powerless.

dominated their union affairs but said they feared to speak out because they would be called stooges for the ship owners and have their skulls cracked. Some of the leaders were undercover communists, they said, but were wary of admitting it.

Both the lines traveled on are heavily subsidized by the federal government and are under the wing of the maritime commission. During the last year the subsidy bill presented by the American President lines was $2,664,503, while the New York and Cuba Mail asked $370,407.

Pay Rollers Make Whoopee.

A sidelight on the trip was the discovery that passenger lists on these subsidized lines are crammed these days with federal government employés embarking on whoopee cruises. They get a 50 per cent reduction on their passage fares while the poor working stiff in private industry has to cough up the full amount.

The President Hayes, on which the southward leg of the voyage was made, is the third of the new C-3P type combination passenger and freight ships being constructed by the maritime commission for the President lines, which is the old Dollar line. It is of 16,190 tons displacement and of the latest steel fireproof construction thruout.

On March 2 the vessel went aground in Buzzard's bay at the western entrance to the Cape Cod canal and the maiden voyage was held up two weeks for repairs. This mishap, following on the heels of the United States Lines' Manhattan beaching off the Florida coast, resulted in some amusing navigation en route.

Log of Strange Cruise.

A day by day log of the voyage southward, containing observations and incidents aboard the President Hayes, follows:

March 21.—We sailed at 5 p. m. from the pier at Jersey City with 30 passengers and a crew of 117. The ship is starting her maiden voyage around the world via Havana, Panama Canal, San Francisco, Manila, Singapore, Capetown. This correspondent is the only one on the passenger list scheduled to disembark at Havana.

A steward on the port side was drunk and had to be relieved. A woman passenger told me he got too familiar talking to her. Up on the boat deck I had a conversation with a sailor who told me that if wanting more pay was being a communist then he was one. Another seaman complained about the portholes in their quarters being too small and a lack of hooks on the walls. This ship has air conditioning in the sailors quarters, recreation room, showers, mattresses in the bunks and other luxuries the old timers never enjoyed.

March 22.—Two women passengers had to wait better than an hour for deck chairs and blankets. The steward was surly when they asked why there was so much delay. A foursome at bridge had to wait a half hour for a table in the lounge during the afternoon.

Officer Forced to Plead.

Watched the lifeboat drill. Maritime law requires all members of the crew to show up. Asked a sailor how often they had it and he said "too often." At No. 3 station the second officer said to the men, "Get going, are you afraid you're going to overwork?" Three quarters of the crew stood around and watched. Finally the exasperated officer pleaded with them to step in and help push the boat out from the davits. "All you have to do is lean," he argued. Another officer remarked, "They want overtime for saving their own lives."

March 23.—There are seven or eight unions aboard. The seamen belong to the Sailors Union of the Pacific, an independent organization, and the stewards are affiliated with the CIO. A sailor came out with a broom to sweep off the afterdeck. A few swipes and then he said, "There, that's done, thank God for the wind."

Capt. Dale Collins, 40 years old, hasn't been showing up for meals and we're told he is having all his meals on the bridge, watching the course so he won't go aground.

Steward Samples Scotch.

Passengers pile up complaints of poor service for meals in their rooms, surliness of stewards. One passenger put a mark on his bottle of Scotch the first day out and discovered the steward had been sampling it.

March 24.—Went down thru the forecastle and saw the seamen lying in their bunks reading the Daily Worker, communist newspaper, and New Masses, the Red magazine. Passengers wanted to go swimming in the pool on the boat but the crew didn't get around to painting it until today. Saw a little girl crying and a steward yanking her arm, telling her to "shut up." As we neared Havana the waiters hauled our plates away with the food half eaten. The crew had just received their wages and were anxious to get ashore.

Docked at Havana six hours late because the captain stayed out in the center of the gulf stream off Florida where he knew there was plenty of water. On this course the ship had to buck a three or four knot current, but the skipper was taking no chances after the Buzzards bay incident and the running aground of the Manhattan off West Palm Beach.

Speed Trapper's Nephew Held to Jury in Holdup

Ben Special Jr., 30 years old, and Fred Singer, 36, an ex-convict, were held to the grand jury in bonds of $20,000 each by Judge Austin McCarthy in Felony court yesterday after they were identified in the $300 robbery of a bakery at 1059 North Rockwell street last Saturday. Special is a nephew of Charles Special, former mayor of the village of Dixmoor, now serving a one year Bridewell term for operating a speed trap.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BOB BECKER

Resume Bird Banding

April 11, 1941.

THE bird banding traps on the Wheaton farm were put into operation again this week after a winter of inactivity. Two of the ground traps were placed in a woodlot which previously hadn't been used for this purpose. Five other traps were spotted in a thicket where a number of songbirds were trapped and banded last season.

The farm holds a federal permit for the trapping and banding of songbirds. When cardinals, juncos, bluejays, brown thrashers, various species of sparrows, and other songbirds are caught in the traps they are given numbered aluminum leg bands and then released. The bands do not harm them in any way. In fact, one of the amusing things about this trapping is the way some of the birds repeatedly return to a trap to get food.

First Meal Rejected.

The birds refused our initial offering of food early in the week. As an experiment we baited the traps with finely ground corn screenings, and the birds didn't like it. They failed to enter any of the traps the first day, so we now have purchased a mixture of sunflower seeds, hemp, rape, canary seed and other grains which the birds like better. These will be mixed with the corn screenings.

One new trap to be used this summer contains nine separate cells. The eight outside cages are baited with grain and seeds, and the center compartment contains water. The water pan serves a double purpose, that of attracting the birds and also providing them with a drink. Any bird caught in any of the eight outside compartments can reach the supply of water.

Worst of Bird Singers.

When we walked over the farm this week we felt like awarding a consolation prize for the worst singing of the season to the cowbirds. The pitiful attempts of these unwelcome birds to croon spring melodies were laughable. The cowbird is the species that lays its eggs in the nests of other birds in the hope that the latter will hatch the eggs and contribute toward a larger cowbird population. This is what usually happens.

One survey showed that there were 293 different species of birds which will incubate and hatch cowbird eggs. Fortunately, the robin and the catbird are smart enough to eject cowbird eggs from their nests.

There were about seven cowbirds in the group that we watched. The males were uttering their gurgling, watery notes as if it were a real effort to make a noise.

Weather Only Can Prevent Easter Parade

BY JUDITH CASS.

BAD weather tomorrow will spoil the traditional Easter parade along Lake Shore drive and North Michigan avenue, but it will not keep at home any one who has planned to attend one of the many luncheon parties that have been arranged to follow church services. And, if tomorrow should be as perfect a spring day as yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. and all the little ones will be out in the full glory of their new spring finery to see and to be seen.

The Casino is having a luncheon party with the same Hungarian string orchestra that has played at the last four or five similar Easter parties providing music. Spring lamb will be the main item on the menu at this smart club in East Delaware place. Mrs. I. Newton Perry, president, is at home after a brief trip, so she will be on hand to welcome the 100 guests.

Saddle and Cycle Having Egg Hunt for Youngsters.

Some who worship at the Fourth Presbyterian, St. Chrysostom's, or St. James', will go north to the Saddle and Cycle after church so their children can participate in the egg hunt that has been planned as the Easter celebration at this club on Foster avenue and the lake. A buffet luncheon will be served from 12:30 until 3 o'clock. Camellia House, the Pump Room, the Buttery, and the Yar, all popular restaurants on the near north side, will have special parties at noon.

Camellia House is offering a special inducement to ladies with what men call "crazy" hats to have luncheon there, for a committee of masculine judges is going to award a prize hat to the one the committee deems is wearing the smartest and at the same time the most becoming head covering in the room. Orville Taylor, Gordon Lang, William E. Vogelback, James C. Thompson and John Hoysradt have accepted the invitation to judge.

Parents Giving an At Home for Miss Edith Atwater.

Tomorrow afternoon Chicago friends of Edith Atwater will be going to the apartment of her mother, Mrs. Harold C. Pynchon, and Mr. Pynchon, who will be at home from 4 to 7 o'clock in honor of the young actress. Mr. and Mrs. Pynchon reside at 70 Cedar street. Miss Atwater is playing in "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

Miss Atwater is going to be one of the especial guests at an Easter Monday party, one that the Chicago Drama league will give at 12 o'clock in the ballroom of the Blackstone. Laura Hope Crews, Effie Shannon, and some others from "Arsenic and Old Lace," and Miss Jane Pickens from the "Boys and Girls Together" company will be the other guests at the speakers' table. Mrs. M. Lee Alberts, president, will preside and James B. Griffin will for toastmaster. Mrs. Townsend McKeever is planning the decorations for the table.

To say "au revoir" to Private Thomas Boal who departs shortly for his army training Mr. Boal's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Philip W. Moore Jr. of Winnetka, will be at home to some of his friends tomorrow afternoon.

Miss Narcissa Swift Becomes Bride Today.

Narcissus, appropriately, will decorate the Lake Shore drive apartment of Mrs. Alden B. Swift when her daughter, Miss Narcissa, is married this afternoon. Only the families and a few close friends have been invited to hear Miss Swift and Clinton Blair King repeat their wedding vows after the Rev. Edwin Ames. The ceremony will be held at 4:30 o'clock, and the same small group will remain to toast Mr. King and his bride before they start on a wedding trip east.

Nathan B. Swift of Watertown, S. D., will give his sister in marriage. His wife and another sister, Mrs. Paul Rowan [Lydia Swift], and Mr. Rowan of Dedham, Mass., are here. Mr. King's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John P. King, were unable to come from their home in Fort Worth, Tex., because the latter is ill. The A. Thomas Taylors [Geraldine Swift], cousins of the bride, won't be present, as they have stopped in Brazil on their way north from South America, where they have been living for several years.

Neither the bride nor the bridegroom will be attended. Mr. King, an artist, and his bride will be with Mrs. Swift at her summer home in Marion, Mass., until next fall, when they will take an apartment in Chicago.

Lake Forest Church Guild Holding Easter Sale Today.

There'll be plenty of hustle and bustle and gayety around two showrooms at 598 and 602 Western avenue, Lake Forest, today when the Parish guild of the Church of the Holy Spirit holds its annual Easter sale. Easter shopping is made easy by the enterprising women who run this venture. Large and small potted plants, cakes, cookies, and goodies of all sorts will be there; one may have sandwiches and coffee for luncheon; second hand books and aprons also may be had.

The sale is always crowded with children, who come to purchase balloons, to takes chances on a grab bag, and to buy a plant for their mothers. Mrs. G. Corson Ellis, who has several children of her own, is in charge of the grab bag and balloons. Mrs. John R. Howland is in charge of small plants, and Mrs. Ewing T. Webb, president of the guild, and Mrs. Phelps Kelley are in charge of the large plants. The cakes and cookies are under the direction of Mrs. Garrit M. Box. Mrs. Harry N. King is in charge of dispensing refreshments.

Mrs. Joseph W. Sharp has returned from Cuba, where she spent the winter with her mother. Mrs. Sharp is one of the most active workers for the Northwestern university settlement, which is to receive the proceeds from a card party, fashion show, and tea on Monday at the Country Club of Evanston. The Evanston board is sponsoring the party, Query.

An 11 year old who was informed that her cousin had come down with German measles promptly asked her mother if she would break out with swastikas.

Check Room Girl.

A pretty 18 year old girl who has been working as a hat check girl at a fashionable restaurant got her chance this week and now is a featured singer at the place where she had been handing out hat checks. She is Charleen Kerr, a bright, ambitious girl who was graduated from high school last year when she was 17. Charleen supported herself while she went to school by working as cashier in a theater. When she left school she got a job as secretary in an electrical company and went to school six nights a week, studying art three night a week and music the other three. Then she got the job as hat check girl in hope of making contacts that might lead to a job as singer. When she overheard Hotel Manager Jimmy Hart inquiring about a singer for the Buttery she timidly applied for the job. She made her debut this week.

Purely Personal.

Another Cinderella story is that of Jane Peterson, the artist who is in town for the opening of her one man show at the Tretyakoy gallery next Tuesday. Born in Elgin, Ill., she went to New York as a young girl to study art on $300 of borrowed money. At a recent opening of one of her exhibits in New York the crowd was so great a cordon of police was engaged to keep the entrance clear. Jane Peterson married Bernard Philipp, international lawyer, who upon his death left her a six story mansion on Fifth avenue opposite the Metropolitan museum. It is on the top floor of this house that she gives her studio parties. She now is Mrs. James S. McCarthy, and is mistress of another house in New Haven, said to be filled with art treasures, including a fine Rembrandt. Dr. McCarthy is a trustee of the bequest left the John Huntington Museum of Art in Cleveland, in memory of Margaret Huntington McCarthy, his first wife.

Desirable.

The guy who thought a desirable girl is one who admires Toulouse-Lautrec and who had read Strachey, Shaw, Saroyan, Nietzsche on Christ, Schopenhauer on life, Anatole France, Hemingway, and Huysmans, is nuts, bulletins a friend. "Give me somebody who looks like Hedy Lemarr, who can cook wiener schnitzel, and doesn't talk too much."

Happy Easter. Please don't let children mishandle baby chicks and rabbits. And rebuke any one who sends live creatures about like Easter cards,

Chicago Girls Wed Today in Military Rites

To be married in a brilliant military setting and to walk under the traditional "arch of steel" of officers' crossed swords in the recessional is a dream that many a girl must have. It is coming true for two Chicago girls today. Miss Virginia Dorothy Lawless, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Lawless of Sawyer avenue, will be married near Spartanburg, S. C., to Lieut. Robert Scott Saunders, son of Mrs. Daisy Saunders, and the late Roy Saunders of Stony Island avenue.

The ceremony will take place in the 40th training battalion recreation center at Camp Croft, infantry replacement center, Chaplain Loren T. Jenks officiating. Lieut. Col. W. A. Meade, commander of the battalion, will give the bride in marriage. Lieut. Saunders, a reserve officer, and his bride will visit Charleston, S. C., on their wedding trip. He attended Northwestern university, and was awarded the Pershing medal for being the best CMTC trainee at Fort Sheridan in 1938. This is the first wedding to be held at the camp.

Miss Fanny Ellen Hogg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Oliver Hogg of Morgan Park, and Lieut. Oscar James Vogl Jr., battery commander, 19th Field artillery, stationed at Fort Custer, Mich., will be married in a military ceremony at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the First Baptist church, Morgan Park. Lieut. Vogl is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vogl of Beverly Hills. The bride, who spells her last name "Hogue" for stage purposes, has appeared as Ann Rutledge in "Prologue to Glory," and with Francis Lederer in "Seventh Heaven." Lieut. Vogl is a graduate of Morgan Park Military academy and attended Purdue and Randolph Field, Tex. His mother was the first president and organizer of the Gold Star Mothers, and is largely responsible for the return of bodies of soldiers killed in the first world war.

Forest Preserves Start 'Bird Hikes' Tomorrow

The year's first "bird hike" thru the forest preserves will be conducted tomorrow by Gordon Pearsall, curator of the Trailside museum, Chicago and Thatcher avenues, River Forest. Pearsall will lead a group of bird lovers on a two hour hike thru Thatcher woods during which he will point out the different species and habits of birds. The hike will start from the museum at 8 a.m.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

There are some perfumes from Bermuda that you should know about. Extracts of native Bermuda flowers are skilfully blended with the finest perfumery materials and the resulting fragrances are superb!

These are florals, as different from the run-of-the-mill florals as platinum is from tin. Their fragrance has fidelity, and the perfumes themselves have a lasting quality that is unusual.

One of the most distinctive of them —there are five in all—is Bermuda Easter lily, a most unusual fragrance that is cool, haunting, and not too sweet. It has the "green" note that makes it fresh; it escapes completely the soporific undertone that so many perfumes seem unable to cope with. Sweetness that stops just short of the cloying point is an achievement in the blending of a floral perfume. This Easter lily is delightful for the reason that it has lilt rather than that swooning quality.

There is a toilet water in the same fragrance that you'll love. This, like the perfume, is in a bottle of lily design that will do your dressing table proud.

The lily perfume is probably the best known of the whole Bermuda family. The other fragrances are just as good of their kind. You have a choice of oleander, gardenia, wild jasmine, passion flower, and one smart bouquet. They're all lush and lasting.

Lenten Season Ends Today; Eve of Easter Falls

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

An estimated million worshipers attended Good Friday services yesterday in cathedrals and churches of Chicago. The 1941 season of Lent ends today at noon and then Easter eve begins, breaking the 40 day period of fasting for the devout.

Easter eve will see thousands of children and adults receiving the sacrament of baptism. Traditionally the Easter hours, when Christ reposed in the tomb in Joseph of Aramathea's garden prior to the resurrection, have been used for this rite to carry the symbolism of "being buried with Christ in His death."

The last hours of Christ on the cross were observed in hundreds of churches yesterday from noon until 3 p. m. At the Chicago temple, 77 West Washington street, an estimated 5,000 persons attended portions of the three hour service conducted by the Chicago Church federation.

All during the day, Catholic worshipers were making their way to Holy Name cathedral. Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch officiated at 9 a. m. and last night at the final service of tenebrae. At noon the tre ore service was conducted, with the Rev. Dr. James Fitzgerald delivering the meditations on Christ's last words on the cross.

Bishop Wallace Edmonds Conkling of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago concluded the noonday Lenten series at Kimball hall yesterday and then hastened to St. Luke's church, Evanston, to deliver the three hour meditations of the cross.

Fifty thousand persons are expected at the sunrise services in Soldiers' field at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Feast of Passover Is Opened by Jews with Seder Meals

Jews of the world began their feast of the Passover for the Jewish year 5701 at sundown last night. The period of the feast is eight days altho the first two and sometimes three days are more highly emphasized. Families gathered for seder meals last night and feasted on ceremonial foods, with matzoth [unleavened bread] the most conspicuous.

The feast recalls the flight from Egyptian bondage under the leadership of Moses and has conserved over the ages the ideals of human freedom. The famous Lind brothers, cantors, will officiate this morning and tonight at Roosevelt High school, Kimball and Wilson avenues, at Passover services under auspices of the Hebrew institute of Albany Park. Rabbi Adam Neuberger will deliver the sermons.

Tomorrow night a third seder will be held at Masonic temple, 32 West Randolph street. Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes will deliver the principal address. Tonight at the Covenant club, 10 North Dearborn street, what was announced as being one of the largest seders in the world will be held. Rabbi Mayer Lipman will officiate.

Rabbi Solomon Goldman of Temple Anshe Emet, Pine Grove avenue and Grace street, announced 9:45 o'clock services this morning and tomorrow, with a third seder on Sunday night for the junior synagogue.

Record Crowds Attend Flower Shows at Parks

Twenty thousand more persons attended the annual Easter flower shows in Garfield and Lincoln parks during the last six days than attended the 1940 show, park officials said yesterday. The total number of visitors was 96,170 at both parks. Two-thirds of the attendance was at the Garfield show.

Good Morning!

That excellent laugh educer, "Road to Singapore," has a jovial runner-upper in "Road to Zanzibar," which, like the first named crazicinema, features Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, and Dorothy Lamour.

In this story Africa is used as a setting for most ridiculous adventures. These, in turn, serve as gay background for crackpot dialog and a few not bad songs.

Lest ye forget—the game of paddy cake, introduced in "Road to Singapore," pops up once more to wriggle your risibles. And, as before, Bob and Bing are rivals for the affections of the sociable and wary Dot, who substitutes regular clothes and, once, a covering of branches, for a sarong.

The crazy story defies sensible narration, so why bother? But the film is fast, amusing, and most capably acted and directed.

Re that Hope-Crosby team—More, MORE!

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Eddy Bedortha of South Pasadena, Cal., announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to Henry Wingate Bent, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bent of Pasadena, formerly of Hinsdale. Mr. Bent is a brother of Mrs. Theodore Lamb of Chicago.

Miss Bedortha was graduated from the University of Colorado, and her fiancé, an alumnus of the Deerfield academy in Massachusettes, attended Stanford university.

Seek Thousand Members Here for Seeing Eye

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

A thin-faced, sleepy-looking young man in his early thirties lounged comfortably in a chair in the Palmer House yesterday. Beside him sprawled a giant German shepherd dog with ears cocked and eyes brilliantly alert. The two are a famous team, Morris Frank, co-founder and vice president of the nationally-acclaimed Seeing Eye school in Morristown, N. J., and Buddy II., successor to the pioneer Seeing Eye dog in America.

Both are in Chicago to assist in the annual enrollment drive for members of Seeing Eye, Inc. The drive, which seeks to raise $10,000 with 1,000 new members, will open officially Friday afternoon at a meeting of the city's 275 volunteer workers in the Blackstone hotel. It will close six weeks later.

"Buddy and I are glad to be back in Chicago," Mr. Frank said enthusiastically. "We have been here many times investigating applicants for our dogs and are proud of the fact that Chicago has 30 of them, the most of any city in the country. You see, not every applicant can receive one. They must be able to earn the purchase price of one after they receive it. We have to be sure they are persons who will not take their affliction sitting down."

Mr. Frank is an example of one who hasn't. His heavy-lidded eyes, which are the result of a boxing accident that caused the loss of his sight during his senior year at Vanderbilt university, fail to disguise a tireless energy and a mind carefully attune to the affairs of the world.

After the accident, he chanced upon an article by Mrs. Harrison Eustis, who was raising German shepherds for use of the blind in Switzerland. He made the trip across the ocean and persuaded Mrs. Eustis to bring her school to America.

According to Mr. Frank, Chicago has always contributed generously to Seeing Eye, Inc. It will endeavor to fill its quota of 1,000 memberships, which are $5 and up, under a committee headed by Mrs. Wood Tullis, chairman, and Mrs. Potter Palmer III., co-chairman. Headquarters for contributions will be in Room 929 in the People's Gas, Light and Coke building, 122 South Michigan avenue.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, April 11.—The teaming of Hollywood's two most famous clotheshorses, Gloria Swanson and Adolphe Menjou, is a fashion world event calculated to offset such minor setbacks as the German capture of the Maisons de Couture of Paris.

Menjou and Swanson are in "Father Takes a Wife," which is a reverse-English story of matrimony by Herbert and Dorothy Fields. The usual real life story of matrimony concerns parents worrying over their children's love affairs. This one is about children—or, at least, one son and a daughter-in-law—worrying over the love affair of the old man.

The old man is Menjou, the son is John Howard, son's wife is Florence Rice. The woman the old man is after is La Swanson—long absent from films but as glamorous as ever. So glamorous, in fact, that Desi Arnaz is after her, as well as Menjou. You can have this tipoff: Menjou gets her.

Shooting of the film is about to start at RKO. Menjou has deserted the Lakeside Golf club [where he is unique because he wears plus-fours] for wardrobe tests, and they've been having fittings and tests of the stuff Miss Swanson is going to wear. I asked Producer Lee Marcus to dig into his budget and enumerate the Swanson wardrobe for me, and it follows. Mr. Marcus prefaced his list with the remark:

"That woman is marvelous. You could put a matzoth on her head and it would look stylish."

The clothes, as listed in order by the production department:

A negligee; evening gown and wrap; traveling outfit with fur coat; evening dress; hostess gown; dressing gown; afternoon outfit; traveling outfit and fur coat [another one]; slacks for a boat scene [first time Swanson has worn slacks; gals didn't use 'em when she was in the movies before]; gymnasium costume [they're going to town on this one—there's a scene where Miss Swanson exercises to keep her figure]; luncheon outfit; street ensemble; dinner dress; evening gown and wrap; night dress and negligee; afternoon dress; street ensemble; dress for day wear.

In all, eighteen layouts. Cost a plenty. Miss Swanson insisted upon the services of René Hubert, who has dressed her since the old days, and who has recently costumed that other clothes-wearer, Marlene Dietrich. One evening gown and wrap, for instance, is put down at $600—and that's the manufacturing price, with the work being done in the wardrobe department.

As long as this dispatch is getting out of hand and turning into a fashion column I may report that Joseph Schnitzer, president of the Western Costume company, which dresses the mobs in most pictures, is in a sweat on account of the war. On account of the war, everybody is making military pictures, and Mr. Schnitzer has discovered that practically none of the carefully saved first world war stuff is usable. The U. S. army, the British army, the Germany army—everybody is using new fashions, and the Western Costume company sewing rooms have been buzzing like an aircraft factory.

There've been reports that Marlene Dietrich, now working for Warners in "Man Power," has taken a few verbal pokes at Ann Sheridan. Annie got a bit of revenge the other day. Seems she has a French poodle George Brent gave her, and she takes very good care of it. Brushes its hair frequently. Well, in the studio dressing room the time we're talking about, Dietrich stroked her tresses with the brush. Miss Sheridan let her use it a while, then took it, saying, "That's my dog's."

Columbia has signed Melvin Douglas, Ruth Hussey, and Charles Coburn for leads in "Our Wife." Douglas will play a band leader. . . . Abbott and Costello, whose "Buck Privates" is such a hit and who are now making a navy film; are slated to go thru all service branches. Universal is preparing marine corps and air corps scripts for them. . . . John Payne is doing all right as a new leading man at Twentieth-Fox. He's played opposite Alice Faye, now is Sonja Henie's vis-à-vis in "Sun Valley," and has just been named Claudette Colbert's leading man in "Remember the Day." It must be wonderful to be an actor, because you make love to so many interesting people.

SYNOPSIS.

Don Barron, American newspaperman, is sent to Germany to rescue Paul Darmal, financier and opponent of the Nazi régime. He meets Twysden, local agent in charge of the rescue, and Darmal's stepdaughter, Hertha, and his granddaughter, Sigi. Sigi takes them to Darmal's hiding place, which turns out to be a lodge on the estate of Puttaemus, Nazi official. With Darmal they all escape to Denmark but realize, by the great influx of Nazis there, that Denmark is being invaded. When they see Schmarz, Nazi official, but rival of Puttaemus, Don fears they have been betrayed and suspicions Sigi, whom he follows and his led to a pier warehouse where he is arrested and thrown into prison. But Sigi smuggles him weapons of escape and he jumps from his prison window into water where Sigi is waiting in a boat. They follow the others to Odense in a private car of a German colonel Sigi has flirted with on the streets. Odense is a hubbub of spies, and suspicious persons are chalk marked on their backs and picked up and thrown into concentration camps. Darmal and Hertha want to return to Germany and try to escape another way but Don won's hear to this plan. Sigi goes out to keep a date with the German colonel and kisses Don as she leaves. Hertha embraces Don and confesses her love for him and tells him she is suspicious of Sigi betraying them. She insists Dan follow Sigi, which he does, and is arrested because of a chalk mark on his back. He thinks Sigi put it there until Sigi again gets him out of prison, using her influence with the colonel. When they arrive at their quarters they find it is Hertha who has betrayed them and turned over Darmal to Schmarz, with whom she is really in love. Their one hope is that Schmarz will try to outsmart Puttaemus and hide Darmal until he can get full credit for Darmal's capture. Aided by Knust, a friend of Sigi's, they don Nazi uniforms and follow Schmarz and party to a castle on an aviation field where they hear Darmal is held prisoner. Hertha sees Don and Twysden and betray them to Schmarz and they are arrested. Schmarz uses their capture to try to force coveted information from Darmal and is about to torture his victims when Sigi appears with Puttaemus. Puttaemus orders Schmarz and Hertha from the room, intending to have all the glory himself, but Sigi in the meantime has freed Don and Twysden, who have been bound, and his slipped Darmal a gun. After a terrific battle Puttaemus is tied and the party slip down a rope ladder to Puttaemus' private airplane and escape.

INSTALMENT XXXVI.

FLIGHT.

HERE was first the climb down from the window altho that should be as easy, for there seemer neither sight nor sound of anybody below.

"Rather dizzying, tho," Sigi said with a shiver.

"You're surely not going to start being afraid now—and of that?" Don Barron said lightly.

"I'm always afraid," she smiled back at him. "I've been terrified almost out of my wits since the start of this business."

"That only increases your wonder, my dear," he laughed, and gently began to put out the rope ladder.

Knust slipped down first. His tug on the ladder signaled the "all clear." Darmal, who had managed to walk to the window, looked down, said in his detached way:

"An impossibility for me, neither my head nor limbs could stand it."

"We've arranged for that," Don Barron said. "I'm carrying you. Quite safe, I'll use the fireman's lift."

Yet he wondered if it were as he got onto the ladder, for, frail as the old man was, the weight of two might put an unwarrantable strain on the cords. It actually seemed to him that the ladder did sway and creak ominously at times as he felt his way down, and once his heart came into his mouth as Darmal gave a convulsive shiver, while he cursed himself for not allowing Sigi and Twysden to go before him. But the fire escape stood the strain. Presently he felt Knust's hand on his ankle, and a moment later was standing on the ground, lowering Darmal, who had fainted, to the earth.

A minute later Sigi and Twysden joined them, and, with Don Barron and Knust giving the still unconscious Darmal a "bandy chair" on locked hands, they followed Sigi out onto the air field.

Nobody stopped them, no voice called after them. They went straight across to the blue light, encountering no one. Here the unconscious Darmal was an actual blessing. Air mechanics squatting against the undercarriage sprang up at their approach, and became helpful directly they saw the sick man. They did not even ask an explanation, for they recognized Sigi as the friend who had met Puttaemus; also, the boy pilot, hearing the bustle, came out of the machine, greeting Sigi with a salute.

The girl immediately put into action the plan they had agreed upon. She told the boy that Darmal was an important political prisoner the Oberst Puttaemus was flying to Germany; as the Oberst would himself be with them in two minutes the plane must be ready to leave the instant he arrived.

The boy never doubted her word. He snapped orders to the mechanics who got the machine trimmed for immediate flight, and then climbed back inside to help them dispose of Darmal safely. It was while he did this that Don Barron dealt with him. It went against his grain to take the boy unawares, but their lives depended on it, so the blow he struck with the butt of his pistol as the pilot bent over Darmal was careful and swift.

Twysden had already found his flying helmet, and, cramming this on his head, made his way to the controls as Don Barron secured his prisoner with seat straps. The whole thing was almost too easy. The mechanics noticed nothing amiss in the darkness, obeying Twysden's orders with automatic smartness. In a minute they were running across the air field . . . bumping gently . . . lifting . . . gliding on even keel. They were in the air.

"It's a Messersmitt 110—latest design," Twysden shouted back when Don Barron asked over the phone how things were shaping. "Nothing can catch us now we're off. Where for, sir, England?"

"Too many A. A. guns. Make it Holland, that, at least is still neutral."

Twysden was right. Their flight across Germany was almost uneventful. German searchlights felt for them—and missed them here and there, but apparently they had become too used to "leaflet" raids to waste anti-aircraft fire.

Crossing the frontier they had a trying moment, the Dutch batteries were vigorous in protecting their neutrality. But the flare they dropped over the Waalhaven 'drome, made their landing an easy business; and explanations to the authorities saw them free in a couple of hours. Better still the Sturgis-Shrady representative in Rotterdam was able to get them permits allowing them to fly to England no later than mid-morning.

By evening Don Barron was sitting with Sigi, in Darmal's private suite at the Piccadilly hotel reading out a cable he had just received:

"Well done Don stop arrange Darmal's safe transport New York stop stay England yourself cover possible blitzkrieg in Holland, Belgium. Sturgis Shrady."

Sigi glowed as she heard Sturgis Shrady's praise. She colored and shook her head when Don declared that the praise did not belong to him; she actually was the one who had done everything.

"That's sweet of you, Don, but not true. I only helped."

"Helped," he scoffed, "You corrected all my mistakes, ironed the kinks out of my blunders, saved my life three or four times and carried the whole thing thru on your own pretty shoulders. I'm a mere yammering tryer beside you, my dear. . . ."

"I know what you are," she said quietly. "I always did . . . tho you didn't know me. You thought me an enemy. . . ."

"I told you I was only a fumbling fool," he grinned. "But I didn't really think that. I was on my guard, yes, perhaps had to be, for I couldn't just place you; there were Putteamus and other trifles to make me cautious."

"I recognized that—and how I loathed that side of the business! Yet it was so important for us. Something was obviously going wrong. The Gestapo knew too much about Darmal and that meant either that their agents were too clever for us, or some one was keeping them informed. . . . I grew more sure it was the last. I did not suspect who. There were actually times when I thought it was poor little Twysden; that is why I wouldn't let you into the details of any plans when he was with you. But to get to know, to counter the Nazi danger from the inside, seemed the best way to defeat them. And as you have heard, Puttaemus was an easy mark. Easy, in fact, in every way. He likes posing as a champion of pretty women. Yet, tho it gives him an immense opinion of himself to have a 'little friend,' he's no Casanova. There's a vast amount of other nastiness, but practically none of that. His girl friends are largely for display."

She spoke frankly, looked at him clear eyed. He nodded. She merely confirmed Twysden's opinion, also he could well believe that the Napoleonic little Oberst was like that; it had the stamp of his abnormality.

"He must have been difficult to handle," he said.

"No, quite easy, once one grasped his real weakness, which was his colossal, his monumental vanity. Tickle that, get him to talk about the marvels of himself, and one had only to be reasonably intelligent to trick him into telling, or doing, exactly what one wanted. I was able to plan the escape in his cruiser that way, but even there somebody must have given us away. . . ."

"Hertha——by way of Otto Schmarz?"

"I shall never know—but probably you're right. Schmarz was, as you know, Putteamus' rival . . . and certainly Schmarz was aware of our destination in Denmark for I'm sure he went there less on official business than to keep in touch with grandfather, thru Hertha."

"But he knew you—from your connection with Puttaemus."

"He knew and I was able to work on his knowledge to help you."

[Concluded Monday.]

"THEY GOT HIM!" Got who? Why, Dave Coyle, the rootin', tootin' cowboy outlaw who had the whole town on his neck. Daring Dave is the hero of "Hard Case"—exciting new serial by Luke Short—starting Monday in the Chicago Tribune.

NUTRITION NOTES: Roast pork loses about three times as much vitamin B-1 in cooking as braised pork [chops cooked with a cover], but any kind of pork is a wonderfully good source of this important vitamin.

The outer leaves of lettuce contain four times as much calcium as do the inner leaves. Studies have shown that outer leaves of cabbage may contain 20 or 30 times as much calcium as the inner leaves. There's more vitamin A in outer leaves of lettuce and cabbage, too, so let's not discard them unless they're terribly wilted and scraggy.

Parsley is excellent for vitamins A and C, and is better than spinach for iron. Moral: Let's not sneer at the parsley on the steak. Let's gobble it!

"Malnutrition is not limited to families who cannot afford the right kind of food," says one authority. "It may appear in any family where habits and tradition alone are allowed to govern food choice." Mary Barber, nutritionist who is menu adviser for the army, thinks that poor diet is responsible for much of the lack of physical vigor among draftees. American homemakers haven't been doing their job as well as it should be done, it might seem.

About 73 per cent of the cheese we eat is American cheddar. This isn't strange, for American cheddar is our best all around cheese. It's good in cooked dishes, sandwiches, and even as a dessert cheese. It's the traditional apple pie accompaniment. Somehow we just don't think of combining Swiss cheese with apple pie.

Swiss type cheese come next in popularity, however. Cream and Neufchatel are third, Italian types, fourth; brick and Munster, fifth. In sixth place we have limburger. Apparently a lot of us don't mind that strong odor. We ate over eight million pounds of limburger in 1939.

There are over 400 varieties of cheese on the market, but they classify into 18 types. Very fine domestic cheeses are taking the place of the kinds we imported before the war. Since the name Roquefort may be applied only to the cheese cured in the caves of Roquefort, France, our domestic "Roquefort" is called blue cheese.

Two other French cheeses [delicious dessert cheeses, they are] are made domestically and may be called by their French names, brie and camembert.

Chicago Arden Shore Committee Opens Campaign Offices

The Chicago Arden Shore committee has opened an office in room 1226 of the Palmolive building to run its annual subscription drive, now in progress. Mrs. George H. Williamson, chairman of the committee, returned from Palm Beach just in time for the drive, of which Miss Helen Peterson is chairman. Some of the women who will be in the office are Mrs. George Plamondon, Mrs. Victor Lewis, Mrs. Thomas Fleming, Mrs. George W. Traver, and Mrs. Tallman Schiffmann. For the first time in many years Mrs. Dwight H. Green will not be on hand to help with the drive as her duties as wife of the governor are keeping her in Springfield. The committee has selected Saturday, Oct. 11, as the date of its annual Arden Shore ball.

Experimental Biology Federation to Meet Here Next Tuesday

The annual five-day meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology will open Tuesday in the Stevens hotel. The federation is composed of the American Physiological society, the American Society of Biological Chemists, the American Society for Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics, the American Society for Experimental Pathology, and the American Institute of Nutrition. A program of social functions has been planned in addition to technical discussions. Among these is a smoker for delegates, sponsored by the federation's Chicago committee, a women's entertainment tea, and the annual federation dinner. Dr. A. C. Ivy is chairman of the Chicago committee.

Easter Rabbits and Chicks Are Good for Smile

BY REA SEEGER.

In a world gone grim, the stuff that gets a chuckle suddenly assumes gigantic importance to those shoppers fed up with gloom and sad tales. See the Easter rabbits and chickens and other small fry gift ideas if you would have a lift. They're using a trick new cotton fabric for bunnies this spring; a fluffy fabric that looks suspiciously like the cotton rugs; the finished bunnies are delightfully different. Another bright idea is different colored ear linings, foot or paw pads in emerald green. Huge rabbits of this snowy white with green are handsome animals and can be seen for blocks. The general idea is to send a huge bunny to a small tot, the smaller the moppet the larger the rabbit.

Fat, fluffy cotton hens do everything but cluck. One of the funniest examples of what a whimsical bunny maker thought up to please small fry is the fat, yellow hen with side pockets. Peeking out from these pockets are a pair of small yellow chicks. If this isn't out-dizzy-ing Disney what is? All the ducklings and goslins come in butter yellow fuzz or felt, the bills good and red, the expressions priceless.

Wagons and baskets filled to overflow have safety covers of cellophane. Chocolate and candy eggs come in every imaginable size from the little old fashioned kind to the huge black chocolate varieties with decorative trim of surrealistic design.

Hollow chocolate eggs are ready to be filled with bon-bons or small chocolates. High hats are filled for small lads, flower trimmed straw hats are filled for small girls, but the Easter bunnies are still the favorite receptacle for confectionery remembrances.

One of the clever floral gift ideas is a white rabbit made entirely of flowers. White carnations form the body, huge pink satin ears, and button eyes match the rakish bow 'round the neck, and pipe cleaners make the whiskers. Other flowers could be used with the same effectiveness.

Racqueteers to Hold Dinner-Dance Tonight

The Racqueteers [squash racquet players] of the Chicago Athletic association will give their annual dinner-dance tonight at the club following a cocktail party in the racquet courts. The Racqueteers' retiring president, Daniel McGuire, will present the National Veterans' champion, Joseph Jannotta, and the City Veterans' champion, Cornelius Sippel, who both are members of the Racqueteers. William O. Rourke, Robert G. Walker, and John Lehman are the Racqueteers' new officers.

Seek Causes When a Child Turns Naughty

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

There are days when the children seem especially trying. They show traits that make you wonder what they'll be like when they grow up. Other people's children don't seem as quarrelsome or disorderly as yours. What makes them like that? You wonder.

When those times come it's good for us to remember that children are, after all, only human, and that they can be uneven and have "off" days because they don't feel "tops," or for some less obvious reason, just as grownups can. But we must not always let it go at that.

When children have been especially reprehensible, when they've been disobedient, or impervious to your wishes and directions, when they do things they shouldn't do and don't do things they should, look to yourself first for blame before you come down too hard on them.

If, periodically, you get disgusted with the children's table manners, thinking for a minute will make you realize that it's perhaps because you've been lax about insisting upon them at every meal. If you get frantic because they dawdle so over getting ready for school, it's probably because you've been jogging them and reminding them constantly instead of putting them on their own responsibility. If they grumble over helping about the house, it's possibly because you haven't put it to them in the right way.

Sometimes it's a little painful to be so honest with yourself, but in the last analysis you'd rather think you had slipped up on your job than to think your children were heedless and ill mannered and selfish, wouldn't you?

April 12, 1941.

Universal day—The second and sober thought is the best one to follow today. Resist the impulse to spend.

If you were born in November—you probably remember yourself as having a lot of daydreams. It was a period of inspiration and you were forever chasing fanciful, will-o'-the-wisp ideas. It could have been a charming time of seeking beauty in all the little things around you and taking great delight in collecting such things as butterflies, stamps, etc. Usually those born in this month get the collecting habit early in life. You might have been a difficult child at times because you couldn't be classed quite in the routine grooves of the other children. Talent could have shown early but might not have been expressed as concretely as was necessary to bring you attention, or you may have shown promise but failed to work hard enough to fulfill that promise then.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

I urge readers to look with deep distrust on "natural plays," and to reëxamine all such plays, before making them, in the strong light of individual analysis. The declarer in today's hand made a play that was completely "natural," but it was nonetheless fatal.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 hearts	3 spades	Pass
4 clubs	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
6 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the king of diamonds, and declarer, after a pleased glance at the dummy, ruffed and rattled off a few trumps. His pleasure turned to dismay, however, when investigation of the club suit disclosed a bad break. Squirm as he might, he had to deliver a heart and a club trick over to the enemy, and the vulnerable slam melted away.

Very few players, I fear, would manipulate South's cards any differently, and yet the fallacy of South's first play comes to light after only a moment's thought. South can count six spade tricks, two hearts and, if the clubs break, four clubs. Since the greater trump length in his own hand cannot be augmented by ruffing an opponent's trick, why should this be done? South has a sure heart loser. Why not concede it at the very outset? Let us note the enormous difference that such a concession makes!

The king of diamonds is allowed to hold the first trick, declarer discarding a heart. West then shifts to the queen of hearts, as good a play as any. Dummy's ace wins, and every trump is led out. Declarer will be left with his original club holding and one low heart. Dummy will hold the king-deuce of hearts and the K-6-3 of clubs. What can West hold with the five cards left to him? He cannot retain his club stopper except at the expense of unguarding dummy's low heart, and vice versa. The squeeze on West that automatically develops, while not foreseeable, is merely a just reward for declarer's technique. He made a play that could not lose and might gain.

News of Coiffure Fashions: Long, Flowing Bob Is 'Out'

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

For the truly smart women the correct hair length will be from three to five inches, and the flighty long bob will finally be left to those to whom it belongs, the 'teen age girls.

Such is the word from the recent convention of the International Master Ladies' Hairdressers' association. Also:

"Curls and puffs and rolls in regimented form are out, too.

"The pompadour is dead, with its high front emphasis and its back negligence. In its place, the 1941 plastic movement of line and beauty thru waves, and still more waves, and individual treatment for each type will bring back an effect of independence and individuality.

"Auburn tints in the hair will make it as alive and natural as the dew-covered lawn of a spring morning."

Everywhere, during the convention course, one heard unusual stress upon the healthy scalp and clean hair, which are the fundamentals of a good coiffure. Professional shampoos and scalp treatments are urged to start off the restyling and to keep the hair sparkling for months to come.

Also, one heard the plea to women to stop aping Hollywood coiffures, since these [in picture presentations] are extreme, long and exaggerated, often having to conform to camera angles that affect the hair styling.

CUB ROOKIE BEATS SOX, 2-1; BILL LEE SIGNS

PAUL ERICKSON HITS, PITCHES WAY TO VICTORY

His Double Starts Winning Rally.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Paul Erickson, Zion City's contribution to the big league, made of himself quite a lad yesterday as the Cubs and White Sox unveiled themselves in their 1941 homecoming before 6,976 in Wrigley field. Big Boy Paul not only pitched capably during a short stretch but also helped himself to a double from which the Cubs eked out a run for a 2 to 1 decision. The victory also gave the National leaguers a 7 to 5 edge in the spring series, assuring them at least a tie even if Jim Dykes' warriors revive to snare the two remaining battles.

Conspicuously absent from the proceedings was the power with which the two teams, notably the Cubs, slugged their way thru the barnstorming stops between California and Chicago. Nothing healthier than three doubles appeared on a menu of 14 equally divided hits, indicating that if the pitching wasn't exceptionally good, the batters were foiled by longer foul lines or dazzled by a bleacher background made up of about half the fans in the park.

Dietrich Impressive.

Altho the Cubs scored once on Bill Dietrich, this resulting because of three hits in the opening inning, the recent influenza victim stopped them on two hits in the four remaining innings of his term.

Then Eddie Smith, another flu refugee, appeared and breezed thru two innings during which he fanned half of the six who faced him. But in the eighth, just after Erickson had doubled, Smitty encountered trouble which was climaxed by a pitched ball landing against Bill Nicholson's hide. The mishap forced in the winning run. But the two Sox moundmen did manage to keep the terrible Lou Novikoff from even batting a ball beyond the reach of the infielders.

Claude Passeau, aiming at a little needed stretching in anticipation of his opening day chores, got his fill of work in five innings which he conducted without much disturbance. Facing the Sox for the fourth time this spring, Passeau was as capable as in the three previous jobs. He starved the Sox on a four hit diet, being in distress only on one occasion. He escaped from that pinch by fanning Mike Kreevich, who fanned again later against Erickson's throwing. Iron Mike's slump is still with him.

Hack Opens with Single.

Dietrich's first inning trouble was launched by Stan Hack, who slapped a single into right. Ed Waitkus who may, or may not eventually be the Cubs' first baseman, lined a single over short. This was where Novikoff made his maiden appearance in a big league setting. He sent a ladylike bounder to Kolloway and in an instant two men were out. Nicholson cut a dividend on the two previous hits by doubling to right, sending Hack across the plate. Dom Dallessandro ended the flurry with a roller to Kolloway.

The Sox didn't take even a harmless bite out of Passeau until Taft Wright walked with two gone in the second. The third promised to be better but faded out without developments. Mike Tresh led off with a single, was bunted to second by Dietrich, and Kolloway walked. Luke Appling's tap to Passeau was of no help, nor was Joe Kuhel's fly to Dallessandro. The Sox overlooked their choicest opening in the fourth. After Julius Solters had fanned, Dario Lodigiani and Wright singled. Kreevich struck out after running the count to 3 and 2 and Lodigiani was doubled trying to steal third. The only hit off Passeau in the fifth was a single by Dietrich with one out.

Dietrich Escapes a Jam.

Dietrich was just about in a hitless mood during the second, third, and fourth, but in the fifth threw himself into nothing less than a full house. However, he worked out in expert fashion. Clyde McCullough doubled to left with one out and Phil Cavarretta, batting for Passeau, walked. Hack also reached base on a Dietrich gratuity. Then Appling picked up a grounder off Waitkus' bat, stepped on second and threw to Kuhel for the third double play worked on the Cubs during the afternoon.

A single by Appling and a double by Kuhel brought the Sox into a tie in the eighth, but a few moments later Smith encountered his series of unhappy incidents.

Most unexpectedly, Erickson doubled. Hack bunted, but Lodigiani and Smith got confused about fielding the ball and it rolled for a hit. Glen Russell, batting for Waitkus, walked, filling the bases with none out. Novikoff contributed a hopper to Lodigiani, forcing Erickson at the plate. Smith then bruised Nicholson on the right arm, forcing Hack to score the winning run. Dallessandro forced Russell at the plate, and the Cubs' attack for the day was concluded on Herman's fly to center.

LEE AND OLSEN PITCH TODAY IN COMISKEY PARK

South Side Battle to Start at 2 P. M.

The spring city series shifts to Comiskey park this afternoon, starting time, 2 o'clock. Thornton Lee and Johnny Humphries are slated to pitch for the Sox; Vern Olsen and Vance Page are the Cub nominees.

The outfield bleachers in Wrigley field were filled to capacity yesterday. Folks there were taking no chances on grandstand shade when warm sunshine was to be had in abundance, and at lower prices.

Manager Jimmy Wilson said yesterday that he had not been depressed by Dizzy Dean's miserable performance in Wichita Thursday. He said he knew why Diz looked so helpless but didn't reveal the reason. "He's going to help us a great deal" said Skipper Jim.

Manager James Dykes of the White Sox, probably stung to the quick by the sarcasm of Dean, donned his baseball suit yesterday. It was the third time this spring he has been in his work clothes.

Mrs. Grace Comiskey and family, owners of the White Sox, were in a box near the Sox dugout.

Bill Knickerbocker was out of the Sox' leadoff job yesterday on account of a sore thumb.

Bill Herman, out of the Cub lineup in the road final in Wichita because of backache, was on the job yesterday, feeling somewhat better.

The playing area in Wrigley field shows little evidence of having been the Bears' gridiron last fall and early winter. Left field is a little gray, but nothing a little sprinkling and sunshine won't cure. The newly constructed infield is in fine shape.

The Cubs wore their new caps and windbreakers, but will not unveil their 1941 romper suits until the National league opener next Tuesday.

Paul Erickson, the Cubs' winning pitcher, was welcomed home to Zion last night by an enthusiastic group of baseball fans, who were led by Mayor Richard F. Hire and Police Chief Alven Rusch.

1941 Baseball Comes to Chicago

Three new members of the 1941 White Sox cast who hope to have a hand today in making the 13th game of the spring series unlucky for the Cubs in Comiskey park. Left to right: George Dickey, catcher; Bill Knickerbocker, second baseman, and Dario Lodigiani, third baseman.

Four Cubs who will be introduced to the rabid south side fandom today. Left to right: Clyde McCullough, catcher; Lou Novikoff, outfielder; Ed Waitkus, first baseman, and Lou Stringer, shortstop.

Manager Jimmy Wilson (left) talking with Bill Lee after the veteran Cub pitcher ended his long holdout siege while his mates were playing the White Sox. Salary terms were kept secret by club officials. Wilson made his debut as Cub manager yesterday in Wrigley field a successful one when the Sox fell, 2 to 1. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

WHIRLAWAY IS FIRST BY NOSE OVER BLUE PAIR

Lexington, Ky., April 11 (AP).—Whirlaway, Warren Wright's Kentucky Derby candidate, won his second straight minor race and his third of the year today when he nosed out C. V. Van Meter's Blue Pair, another Derby eligible, in the A. J. Joyner handicap at Keeneland.

Whirlaway did not win easily, but it was perhaps his most impressive victory as a 3 year old. Far back during the early running, the son of Blenheim II. outgamed Blue Pair and stuck his nose in front just at the wire. He was timed in 1:11 3-5. My Bill took third money, ahead of Valdina Groom and Alaking.

My Bill set the pace with Blue Pair second and Whirlaway fourth until they turned for home. Then the Derby candidates began to move and easily passed their rivals.

Ducky Pond Named Bates Baseball, Football Coach

Lewiston, Me., April 11 [Special].—Raymond W. [Ducky] Pond, Yale university's former head football coach, today was appointed baseball and football coach at Bates college. According to plans, Pond will not take over the baseball job until next spring. Wendell D. Mansfield, who is in charge of the Bates nine and coach of football, will continue with the baseball team this spring before transferring to Springfield college, where he will become head football coach in the fall.

Auker, Allen, Caster Will Face Cards for Browns

St. Louis, Mo., April 11 (AP).—Manager Fred Haney today announced that Elden Auker, Johnny Allen, and George Caster will take three inning turns on the mound for the Browns tomorrow in the first of two exhibition games with the Cardinals.

INDIANA BEATS ILLINOIS, 2-1, IN BIG TEN OPENER

Dunker Fans Six Illini; Master in Pinches.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bloomington, Ind., April 11.—Don Dunker, a 190 pounder from nearby Seymour, Ind., pitched Indiana university to a 2 to 1 victory this afternoon over the University of Illinois in the opening game of the Western conference campaign. The Illini shared the 1940 Big Ten championship with Northwestern, each winning nine games and losing three.

Gets Out of Hole in Eighth.

Illinois got the first man on base in five of nine innings and outhit the Hoosiers, 9 to 3, but Dunker was the master in the pinches. The big right hander had a sharp hook to mix with his blazer and he struck out six, getting Paul Milosevich, the Illini slugger twice.

Dunker cleaned up a bad situation in the eighth, after Illinois had scored and had the bases full, by getting William Brewer, Illinois catcher, on a line smash to left center field. Then, in the ninth, after Boyd Bartley singled with two out and Bob Wahl survived on John Logan's error, Liz Astroth grounded to Bob Dro, who made the force play at third base, unassisted.

Indiana Scores in First.

Indiana scored in the first inning. Charles Shumaker was hit by a pitched ball. He stole second and Don Danielson brought him in with a ground single to left field. Dunker's single with two out in the fifth scored the Hoosiers' winning run. Dro walked to start the inning and took second on a sacrifice by Chester Francis. Guy Wellman grounded to Capt. Alan Grant, Illini pitcher, but Dunker walloped the second pitch.

Indiana .....100 010 00*—2

Errors—Bessone, Logan, Kosman, Dro. Runs batted in—Danielson, Dunker, Drish. Two base hits—Milosevich. Sacrifice hits—Francis [2]; Danielson. Struck out—Grant, 2; Dunker, 6. Bases on balls—Grant, 2; Dunker, 2. Hit by pitcher—Shumaker [Grant]. Double plays—Dunker to Danielson to Hoffman; Astroth to Milosevich. Stolen base—Shumaker. Left on bases—Illinois, 11; Indiana, 5. Umpires—Cramer and Runnate.

Illinois and Indiana play their second game of the series tomorrow. These rivals thus have a week's start on six other Big Ten teams which are scheduled to open next Friday. Iowa and Michigan will meet Indiana and Chicago, respectively, two weeks from today.

The conference is divided into two sections. Michigan, Ohio State, and Purdue are the other teams in the eastern section with Illinois and Indiana. The other universities form the western section. Each team has eight games within its section and rotates with two others each season from the other division.

N. U. LOSES, 22-6.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., April 11 [Special].—Alabama, Southeastern conference champions, overcame Northwestern's early four run lead and defeated the Wildcats 22 to 6, today. Because three of his pitchers have developed sore arms, Coach Stan Klores was forced to start Ash Arnold, catcher last year, on the mound.

Meschuk replaced Arnold in the second but was hit freely. Irv Porth finished the game. Russ Wendland and Irv Madsen led Northwestern hitters with three singles each in five tries. Score:

Northwestern .....041 000 001— 6 11 1
Alabama .....082 343 20*—22 24 4

Batteries—Arnold, Meschuk, Porth and Gargas; Wyonic and Oglesby.

Georgia Held to 29 Hits, but Edges Out Auburn, 30-4

Athens, Ga., April 11 (AP).—The University of Georgia went on a hitting and scoring jamboree today to smother Auburn 30 to 4, in the opening Southeastern conference baseball game of the season for the two teams. Georgia collected 29 hits, including two home runs, nine doubles and a triple.

An Easter Prayer.

O, Christ, who glorified the cross
And transformed all the gloom
Of death into eternal life
By rising from the tomb,
Be resurrected in our hearts
Upon this Easter day,
That we may bravely take our cross
And follow in Thy way.

Thus, let us, Lord, be crucified
To matters of this earth,
Yet ever resurrected
To things of lasting worth,
Like sharing, loving, serving,
And glorifying Thee;
O, help us live this Easter life
Until eternity!

VETERAN GOES TO WORK AFTER HOLDOUT SIEGE

Amount of Salary Is Not Disclosed.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Bill Lee, former ace of the Cub pitching staff, a 22 game winner in 1938, ended his holdout siege during the third inning of yesterday's game in Wrigley field. Three innings later he was in uniform, asking to pitch tomorrow's game against the Sox.

No terms were announced and General Manager James T. Gallagher, who has conducted all negotiations with the handsome right hander, said that no information would be given out. It was reported, however, that Lee agreed to sign a $10,000 contract, possibly with hints, but no promise, that adjustments will be made if Bill regains the form he displayed prior to last season. He won 9 and lost 17 in 1940.

He Feels He's Ready.

Lee last year suffered from a complication of ailments. During the off season operations corrected these handicaps, Bill believes. He appears 20 pounds under the weight he carried after the 1940 exhibition season. He reported that he has been working out regularly, and his request to pitch tomorrow was accepted as evidence that he feels he has done much besides tend his beagle hounds while remaining away from the team during the training period.

Lee's holdout stand was predicated on a demand for $15,000. Last season he received $17,500 to round out a three year total of $57,500.

Bill Asked for $15,000.

Bill, according to his own history of the case, was offered $10,000. He sent back the contract with a demand for $15,000. Gallagher countered with a compromise of $12,500. When Lee continued to balk, the $2,500 boost was withdrawn. Then the holdout settled down to a deadlock which stood firm until yesterday's get-together.

Lee worked out in the bull pen, starting during the Sox sixth inning. Today in Comiskey park he will do some running, fly shagging, and some more throwing.

Lee's capitulation reduced the Cub holdouts to one—Hank Leiber. Hank's status has not been discussed since he attended the Athletics-Cubs exhibition game in Tucson, Ariz., on April 4.

Bruins Battle Tonight to Win Stanley Cup

Detroit, Mich., April 11 (AP).—The Boston Bruins rested today, confident they would win the Stanley cup tomorrow night by finishing off Detroit's Red Wings in the fourth game of the series.

The Bruins virtually decided the series here last night by scoring their third straight victory, 4 to 2.

Manager Jack Adams of Detroit said Harold Jackson will be back on defense and that Alex Motter would play center on a line with Carl Liscombe and probably Eddie Wares. Jackson was benched in the last game. Wares, who has been suffering from an injured shoulder, will replace Ken Kilrea if he is ready to play.

If the Bruins win tomorrow they will become the first team to take the cup in four straight games.

All the more uncomfortable from the Red Wings' point of view is the fact they haven't been able to take the Bruins' measure in 12 games since April 5, 1940.

Malaya Sailors Meet Czechs in Benefit Soccer Match

New York, April 11 [Special].—The soccer team of the damaged British battleship Malaya now undergoing repairs in New York navy yard, Brooklyn, today was matched with Prague, National league Czecho-Slovakian eleven, for a benefit game at Thrift oval, Yorkville, Sunday afternoon. The proceeds will go to British and Czech war relief funds.

GOLF SEASON IS ON TODAY WITH CLINIC AT C. A. A.

Metz, Revolta, Cooke and Smith on Program.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Chicago district this afternoon will have its first lesson in golf, when the Chicago Athletic association holds its fifth annual clinic on the game in the club gymnasium, 12 South Michigan avenue. The show will begin at 2:15 o'clock, with Herb Graffis introducing Horton Smith and Dick Metz of Oak Park, Johnny Revolta of Evanston, and Jerry Cooke, the C. A. A.'s own professional.

The C. A. A. clinic is now considered the first tonic of the year for fairway travelers in this area. Annually, the association has brought such stars as Gene Sarazen, Joe Kirkwood, Lloyd Mangrum, and others to inoculate its membership and their friends with the urge to get out and whack a golf ball. Aside from the general incentive, the clinic aims to give prospective swingers a tip or two.

In today's gathering, these suggestions will be given practical demonstrations. Cooke, for instance, will lecture on the value of mechanical gadgets in aiding winter and spring time practice. Smith, regarded as one of the masters of the short game, will give out on chipping and putting, and Revolta, a recovery artist, will concentrate on escapes from sand and rough. Metz is expected to dwell on the shots that helped him win the Chicago Open championship last summer and moved him to indite a book entitled, "The Secret to Par Golf."

Women's District Association Announces Summer Schedule.

Mrs. Andrew D. Collins, president of the Chicago Women's District Golf association yesterday revealed the first complete list of competitions for her organization. The C. W. D. G. A. will hold its annual spring luncheon at 12:30 o'clock on April 29 in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer house. Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE, will be the principal speaker.

The association's own championship, held for the last two years by Ellamae Williams of Medinah, will be decided the week of July 21 at Olympia Fields. The state tournament conducted by the C. W. D. G. A. will be held the week of June 23 at the Danville Country club.

The dates for sectional team play, finals of which will be held on Aug. 1, are June 2, 9, and 16, and July 7 and 14. A complete list of team matches will be mailed to all member clubs in the near future. Registration for all of the association's one day events will close at 11:30 a. m.

The list of CWDGA tournaments follows:

June 4—Intradistrict team match.
June 18—One day tourney at Ridge.
June 23-27—Illinois state tourney at Danville.
July 2—Intradistrict team match.
July 11—One day tourney at Edgewood Valley.
July 16—Mater-Filia tournament at Lake Shore.
July 21-26—CWDGA tournament at Olympia Fields.
July 30—Intradistrict team match.
Aug. 1—Team match finals.
Aug. 11—Pre ladies' annual at Westmoreland.
Aug. 13—Intradistrict team match.
Aug. 25-29—Club championships.
Sept. 5—Championship of Champions at Oak Park.
Sept. 15—Two ball foursome, annual election of officers, and luncheon at Kildeer.

Lincolnshire Professional Plans Free Golf Lessons for Children.

Free lessons by a golf professional may seem paradoxical, but the idea will become a reality this season at the Lincolnshire Country club. The pro in question is Joe Noonan, now in his 15th year at the big south side plant. Joe, however, doesn't consider his idea unfair to other pros, because he will restrict his lessons to children of Lincolnshire members. He will set aside an hour each Friday afternoon, beginning late this month, for instruction to youngsters.

THREE PAIRS OF BROTHERS SEEK BERTHS ON NINE

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 11 [Special].—For the first time in history brothers are seeking places on the Western State Teachers college baseball team. Three brother combinations are making the bids. They include: Harry and Ivan Fleser, Hudsonville, outfielders; Delbert and Bill Loranger, Fordson, catchers, and Don and Dick Newell, Coldwater, pitchers and outfielders. Three of the six probably will be named for the first trip of the season next week.

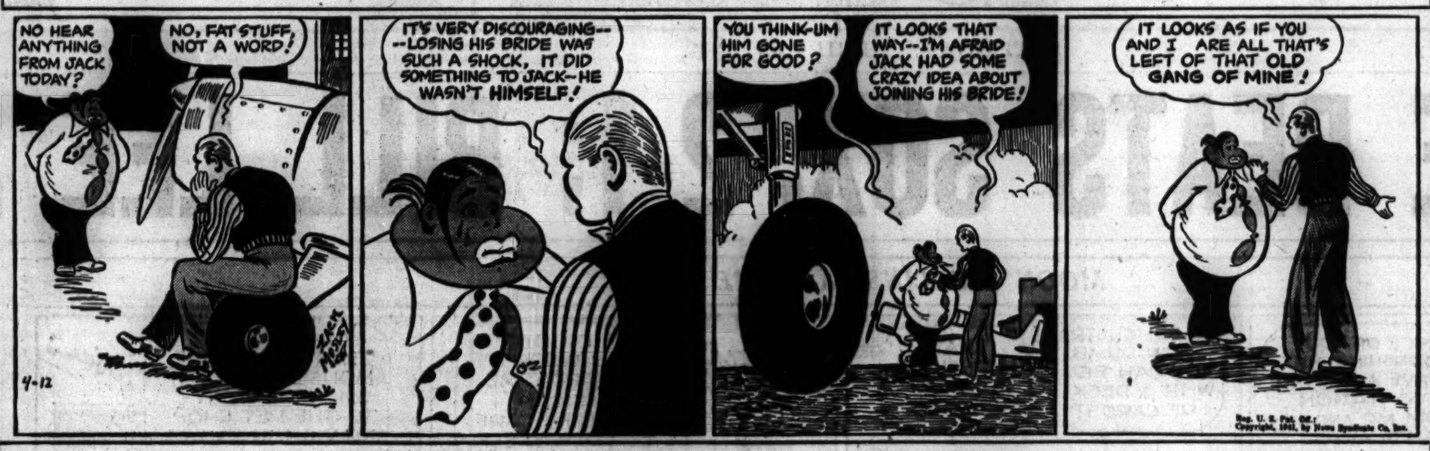
SMILIN' JACK—DOWNWIND FACES THE FACTS



TERRY AND THE PIRATES—PARTY LINE

Early Season on Pike Will Open Tuesday

BY BOB BECKER.

Many Chicago fishermen soon will be heading north for their first walleyed pike fishing of the year in the Fox and Wolf river country of Wisconsin. These waters will be opened Tuesday morning. The regular pike season doesn't start in other Wisconsin fishing waters until May 15.

In giving fishermen this early pike season in only a few counties of the state, the Wisconsin laws state there shall be an open season on walleyes, white bass, rock bass, crappies, and pickerel in the following areas:

"Lake Poygan in Winnebago and Waushara counties; in Lake Winneconne and Big and Little Butte des Mort in Winnebago county; the Fox river in Green lake, Waushara, Outagamie, and Winnebago counties and downstream to the dam at De Pere in Brown county; in the Wolf river in Winnebago, Waupaca, and Outagamie counties, and in Shawano county upstream to the dam in the city of Shawano; in Lake Puckaway in Green Lake county, and in Lake Winnebago in the counties of Calumet, Fond du Lac, and Winnebago from April 15 to Dec. 1."

1940 Nonresident Licenses Good.

A number of Illinois fishermen have been wondering if their 1940 nonresident Wisconsin licenses are good for this early season fishing. The answer is yes. A. J. Robinson, acting chief game warden of Wisconsin, said yesterday both the old 1940 and the new 1941 licenses are legal for this April fishing. Any fisherman who still has his 1940 fishing license will note that it's good until April 30. New licenses—now on sale—are dated May 1. Wardens will honor both for the early pike fishing.

Many Chicago fishermen are planning combination trips into Wisconsin to get walleyes and smelt. This is the big week of the smelt runs at Oconto, Wis.; Marinette, Wis.; Menominee, Mich., and Escanaba, Mich. Oconto held its annual smelt festival last week-end, and F. J. Horak of that town reports that thousands of visitors enjoyed the festival and still are dipping a few fish.

Estimate in Tonnage.

The silvery smelt are invading the streams near these cities in such numbers that residents estimate them in tonnage figures. There is no limit on the number of smelt a fishermen can catch or take home. One may take 25 pounds, or even 100 or 500 pounds if he has the room and facilities to get them back home.

Army, Navy Boxers Open Series of Matches May 17

New York, April 11 (AP).—After conferring with Gene Tunney, sports director for the navy, Promoter Mike Jacobs announced today that the first of a series of boxing shows between teams of army and navy fighters would be held in the Jacksonville, Fla., ball park on May 17. The teams will consist of professional boxers now enrolled in the two services. Prominent fighters will referee the bouts.

Century of Progress Pin Tourney Opens Tonight

An opening ceremony, following which teams from Whiting, Ind., will bowl, is to inaugurate Samuelson's ninth annual Century of Progress Women's tournament at Samuelson's Arcade, 3947 North Pulaski road, tonight. Entry in the tournament is 496 teams, 965 doubles, and 1,979 singles and the prize list is $6,389, an increase of more than 50 per cent over last year's record total. The tournament will continue thru May 28.

Globe Trotters to Meet College Five for Charity

A duel between Joe Stampf and Bernie Price, star centers, is expected in tomorrow afternoon's basketball game between a team of former college stars and the Harlem Globe Trotters in the 8th regiment armory, 35th street and Giles avenue. Receipts will go to the Provident hospital's 50th anniversary fund.

Colan Arrives Today for Bout with McBride

Johnny Colan, New York middleweight who scored a one round knockout over Settimo Terracina in Chicago Stadium last Friday, will return today for a 10 round bout with Frank McBride, former north side Golden Gloves qualifier, in Marigold Gardens Monday. Ernie Derho, Minneapolis welterweight, is paired with Tito Taylor in a five round semi-windup. Matches of four rounds will bring together Richard Rigali and George De Gido, junior lightweights; Tony Sopko and Ralph Guajardo, welterweights, and Leonard Bostwick and Johnny Trotter, light heavyweights.

Leo Rodak, Chicago junior lightweight, and Jackie Wilson of Pittsburgh are training for the renewal of a feud which started four years ago. They meet in Cincinnati April 21 in a 10 round bout which will be their sixth meeting. Rodak scored a victory in 1938 and again last year, but three previous encounters ended in draw decisions, one at 15 rounds. . . . Nick Castiglione, west side lightweight, has opened workouts in Trafton's gymnasium for a 10 round match with Ervin Berlier in New Orleans April 21. . . . Davey Day, Chicago 135 pounder, who refused to go thru with a scheduled contest against Quentin [Baby] Breese in the Stadium next Wednesday, yesterday said he is willing to fight Breese later. Promoter Bill Rand explained there is no date available in the west side arena until after a prospective middleweight title encounter between Tony Zale and Challenger Al Hostak May 16.

Frankie Kidd, Downers Grove welterweight, beat Robert Taylor of the Savoy Athletic club in a five round amateur bout last night in Madison Athletic club. Kidd was floored in the final round, but retaliated with a knockdown before the fight ended. George McFarland of Trafton's gymnasium was awarded a two round technical knockout over Chuck Kourek when the Northwest Athletic club boxer was cut over the left eye in a head-on collision. Dr. Kyle C. Hawkins, examining physician, took several stitches to close the wound. Thirteen hundred attended. Other results:

Vince Calzaretta, Palos park, beat Harold Robinson, Savoy [6], 175.
Ralph Holbrook, Madison A. C., beat Jim Fargo, Winnetka [3], 175.
Al Adams, Morgan Park, beat Ed Baka, Cragin A. C. [3], 118.
Emil Kolo, unattached, beat Julian Ford, Northwest A. C. [3], 135.
Jim Saranello, Madison A. C., beat Celestino Voldes, Filipino-American A. C. [3], 112.
Jim Baratta, Madison A. C., beat Bill Jordan, Savoy [3], 135.

YANKS FARM BOROWY.

New York, April 11 (AP).—Hank Borowy, right handed pitcher from Fordham university who was given a long trial with the Yankees this spring, today was returned to the Newark Bears of the International league.

40 Gymnasts Bid for NCAA Titles Tonight

Forty of the best collegiate gymnasts in the country, including defending champions in five events, will participate in the fourth annual National Collegiate Athletic association meet in Bartlett gymnasium at the University of Chicago at 8 o'clock tonight.

Illinois, National A. A. U. and Big Ten title holder, will defend the N. C. A. A. team championship won last year.

Three Others Are Strong.

The three other teams expected to give the Illini a battle are Minnesota, Big Ten runner-up and 1940 Big Ten champion; Temple university, eastern intercollegiate champion, and the University of Chicago, third in the Big Ten this year and former N. C. A. A. champion.

Both the United States naval and military academies, usually strong contenders, are missing because of defense activities at Annapolis and West Point.

Three Champions Missing.

New N. C. A. A. individual champions will be crowned in three events, succeeding two Navy gymnasts and Joe Giallombardo, Illinois tumbling ace, who has been graduated. The other events are the rope climb and flying rings, with Sam Fogel of Temple and Louis Fina of Illinois expected to fight it out for Midshipman Bill Butler's rings title. Jack Adkins, Illinois' Big Ten champion; Newton Loken of Minnesota, and Al Robertson of Chicago, are the three leading aspirants for the tumbling crown. Defending champions are:

Paul Fina, Illinois, all around; Norman Boardman, Temple, horizontal

RHEINGOLDS HIT 3,054, KOENIGS GET 3,022 IN ABC

Chicago Teams Take 2d and 3d at St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., April 11 [Special].—Games of 986, 1,010, and 1,058, a total of 3,054, gave the Rheingold Beers of Chicago second place in the five-man event of the American Bowling Congress tournament late tonight. Four members of the team went over the 600 mark. Walt Wisniewski hit 650; Vic Malecki, 636; Leo Bona, 628, and Ed Plewa, 601, while Stan Korbas contributed 539.

Crossing alleys with the Rheingolds, the Koenig Braus, third place team of the Chicago Classic league, tossed in a 3,022 series, good for third place, to give the fans their biggest thrill of the current meet. The Koenigs were paced by Joe Hunter, who totaled 672.

It was the first time in the history of the ABC that two teams rolling side by side had beaten the 3,000 mark.

Leads South End League.

The Rheingold team is leading the South End Traveling league with a 960 average and hit 3,112 last week to take second place in the National K. of C. tournament at Indianapolis. Wisniewski is leading the K. of C. national tournament with 726.

While the Chicago teams were crowding the leaders, Glenn Meyers of Columbus, O., took sixth place and the Oak Terrace five of Highwood, Ill., landed ninth with 2,947. The third game of the Oak Terrace team, 1,080, was the third highest of the meet.

Monarchs Roll 2,855.

The accomplishment of the Rheingold and Koenig teams on the second of the night's two squads satisfied the crowd, which earlier had been disappointed by the failure of the defending champions, the Monarch Beers of the Classic league, to roll more than an ordinary series. The Monarchs, however, were high on the opening squad with 2,855, and were followed by the Schlitz with 2,814; Fox DeLuxe of the North End Traveling league with 2,790, and the Classic Pabst Blue Ribbons with 2,760.

Indians Beat Giants, 7-1; Get 4 Home Runs

Richmond, Va., April 11 (AP).—Four Cleveland home runs and Bob Feller's fine hurling gave the Indians a 7 to 1 triumph today over the New York Giants.

Feller held the Giants to four hits and one run in his seven-inning chore, the last before he takes the mound to open the American league season for Cleveland Tuesday. Joe Heving pitched a hitless eighth and ninth.

Outfielder Gerald Walker lined two homers in the first and fifth innings, driving in five runs. Home runs in the second inning by Outfielder Roy Weatherly and Catcher Gene Desautels accounted for the other two Cleveland tallies. All the hits were obtained off southpaw Cliff Melton, who was relieved by Hal Schumacher after pitching seven innings.

The victory was the Indians' eighth in 11 starts against the Giants.

Score:

Cleveland	320	020	000	7	11	1
New York [N.]	100	000	000	1	4	1

Batteries—Feller, Heving and Desautels; Melton, Schumacher and Hartnett.

TIGERS BEAT REDS, 15-3.

Dayton, O., April 11 (AP).—Unleashing an 18 hit attack, including two homers by Hank Greenberg and one by Rudy York, the Detroit Tigers overwhelmed the world champion Cincinnati Reds, 15 to 3, today.

Each of Greenberg's homers—in the first and fifth—found a mate on base. York connected immediately after the big outfielder had rounded the bases for the second time.

Detroit	201	035	40*	15	18	0

Batteries—Pearson, Thompson, Hutchings and Baker; Benton, Newsom and Tebbetts, Sullivan.

PIRATES, 18; ATHLETICS, 13.

Hutchinson, Kas., April 11 (AP).—Hitters had another field day today as the Pittsburgh Pirates won their third straight game from the Philadelphia Athletics, 18-13.

Bob Elliott, Eible Fletcher, and Virgil Davis got homers for the Pirates, and Pitcher Lee Ross hit one for the A's. Frankie Hayes collected five hits for the losers. Score:

Pittsburgh	214	210	404	18	20	4
Philadelphia	004	220	023	13	16	4

Batteries—Bowman and Davis, Schultz; Ross, Ferrick, C. Mills, and Hayes.

ORIOLES BEAT RED SOX, 5-4.

Baltimore, Md., April 11 (AP).—The Baltimore Orioles of the International league rallied for three runs in the ninth inning today to defeat the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 4. Score:

Dodger Streak Ends at Home; Yanks Win, 7-6

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 11 (AP).—The Brooklyn Dodgers, who had beaten the Yankees four straight on the road, fell down on the job in their first appearance before the home folks today. Charley Keller's second home run of the afternoon, with two out in the ninth, gave the American leaguers a 7 to 6 victory before a crowd of 13,097.

Keller hit his deciding homer off Bill Swift, who had come in to check the Yanks in the seventh after they had scored four runs off Tex Carleton. Selkirk opened the ninth with a single to center, but Swift appeared to have got himself out of the hole when Joe Di Maggio hit into a double play. Keller was the next man up, and promptly hit the ball over the scoreboard.

SENATORS, 4; PHILS, 1.

Martinsville, Va., April 11 (AP).—Ken Chase came thru in the pinches today and the Washington Senators beat the Phillies, 4 to 1, to even the series. The Phils left 12 men stranded, most of them in the late innings, but their only run came on Danny Litwhiler's homer in the fourth inning. Score:

Washington	000	000	400	4	8	0
Philadelphia	000	100	000	1	6	1

Batteries—Chase and Ferrell. Pearson, Hughes, and Livingston, Warren.

CARDINALS, 8; TULSA, 5.

Tulsa, Okla., April 11 (AP).—Terry Moore's two home runs accounted for half the St. Louis Cardinals' total in their 8 to 5 victory over Tulsa of the Texas league today. The first, in the third inning with a man on base, tied the score and the second, in the fifth also with a man on, gave the National leaguers a lead they never relinquished. Don Padgett of the Cards hit a homer in the ninth. Score:

St. Louis [N.L.]	002	032	001	8	10	0
Tulsa	020	000	003	5	9	3

Batteries—Kimball, Lyons, Krist and Padgett; Campbell, Sefani and Montgomery.

Find Former Columbia Star, Children Asphyxiated

New York, April 11 (AP).—Malcolm Bleecker, 34 years old, captain of Columbia's 1929 football team, his daughter Barbara, 6; his son, Anthony, 3, and their cocker spaniel were found dead today in the gas filled kitchen of the Bleecker home in Queens. Police said that Bleecker, a star tackle in his college days and in recent years an insurance salesman, was a suicide.

Gov. Green to See Cubs Battle Cardinals Friday

Springfield, Ill., April 11 (AP).—Gov. Green today said he would be too busy to attend a major league season opener on Tuesday, but would be in the stands at Sportsmen's park, St. Louis, Friday for the Cardinal's first home game with the Chicago Cubs. He will attend the game as a guest of President Sam Breadon of the Cardinals.

Writers Select Reds to Repeat; Place Cubs 5th

New York, April 11 (AP).—The Cincinnati Reds were chosen today to repeat in the National league by 69 of 83 sports writers in Major league cities who participated in the annual preseason poll of the Associated Press. Of the remainder, 12 picked Brooklyn and two came out for the Cardinals.

On a point basis with 8 for a first place vote, 7 for second, 6 for third, etc., the Reds received a total of 649 points.

The Dodgers, who were picked for every place from first to sixth, obtained 558 points, 51 more than the Cardinals, whose vote was spread from first to seventh, but skipped the sixth place slot. The Cubs were consigned to fifth, just behind the Pirates.

Results of the poll, including the number of votes from each team for each place, and the total points figured on an 8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

Team and 1940 finish—	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	Pts.
Cincinnati, 1st	69	13	1						649

Zale and Duncan to Seek Track Record Tomorrow

Wally Zale and Ted Duncan will attempt to reduce the track record driving against time as a feature of the seven-event midget auto racing program tomorrow night in the International Amphitheater. The present mark is 9.80 seconds set early in the season by Harry MacQuinn. Fifty-two drivers are listed for the time trials. Twelve will qualify in four eliminations at 15 laps for the 40 lap final. The eight fastest cars in the trials will line up inversely to the speed of their time tests in a 15 lap handicap.

De Kalb Nine Held Hitless by Badger Hurler

De Kalb, Ill., April 11 [Special].—Johnny Saxer pitched a no hit, no run game this afternoon as Wisconsin opened its baseball season by beating Da Kalb Teachers, 8 to 0. Only four men reached base off the little right hander and only one reached second. Saxer struck out nine and walked only one. Score:

Wisconsin	102	030	200	8	14	2

Batteries—J. Saxer and W. Saxer; Peppler, Ahlin and Jargi, Gerhardt.

DEPAUW, 7; MAROONS, 4.

DePauw defeated Chicago baseball team, 7 to 4, on Greenwood field yesterday in a game in which the Maroons contributed to their own downfall by making 12 errors. The visitors gained their margin in the sixth inning when, after two were out, two singles and three errors on one play, cleared the bases.

The Maroons scored twice in the eighth and had two on bases when Armand Donian flied out to end the inning. In the ninth they filled the bases on two passes and a single, but failed to score. The teams will meet again at 2:30 this afternoon. Score:

DePauw	000	023	101	—7	7	3

Batteries—Johnson and Niemann; Lopatka, Garverich, Leach and Basich.

MICHIGAN, 13; MARYLAND, 5.

College Park, Md., April 11 [Special].—Michigan's baseball team defeated the University of Maryland, 13 to 5, in the first game of the Wolverines' annual southern trip here today. Mickey Stoddard, Michigan right hander, went the route. Bud Chamberlain, Wolverine third baseman, hit two triples and a single, to lead the Michigan 14 hit attack. Score:

Batteries—Stoddard and Harms; Fulton, Hunt, Crouthamel and Bransford, Gunther.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE LOSES, 4-0.

Jacksonville, Ill., April 11 [Special].—Iowa State Teachers' college spoiled Illinois college's 1941 baseball opener here today by scoring a 4 to 0 shutout. The two teams will meet again tomorrow.

PURDUE, 5; MACOMB, 4.

Lafayette Ind., April 11 [Special].—Gilbert Lester's wildness in the ninth inning cost him a pitcher's battle with Walter Leifheit this afternoon as Purdue defeated the Macomb Teachers, 5 to 4. With the bases loaded, Lester walked in the winning run as he threw four straight balls to Capt. Bud Fisher of Purdue.

The visitors scored all three runs on a single, walk, hit batsman, and an error in the fourth inning. Leifheit led the Purdue attack with a double and a pair of singles in four trips to the plate. Score:

Purdue	002	110	001	—5	6	3

Batteries—Lester and Page; Leifheit and Fisher.

LOVE OF RED NELL FADES IN HAZE OF A LIFE IN PRISON

Eddie English, Criminal, Coming Back 'Home.'

Back in 1910 she was a burglar's widow. Her name was Red Nell Mc Carthy [some folks called her Diamond Nell.] One of his names was Eddie English. He had mechanical genius but all he ever used it for was breaking out of prisons.

Eddie English.

For the love of Red Nell and to satisfy her craving for sparkling gems, English thought out a grandiose scheme to blackmail prominent Chicagoans of the 1910 era. On his list of prospective victims were Potter Palmer Jr., Hobart C. Chatfield-Taylor, Mrs. Molly Netcher Newberry, Kellogg Fairbank, and Harold F. Mc Cormick.

Scheme Ends in Prison.

He didn't get far with it. His first letter was to Dr. D. K. Pearsons and demanded $37,000 with a threat of death. The police ran down English and he went to Joliet prison. He was already a noted criminal. He had served three years in the Ohio penitentiary, beginning in 1895, when he was only 16. He had broken out of the Baltimore jail in 1898 and had been sentenced as a robber to Joliet later in the same year.

He was released in 1903 and went to Minnesota. In a few months he was tried for burglary and sentenced to Stillwater prison. He was returned to Joliet in 1907, at the end of the Minnesota term, and remained in Joliet until January, 1910.

Only three months later he was sentenced to Joliet again for the Pearsons threat. Paroled in May, 1914, he was returned as a parole violator. He was discharged Sept. 25, 1916. That time he remained out a year. He was returned to Joliet in October, 1917, on a conviction of swindling. Each time he got out he fell into trouble trying to please Red Nell.

Saws Thru Sawproof Bars.

On May 23, 1920, English and another prisoner sawed the bars of their cell—brand new bars that were claimed to be sawproof—and escaped. It was nearly two years later when English, under the name Otto Cole, was convicted of murder in Omaha and sentenced to life in the Nebraska penitentiary.

Nineteen years bring the story of Eddie English up to date. Yesterday the Nebraska parole board announced he would be released—and sent back to Joliet as a fugitive.

Somebody asked English if he expected to see Red Nell again.

"Red Nell?" he said. "I haven't thought about her for 15 years. Joliet's where I'm going."

At 61 Eddie English has spent 36 years in prisons.

CHARGES COUNCIL SEEKS TO RULE ELECTION BOARD

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki charged yesterday that the city council seeks to control the board of election commissioners by securing domination of the board's purse strings.

He made his statement after it was announced that the corporation counsel had prepared a bill for submission to the legislature giving the aldermen control over expenditures by the election board and Municipal courts. Present state law obligates the council to appropriate the amount submitted by the board, and empowers judges of the Municipal court to determine the number of bailiffs and clerks employed and their salaries.

Joseph B. Grossman, first assistant corporation counsel, said the bill is designed to eliminate the annual discrepancy between the amount of money the election commissioners demand and the amount the council believes reasonable.

Judge Jarecki said the present law was intended to keep elections untrammeled, unhampered and free from political domination.

TRIBUNE EXPERTS WILL REVIEW HAT PARADE ON W-G-N

A description of the Easter Hat parade will be broadcast over W-G-N at 12:30 p. m. tomorrow. India Moffett, society editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and Rea Seeger, fashion editor, will be the hat critics for W-G-N. They will post themselves near St. Chrysostom's church on the near north side and describe the newest in fashions. The W-G-N short wave mobile unit will be used for the broadcast.

Matins of St. Chrysostom—a liturgy dating to the fourth century—with an Easter sermon in English, will be broadcast from 9 to 10 a. m. tomorrow from St. Andrew's Greek Orthodox church, 5668 Winthrop avenue, during the Chicagoland Church hour on W-G-N. The Rev. Dr. Athenagoras Kokkinakis, pastor, will intone the service and preach the sermon. The music will feature ancient Byzantine litanies and hymns, arranged by Minas Booras.

The service will constitute an Easter greeting from the Orthodox church to the churches of America. The Orthodox Easter will be observed on April 20.

Boys Find Out How a Gun Works: Shoot a Passerby

William Tonkin, 8 years old, and his brother, Thomas, 7, took their father's shotgun to an alley behind their home at 2425 Jackson boulevard yesterday to "see how it worked." William fired it with a string tied to the trigger. Mrs. Mildred Downey, 24, of 2434 Gladys avenue, was wounded about the head and shoulders as she walked by.

MERCY CAR HIT AND WRECKED IN TROLLEY CRASH

A Racine avenue police squad car, taking an unconscious woman victim of an auto accident to County hospital, was wrecked yesterday in a collision involving a street car and two automobiles.

The woman, Mrs. Theresa Pacione, 40 years old, 2345 Huron street, was in the car of Policemen Leonard Moore and Eugene Offerman when it was halted by traffic at Wood street in Ogden avenue. Frank Nardella of 662 North May street drew to a stop behind the squad car. Then a street car rammed the back of Nardella's car, wrecking it and the squad car and injuring Nardella. A Warren avenue squad car took Mrs. Pacione to the hospital.

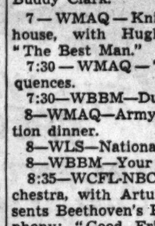
Herbert Van Ort, 49, of 7501 Douglas street, Summit, died in Southtown hospital of injuries suffered Wednesday when he was struck in Archer avenue at 76th street by an automobile driven by Henry Ponzek, 7606 60th place, Summit.

Robert Newman, 63, of 10429 Normal avenue, a druggist, died in South End hospital of injuries suffered Thursday when he was struck by the automobile of a hit-run driver at 103d street and Normal avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 222 persons had been killed in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 168 were killed in Chicago where 5,843 were injured in the same period.

CIO BOSS QUILL BUYS HIMSELF A BIGGER PISTOL

New York, April 11 [Special].—Michael J. Quill, head of the CIO Transport Workers' union, bought a new .38 caliber automatic pistol today to replace a weapon of lesser caliber.



Michael J. Quill. [Acme Photo.]

Quill, who produced the necessary permit, purchased the new weapon from a dealer established directly back of police headquarters. The new pistol was too large for the shoulder holster in which Quill carried his old one, so he had to buy a new holster.

Quill recently was accused by Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.] of being a communist.

Wife of Des Plaines Fire Captain Drowned in Well

Des Plaines police yesterday recovered the body of Mrs. Irma Anna Stangor, 45 years old, wife of Capt. Benjamin Stangor of the Des Plaines fire department, from a cistern at the rear of their home, 1275 Thatcher avenue, in the suburb. Stangor told police his wife left home shortly after midnight.

MEAT MARKET IS LOOTED.

Eight turkeys, 25 chickens, 35 hams, and 250 pounds of pork were stolen yesterday by burglars who broke into John Hahn's meat market at 2315 North Cicero avenue.

SLOT MACHINE NOISE BECOMES A COURT ISSUE

Policeman Phillip Dore of the Brighton Park station insists he can identify a slot machine, sight unseen, by its sound. Attorney Nate Lawrence insists that the ears aren't enough.

Policeman Dore appeared before Judge George B. Weiss yesterday as the complainant against Max Turek, owner of a tavern at 3808 South Ashland avenue. Dore said he was in Turek's tavern Thursday when he heard a slot machine clicking and whirring, followed the sound to Turek's living quarters in the rear, and there confiscated the machine.

Attorney Lawrence, moving to suppress the evidence, said Policeman Dore was only guessing that the noise was made by a slot machine, and had no right in Turek's living quarters. Judge Weiss continued the case to April 24, when he will decide whether what a policeman can hear is evidence.

Auto Thieves Make Victim Beat Path to Cops' Door

Both the East Chicago avenue police and Maurice P. Angland, a manufacturer, are growing weary of Angland's "car trouble." It started Tuesday night when a bandit entered Angland's car as he was parking it in front of his home at 75 East Elm street. A few minutes later Angland walked to the police station to report himself minus the car and $2.50. Early yesterday the automobile was recovered at Oak and Rush streets, and was restored to its owner. Last night Angland made another trip to the police station to report that the car had been stolen while parked in front of his home.

PICK RECEIVERS FOR FIDELITY CO. ANNUITY FIRM

Hope to Revamp It to Insurance.

Charleston, W. Va., April 11 (AP).—Two receivers were appointed today for the Fidelity Assurance company of Wheeling upon application of State Auditor Edgar B. Sims, who said he would seek reorganization of the annuity concern into an insurance company.

All other suits against Fidelity were restrained for the reorganization period in the order issued by Circuit Judge Julian F. Bouchelle. The court named State Budget Director H. Isaiah Smith and R. B. Thomas, Charleston attorney, as receivers.

Sims, ex-officio state insurance commissioner, said in a statement that the company cannot meet certain requirements of the federal investment company act of 1940.

Asserts Capital Impaired.

"Furthermore,' he said, "on account of excessive and topheavy sales expenses and the unusual number of demands for cash surrender values, the company has sustained an operating loss for the last two years and the capital structure is now impaired."

The company never has sold insurance policies. Sims said reorganization into an insurance company is the "only solution" of the company's problems.

"If it should be found that the company cannot be reorganized and developed into an insurance company, the assets will be distributed to the contract holders by proper order of the court," the auditor added.

Fidelity operates in 28 states, but the auditor's office said 60 per cent of its estimated 200,000 contracts are held in West Virginia.

Assets of $25,000,000.

Sims said the company owns assets in the amount of nearly $25,000,000.

The company was known as the Fidelity Investment association until the name was changed Dec. 31, 1940. The concern was organized on April 26, 1911.

Sims said that "all contracts sold in series A, B, C, and D seem to have adequate reserves, even at present market value. On contracts sold prior to 1932, if the company were forced into liquidation at actual markets now, there would be a substantial loss."

He pointed out that the contracts carry 4, 4½, and 5 per cent interest accumulations and the "decrease in interest rates in recent years has made it impossible for the company to invest its funds in first line securities.

HAS ILLINOIS CONTRACTS

Fidelity has a substantial number of annuity contracts outstanding in Illinois. A year ago the association's liability on these Illinois contracts amounted to more than 4½ million dollars.

The association's right to sell new contracts in the state was canceled early in 1940 by Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes after the state imposed additional requirements for deposit of funds covering the association's liabilities.

A month ago the association opened discussions with the Illinois insurance department concerning application for a license to operate in the state. However, no formal application was filed.

Midwest Plan Once Drawn.

Efforts of the association to readjust its affairs to meet the stiffer Illinois requirements at one time involved a plan to form a new corporation to take over the middle west business of the association.

The new company was to have been financed by Barnet L. Rosset, president of the Metropolitan Trust company, and Allen G. Messick, financier. Last November, Rosset sued Messick and Fidelity executives for one million dollars, alleging breach of contract. The plan did not materialize.

Escrow Realty Sales Larger Than Year Ago

Dollar volume of realty sales handled in escrow in the first quarter of this year has shown an increase of 89 per cent over the same period last year, Joseph G. Shelly, manager of the escrow department of the Chicago Title and Trust company said yesterday. Sales of houses gained 32 per cent in volume over the first quarter of last year.

Nebraska Natural Gas Asset Sale Approved

Washington, D. C., April 11 (AP).—The Securities and Exchange commission approved today an application by North American Light and Power company under which a subsidiary, Nebraska Natural Gas company, will sell all of its assets to Kansas Pipe Line and Gas company for $1,700,000.

Most Major Markets Will Reopen Today

Major security and commodity markets were closed yesterday in observance of Good Friday. The New York cocoa and wool futures markets will not open until Monday. The London, Toronto, and Montreal securities markets will be closed Easter Monday. Argentine grain markets, closed since Thursday, will reopen Tuesday. With the exceptions mentioned, most major United States securities and commodities markets will be open today as usual.

Fansteel Plant Hums Without U. S. Contracts

A striking picture of how the impact of the armament program has been felt by a company with little or no direct government orders is shown in the highly accelerated operations of the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation of North Chicago.

Robert J. Aitchison, president of Fansteel.

This company, which during the depression days of 1932 had only 74 employés, ranks as a leading producer of tungsten, tantalum, molybdenum and columbium—four rare metals important in armament production.

Today, employment at the company's North Chicago plant numbers 737 workers, with several lines of production now running on a 24 hour schedule. Some 150 new employés have been taken on within the last year.

Cutting Tool Sales Rise.

Robert J. Aitchison, president, said yesterday that the company had realized its largest volume increase in the manufacture of cutting tools, made of tantalum and tungsten carbide. These cutting tools are essential parts of machine tools, production of which has been one of the biggest problems in the armament program.

The importance of a hard and durable cutting tool to the actual machine tool was likened by Aitchison to the relation of the needle to the phonograph.

"With a dull needle, even the best of phonographs will give out discords," he said. "A $25,000 machine tool is worthless without $5 worth of cutting tools to make it operate."

Production Stepped Up.

Aitchison reported that production of these carbide cutting tools during January was eleven times greater than the average rate of production of the first four months of 1940. He said that by May the present rate probably would be doubled.

In all types of metal-cutting machine work, carbide cutting tools, being harder, can be operated at a faster rate than steel tools, Aitchison said. Many of the company's large orders, he said, have been coming from companies engaged in machining shell parts, gun parts and other armament products.

For the production of carbide cutting tools, the Fansteel corporation supplies the tantalum and tungsten carbide, while its subsidiary, the Vascoloy-Ramet corporation, turns out the finished tools.

Markets New Alloy.

During the last four months, the company has placed on the market "tantung" cutting tools, consisting of a patented alloy containing tantalum and tungsten carbide. Aitchison explained that the "tantung" cutting tools afford companies an opportunity to keep in operation old machine tools, which because of their wear may cause the high grade carbide cutting tools to break. The "tantung" cutting tools, he said, are of a lower grade than the regular carbide tools, but still can be operated at a faster speed than steel tools.

Vascoloy-Ramet also manufactures wire dies, produced from tungsten and tantalum carbide. Aitchison predicted that production of these dies probably will play a more important part in armament production as a substitute for diamond dies, of which an acute shortage has recently developed.

The Fansteel corporation recently completed an expansion of its North Chicago facilities with the construction of a new building, which with the installation of new equipment cost $150,000. The building provides facilities for a continuous production of tungsten metal. Besides this expansion, the company also installed a considerable amount of new equipment to meet demands of greater production.

SOUTHERN COAL MEN BOLT; SET UP OWN PARLEY

Split with North on Pay Differential.

New York, April 11 (AP).—Southern operators bolted the Appalachian wage increase of approximately 11 per over terms of a new contract covering 325,000 soft coal miners and a few hours later announced creation of a new negotiating body of their own.

Ebersole Gaines of Mount Hope, W. Va., was elected to head the new organization, to be known as the southern coal operators wage conference.

He said the southern group would renew an offer to grant the miners a wage increase of approximately 11 per cent and to continue negotiations with the CIO United Mine Workers of America to adjust all differences.

The southerners withdrawal from the eight-state conference followed their refusal to accede to a union demand for a $1.40 increase in the basic daily wage which would eliminate an existing 40 cent north-south differential.

Break Brings Charges.

Gaines said the southerners bolted the conference because it was making "no progress" toward reopening the nation's bituminous mines, now closed 11 days.

The break in the conference's ranks precipitated these charges:

By Charles O'Neill, New York, head of the United Eastern Coal Sale corporation: "The conference is being sabotaged by several well-known southern operators."

By John L. Lewis, president of the UMWA: "This amounts to brazen conspiracy."

W. E. E. Koepler, executive secretary of the Pocahontas Tug River Coal Operators association, who was spokesman for the southerners, made public a letter to Ezra Van Horn, Cleveland coal executive and permanent chairman of the joint conference, saying the conference was "terminated." There are approximately 150,000 miners in the southern Appalachian fields.

Notice Sent to Lewis.

Notice of the withdrawal was sent by Koepler to Lewis with a copy of the letter to Van Horn. The notice read: "Since you have repeatedly stated to the negotiators that your proposals to them will not be changed, we are advising that we are requesting consideration by the national [labor mediation] board."

Dr. John R. Steelman, federal conciliator, said the conference would be recessed until Monday afternoon and that meanwhile he would make a complete report to Washington.

Today marked the end of the fourth week of meetings, and it had been hoped by both sides that the nation's vital bituminous mines would be reopened Monday. They have been closed since April 1 when a two year contract with the UMWA expired. The contract covering the eight state

Differential Chief Issue.

The main point of disagreement between the northern and southern groups had been the question of the wage differential. The basic scale in the south is $5.60; in the north $6. The miners asked a $1 a day increase and elimination of the differential, bringing both groups into the scope of a basic $7 daily wage. The northerners have agreed to this.

Lewis indicated in a statement that the union would not sign a contract until all producers had agreed to terms.

"This [the southerners' bolt] means more chaotic conditions and an absurd situation," he said.

Asked about the immediate danger of a coal shortage, Lewis said: "A very acute danger exists and will begin to show next week."

Stock Worth $840,000 Given Away by Kress

Washington, D. C., April 11 (AP)—Samuel H. Kress of New York gave away around $840,000 worth of S. H. Kress & Co. 6 per cent special preferred stock in February, the securities commission reported today in its monthly summary of transactions by officers, directors and principal owners of corporations.

C. R. Walgreen Jr., of Chicago, reported receiving 6,050 shares of Walgreen company common stock thru a bequest. C. J. Bowyer and R. G. Knight, both of Chicago, similarly received 5,000 shares of the same issue. Bowyer gave away 2,942 shares and Knight gave away 1,000 shares.

C. R. Walgreen Jr. (left) and Samuel H. Kress, who reported changes in stock holdings.

G. F. Swift of Chicago sold 1,165 shares of Swift & company capital stock.

Kress was not required to name recipients of the stock in his report to the SEC. He listed two gifts, one of 62,155 shares on Feb. 11, and another of 7,042 shares on Feb. 27. The donations reduced his holding of the issue to 54,125 shares. In addition he held directly 1,074,635 shares of common stock at the end of the month.

Last year Kress reported a gift of securities worth more than $7,000,000 then, and later disclosed that the stock had been given to the Kress foundation.

Henry S. Bowers of New York reported that Goldman Sachs & Co., purchased 126,632 shares of Kress common during February and sold 120,748 shares, leaving a net increase of 5,884 shares at the end of the month.

The Charles Hayden Foundation of New York sold its entire 34,000 shares of Southern Phosphate corporation common stock.

SAFETY GLASS.

What are the products of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company? Has the company experienced an upturn in business? Has it any interest in the plastics industry?—O. B.

Answer: Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company, Toledo, is the leading domestic manufacturer of automobile safety glass, which is furnished to General Motors, Ford, Packard, Studebaker, and other automotive companies. In addition, the company is the largest producer of the window glass and the second largest maker of other types of plate glass.

Sales volume of the company last year was reported to have been at a peak, with safety and window glass contributing the best gains. Sales figures are not published. Earnings and dividends in the last five years compared as follows:

	Net income.	Earned per share.	Dividends per share.
1936	$10,379,538	$4.18	$3.50
1937	10,518,918	4.19	4.00
1938	3,930,460	1.57	1.25
1939	8,062,753	3.21	2.75
1940	9,992,766	3.97	3.50

Net income in the March quarter this year climbed to $3,400,917, equal to $1.35 a share, from $2,897,952 or $1.15 a share in the same 1940 period.

The company's 14,840 stockholders were paid 50 cents a share last March 15.

Outstanding stock consists of 2,515,830 shares of no par common stock, which constitutes the entire capitalization. Stockholders have received dividends each year since 1922, except in 1931 and 1932.

Last June, Libbey-Owens-Ford acquired 70 per cent control of the Plaskon company, Inc., for $2,269,292. Plaskon is a leading maker of a certain type of rosin plastic used in electrical fixtures, radios, automobiles, and other products. In discussing this purchase, the company explained that it intended to increase its investment in the plastics industry.

PAPERBOARD.

Can you tell me the extent of operations of the Container Corporation of America in recent years?—H. R.

Answer: A comparison of pulp and paperboard output of the mills of the Container Corporation of America and shipments of finished products in the last five years follows:

	Tons Produced.	Tons Shipped.
1936	428,627	441,086
1937	391,270	390,496
1938	346,616	361,820
1939	432,848	462,385
1940	461,815	504,507

The excess of paperboard products shipped over that produced represents the amount purchased by the company from outside producers.

THREE MONTH PEAK IS SET BY OFFERINGS OF NEW SECURITIES

New York, April 11 (AP).—Public offerings of new securities during the week ended yesterday, totaling $101,790,444, were the largest in three months, Standard & Poor's corporation reported today.

Only 28 per cent of the total represented new money, however, and nearly all of this was taken by municipalities. Corporate financing included several sizable refundings but very little for new capital purposes.

Comparisons follow:

STEEL FORGINGS PLANTS AGREE TO BOOST CAPACITY

Washington, D. C., April 11 (AP).—Representatives of 17 companies assured defense officials today that "a considerable addition" will be made to present facilities for producing heavy steel forgings.

The size of the expansion was not disclosed, but it was learned authoritatively that it will not be as large as last fall's $40,000,000 expansion. Demands of the shipbuilding program were said to be responsible largely for the need for increased facilities.

Officials said it was agreed that financing of the expansion would be handled individually by each company, with some financing additions themselves and the government assisting others.

Army and navy ordnance officials attended the meeting along with representatives of the maritime commission and the Office of Production Management.

OPM TO EASE ITS ALUMINUM PRIORITY RULES

Washington, D. C., April 11 (AP).—Sidney Hillman, associate director of the Office of Production Management, said today that some scrap and secondary aluminum soon would be made available for civilian uses.

A decision to relax the priorities order governing distribution of aluminum was reached, he said, at a conference between representatives of the industry, the die casters union and the OPM. Industry and union representatives came here to seek means of continuing manufacture of various aluminum articles for civilian use.

Explaining the decision, Hillman said it appeared that some secondary aluminum tied up by the general priorities restriction would not be needed immediately for defense industries.

ELECTRIC UTILITY ASSETS VALUED AT 17 BILLIONS

Washington, D. C., April 11 (AP).—The Federal Power commission reported today that 383 electric utilities in the nation had total assets of $17,179,662,571 on their books at the end of 1939.

The list was composed of firms having annual revenues of $250,000 or more and represented more than 95 per cent of the privately owned electric utility industry of the nation, the commission said in a volume devoted to statistics of the industry.

Outstanding securities of the company on Dec. 31, 1939, totaled $13,454,627,347, the report said, made up as follows: Common stock, $4,327,184,415; preferred, $2,059,958,719; premiums, assessments, etc., $96,083,072; bonds and other long term debt, $6,971,401,141.

End Hearing on Charges in Milk Marketing Order

A hearing on proposed amendments to the Chicago milk marketing order and a plan for a federal marketing program for Cook and Du Page counties, ended yesterday after three days of testimony by producers and handlers. The hearing, held at the Stevens hotel, was conducted by the Surplus Marketing administration. The proposed amendments and charges based on hearing evidence will be submitted to the secretary of agriculture for tentative approval. If the changes are approved, producers will vote in a referendum on the issuance of an order applying the amendments to all handlers.

Gisholt Machine Dividend Payment Will Be 25 Cents

The Gisholt Machine company will pay a dividend of 25 cents on its capital stock April 30 to shareholders of record April 16. It was reported incorrectly yesterday that a 5 cent payment would be made.

U. S. Engineer Office, 816 U. S. Court House & Custom House, St. Louis, Mo. Sealed bids received until 2 P. m., April 29, 1941, for constructing 10,000 man replacement center and hospital (about 268 buildings) at Jefferson Barracks, Missouri. Deposit, $50.00, required for plans in form of certified check or Postal money order payable to Treasurer of the United States. Further information on application.

BUTTER AND EGG SUPPLY IS LESS THAN AVERAGE

FSCC Makes New Purchasing Rules.

As the department of agriculture prepared to provision England and other countries resisting aggression, its inventory takers reported yesterday they found the nation's reserves of creamery butter and eggs were below average on April 1. Meantime, the department announced that its procurement agency, the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation, had adopted new regulations for the purchase of eggs.

Cold storage stocks of all principal food products except eggs declined during March. With the country moving into the season of surplus production of dairy and poultry products, output of eggs last month exceeded consumption, and it was possible to put away small surplus supplies.

About Half of Average.

Stocks of creamery butter in store the first of the month, the department disclosed, amounted to only 52.3 per cent of the April 1 average for the last ten years. The department said 8,987,000 pounds of butter were held in reserve, or 112,000 pounds less than a year ago.

Of these storage supplies of butter, the Surplus Market association, purchaser of approximately 6,300,000 pounds since mid-January, held 1,735,000 pounds as of April 1. Another government agency, the Dairy Products Marketing association, owned 66,000 pounds.

The storage season for eggs opened in March with 23,520,000 dozens moving into the warehouses. These stocks were augmented by 18,191,000 pounds of frozen eggs. Supplies of shell and frozen eggs combined totaled 2,903,000 cases as of April 1, compared with 2,117,000 cases a year earlier and a 5 year average of 2,811,000 cases. Shell egg holdings were approximately 5,000 cases below the 5 year average.

New Rule on Cases.

As an indication that future FSCC purchases of eggs will be destined for shipment abroad the department notified producers that hereafter it would buy only eggs packed in new cases with new packing materials. Heretofore the seller has been permitted to offer the agency eggs packed in the less expensive used cases.

Instead of buying thru regional offices as in the past, the FSCC ordered that all offers to sell must be submitted by letter or telegram to it at its offices in Washington. It also said that offers must be made one hour earlier than previously. They will be received, it said, beginning April 17 and on each Monday and Thursday thereafter until further notice up to until 2 p. m. eastern standard time.

Cheese Sets Record.

Reserves of American cheese totaled 105,153,000 pounds, the largest April holdings on record, the department said. Altho stocks diminished at a faster than seasonal rate last month, production also was breaking all records.

Refrigerator stocks of poultry of 126,885,000 pounds compared with 115,442,000 pounds a year ago. Warehousemen disclosed, however, that withdrawals had increased considerably since the government announced that it would peg the egg market at Chicago at 22 cents a dozen.

"As long as farmers can get that much for eggs they are going to hold everything with feathers on it on their farms," a warehouseman said yesterday. "Feed is cheap and the movement of poultry to market has fallen sharply. Farmers are not going to cull their flocks now."

COPPER STOCKS DECLINE 7,816 TONS IN MARCH

New York, April 11 [Special].—Stocks of copper in the United States, exclusive of consumers' stocks at their plants and warehouses, at the end of March totaled 89,873 tons, a decline of 7,816 from the 97,689 at the close of February, the Copper institute reported today. Deliveries of copper to domestic consumers in March amounted to 134,333 tons, of which 31,201 were of foreign origin. Production of refined copper was 95,322 tons, compared with 93,654 in February.

Possible Copper Shortage Seen by Anaconda Chief

Los Angeles, April 11 (AP).—Possibility of a copper shortage that may curtail use of the metal for domestic purposes in the interests of national defense was seen today by Cornelius F. Kelley, board chairman of Anaconda Copper Mining company. He said companies are producing a capacity of 85,000 tons monthly, with about 50,000 additional tons being imported from Chile and Peru.

British Double Imports from U. S. for Year

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 11.—The United Kingdom bought twice as much goods from the United States in 1940 as in the preceding year and the largest volume since 1925, the department of commerce reported tonight.

Imports of American goods by the United Kingdom in 1940 totaled $1,010,845,000, compared with $505,404,000 in 1933, as the British stepped up their war purchases in this country. The report asserted that, because of the war there was a notable shift in the character of exports to the United Kingdom.

Foodstuffs Show Drop.

Shipments of crude and manufactured foodstuffs declined sharply, accounting for only 6 per cent of the total value in 1940, against an average of about 21 per cent in the three preceding years.

Crude materials—other than foodstuffs—from the United States, normally making up 30 per cent of total exports to the United Kingdom dropped to only 10 per cent of the total in 1940.

On the other hand, there were large increases in British imports of semi-manufactures and finished materials for industrial products—the groups comprising munitions, airplanes, and other war materials.

84 Per Cent of Total.

These two groups together constituted 84 per cent of the total exports to the United Kingdom, against a yearly average of 49 per cent for the preceding three years.

Imports into the United States from the United Kingdom totaled $155,071,000 in 1940, or $5,660,000 more than in 1939, as the British pushed sales of goods to the United States to accumulate foreign exchange for war purchases.

SPROUL SEES NO BASIS FOR RISE IN INTEREST RATES

New York, April 11 [Special].—The Federal Reserve bank of New York in its 26th annual report, issued today by Allan Sproul, president, asserts there is no apparent basis for a substantial rise in long-term money rates.

In discussing the volume of member bank excess reserves which at the beginning of 1941 were more than double those of two years ago, the report cites the huge volume of deposits held by large city banks for correspondent banks. Actually, it is pointed out, the central reserve city banks had deposits of other banks that were larger in total amount than their excess reserves.

"This situation suggests the caution with which overall control measures, such as increases in reserve requirements, must be applied," the report continues.

FINDS DEFECTIVE CASTINGS DELAY NAVY TURBINES

Lester, Pa., April 11 (AP).—Defective materials and an inadequate supply of trained men have delayed production of steam turbines for the navy at the Westinghouse company's plant here, a navy inspector said today, but he added that the plant is operating "75 to 85 per cent of schedule."

Capt. F. J. Willie, inspector of machinery at the plant for the last year, said defective materials, particularly in steel castings, constitute a "serious problem." He spoke after Ralph A. Bard, assistant secretary of the navy, and other naval and industrial leaders inspected the works. Bard did not comment.

Westinghouse's steam division has 130 million dollars in national defense orders, principally for turbines to drive the navy's new aircraft carriers, battleships, cruisers, and destroyers.

BEATRICE CREAMERY DIPS, BUT SALES RISE

Profit Is $1,686,308 for Year.

Beatrice Creamery company, which has its executive offices in Chicago, yesterday reported net profit of $1,686,308 for the year ended Feb. 28, a decline from the preceding year despite an increase in sales. In the year ended Feb. 28, 1940, profit was $1,956,439. Earnings per share were $3.18 and $3.89, respectively.

H. F. Sinclair reports lower earnings despite greater oil production.

Sales in the latest year totaled $69,525,930, compared with $63,641,412. C. H. Haskell, president, reported to the stockholders that wholesale and retail sales of fluid milk gained 7.6 per cent, but said profit did not increase, because of higher expenses. Similarly, Haskell said, profit in the creamery butter department was less, because of unfavorable operating conditions, altho all butter sold averaged 3 cents a pound more than in the preceding year.

Frozen Foods Sales Rise.

Haskell reported that sales and profits in frozen foods, a comparatively recent addition to the company's operations, increased "substantially" and that this business was developing into a "profitable sideline."

Consolidated Oil corporation reported for 1940 a net income of $3,792,602 after all charges, taxes, and reserves, equal to 28 cents a share, compared with $7,540,880, or 55 cents a share, in 1939.

H. F. Sinclair, chairman of the executive committee, said crude oil production by the company had been energetically sought and increased in areas not unreasonably restricted, with the result that the company's net output last year was 24,107,320 barrels against 23,016,970 in 1939. The company's refineries processed 68,000,000 barrels of crude oil last year, compared with 69,628,000 in 1939.

Sinclair said four instalments of $1,000,000 each had been paid by Mexico in accordance with the agreement to reimburse the company for its expropriated Mexican properties.

Wright Aero Income Doubles.

Wright Aeronautical corporation reported 1940 net income almost double that of 1939, with normal income taxes estimated at more than six times those of the preceding year. Profit was $6,656,284, or $11.10 per share, after provision of $7,098,121 for excess profits taxes, against profit of $3,740,626, or $6.24 a share, in the preceding year.

The company, controled by Curtiss-Wright corporation, figured 1940 income taxes at $5,590,939, compared with $874,050 in 1939.

The following corporation net incomes were reported yesterday:

LARGER SUPPLY BRINGS SETBACK IN HOG PRICES

Average Down 10 Cents to $8.65; Early Top $9.

Thursday's 15 to 25 cents bulge in the hog market brought larger supplies into the stock yards yesterday, resulting in a setback of mostly 10 to 20 cents for the majority of offerings.

After a few early sales had been made on a steady to 10 cents lower basis, with a few top loads at $9.00, local packers absorbed the bulk of the day's crop at the full downturn, including several thousand hogs that had been carried for days by owners hoping that the new federal hog program would drive prices immediately above a $9.00 level for top grades.

Average Down to $8.65.

Prices for the day averaged 10 cents lower, at $8.65, only 10 cents under the highest daily average since the "war market" of September, 1939. Saying that the news from Washington on the new program for pork and hogs has been an influence on buying by packers the last few days, buyers asserted they are trying to base their business from day to day more on what consumers actually pay for pork than on the probable effect the entry of federal pork buyers will have on prices. Yesterday's concessions by sellers brought the "cut-out" for hogs nearer a paying basis, packers said.

Pork Prices Steady.

In contrast to the widely swinging hog markets there was no change in wholesale prices for fresh pork yesterday. Packers sold fresh pork loins from $15 to $18.50 a hundred pounds.

Slaughter lambs sold steady to 10 cents higher, packers and eastern order buyers paying up to $11.10 for best aged wool stock.

Buyers gave fully steady prices for the scant supply of steers and yearlings on the market. Heifers were stronger. Steady rates prevailed for most bulls, canners and cutters, but weakness was evident in the sales of beef cows and calves.

ERIE BUYS 1,600 FREIGHT CARS AT $5,000,000 COST

Cleveland, April 11 (AP).—Erie Railroad announced today award of orders for 1,600 freight cars at an approximate cost of $5,000,000.

The road placed the orders as follows: 800 box cars, Pullman Standard Manufacturing company; 100 automobile cars, 100 furniture cars, and 50 covered hoppers, American car and Foundry company; 250 hoppers, General American Transportation company; 250 gondolas and 50 flat cars, Greenville Steel Car company.

COLD STORAGE MEAT AND LARD HOLDINGS DROP IN LAST MONTH

Cold storage holdings of all classes of meats decreased last month, and lard stocks also declined, the department of agriculture reported yesterday. This was the first decrease in storage stocks of meats and lard in the last five months. All meats in storage totaled 962,269,000 pounds on April 1, compared with 983,685,000 March 1.

The holdings, however, were the second largest for April 1 since 1931. They compared with 830,731,000 pounds a year ago, and with a five year average of 749,640,000. Pork stocks declined from 791,910,000 pounds March 1, to 784,550,000 April 1, and compared with 652,733,000 pounds a year ago. The five year average was 585,162,000.

Comparative figures follow:

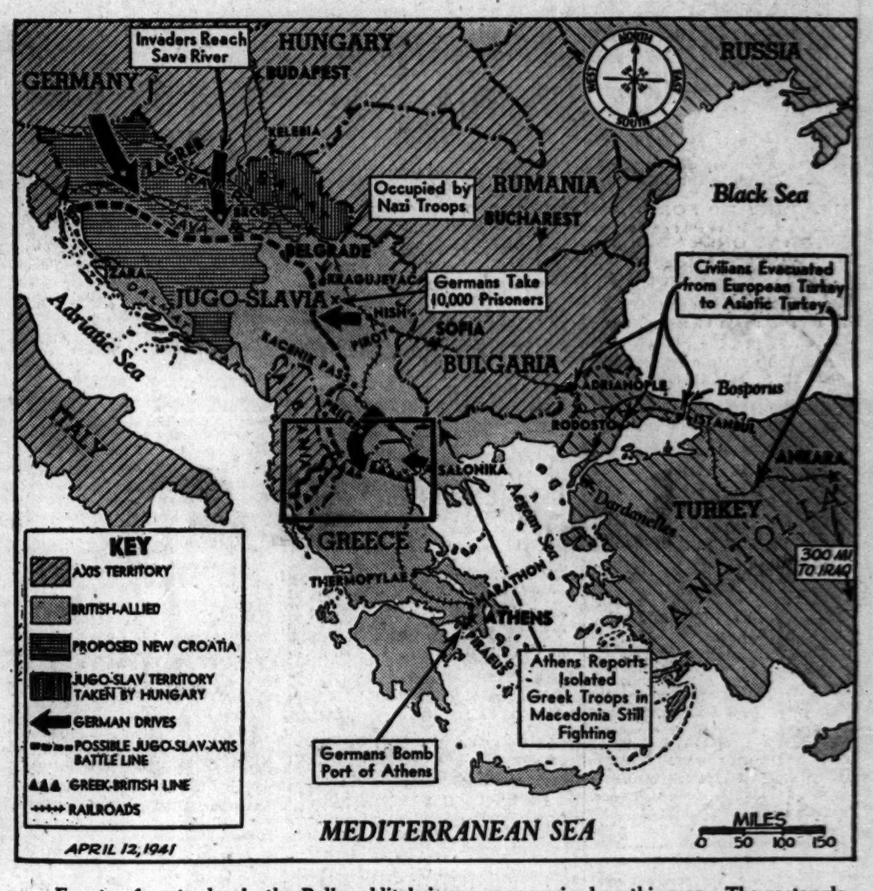
Mrs. John B. Miller, nee Walton M. Miller, Melrose, Mass., nurse whose given name caused call by draft officials.
[Associated Press Wirephoto.] (Story on page 6.)



Events of yesterday in the Balkan blitzkrieg are summarized on this map. The rectangle inclosed in heavy black lines locates the territory included in the larger map.
(Stories on pages 1 and 4.)

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

German tank crews preparing their machines for loading aboard ship in Italian port. The tanks were being taken to Africa. Re-enforced British troops are now moving into positions east of Libya's Gebel El Achdar mountain range for a battle with the axis armies there.

[Acme Telephoto: Sent yesterday from Berlin by radio.]

Jugo-Slav soldiers laying down their arms in surrender to Germans "somewhere on the Jugo-Slav front," says the caption accompanying this picture from Germany.
